MASSING ON BORDER.

massing of troops along the has aroused concern in Washington, and an explanation is being Carranza has been told that of German agents within jurisdiction cannot be looked as in the interest of the friend-between the two countries. In other words, Carranza must choose now and finally between a course which will result in closer ties between the neighboring nations or that condition which may lead to the state of war the President has been so anxious to avoid.

Carranza is insisting, of course, that he proposes to be friendly and that he does not desire to be suspected of any untoward purpose toward the United States. The authorities say, however, from now on it is question of act and not of word. He must not harbor submarines. He must not assign troops to strategic points on the American frontier; he must not permit Germans to control his policy or his wireless stations. It is hoped the tremendous preparations contemplated for preparation and for the use of the Allies amounting to $7,000,000,000 will have a striking moral effect upon the Mexican authorities and induce them to abandon the treacherous designs reported to the government here.

POLICY OF OTHERS.

Of the twenty Latin-American republics, the United States expects the active support of the following: Bolivia, expected to declare war; Brazil, which well declare war this week; Cuba, which has declared war; Guatemala, which is considering a declaration of war; Haiti, now under American occupation; Nicaragua, the government of which is upheld by American marines; Panama, which practically has declared war; Santo

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

Except for an advance by the British over a front of nearly a mile and three-quarters north of Louverval, which lies about midway between Bapaume and Cambrai, artillery duels, trench raiding and airplane bombarding operations have featured the fighting on the western front in France and Belgium. There was no infantry action Sunday on this front, the British having carried out their attack against the Germans Saturday night at the same time Gen. Nivelle's forces were penetrating German positions near Lombartzyde, Belgium, and inflicting casualties on the defenders. Berlin reports the repulse with heavy losses of French attacks Saturday near Lafaux, northeast of Soissons. British airmen are continuing their intensive fighting, bomb dropping and scouting operations over the German lines in France and Belgium. A foray, fifty miles behind the German front was one of the exploits recorded for the aviators Sunday. Considering the results they have achieved in fighting, bombing and observations, the British airmen count the cost in the loss of airplanes a small one. London reports that in naval operations off Zeebrugge two German torpedo boat destroyers were torpedoed. One of them sank and the other was at least severely damaged.

A landing by Russian troops on the coast of Asia Minor has been effected from a torpedo boat in the Black Sea. The operation was carried out at the mouth of the River Termah, 180 miles northwest of Trebizond and a Turkish observation post was burned.

The concentration of Mexican troops at Juarez and Villa's approach to the border is creating considerable alarm on the frontier. It is reported this is the first move for the German campaign to secure the control of Northern Mexico and harass the United States.

RAISE HALF BY TAXES.

Wilson Policy on War Finance.

Big Debt to Posterity Opposed by the Leaders of House and Senate.

But Five-billion-dollars Bond Issue to Allies is Yet Unauthorized.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 8.—President Wilson's policy, outlined in his address to Congress of paying America's war bill so far as possible while the war is being waged, leaving a minimum debt to posterity, was reflected tonight in a virtual decision by leaders in the House and Senate to raise 50 per cent. of the first year's expenditures by taxation. Under this programme, Congress will be called upon to raise war revenue of $1,750,000,00 through new and increased taxation during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918. This is exclusive of the $5,000,000,000 bond issue authorization for which will be sought this week.

The total demand upon the financial resources of the country during the first year of war, under this programme, would be $6,750,000,000. Of the bond issue, $3,000,000,000 it was definitely stated today would be loaned to the Entente Allies. The entire issue will bear interest of 3½ per cent. It is proposed to make the loan to the Allies at this initial rate, which is lower by far than the rate on their previous issues. The remaining $2,000,000,000 will be applied as necessary on the cost of military and naval establishments and other war expenses of the United States. Indications are that with the new war revenue measures in effect the full amount of $2,000,000,000 will not entirely be exhausted at the end of the first year.

In requesting authorization for a $5,000,000,000 bond issue, administration leaders have in mind the necessity of allowing for a slight margin of safety so that the work of the War and Navy departments would not be handicapped by a lack of funds, due to the possible failure of proposed tax measures to raise the sum of 50 per cent. desired.

THE BOND ISSUE.

Details of the proposed bond issue have not been fully disposed of at present. The proposal that Congress authorize immediately the issue of $3,000,000,000 in bonds to finance a loan to the Allies and afterwards take up the request for $2,000,000,000 for the army and navy is considered in some quarters.

In support of this proposal it is pointed out that the need of the Allies for funds is more immediately pressing than American needs. the money to be obtained for the latter purpose being expended over a period of fourteen months. A proposal simply to issue bonds to finance a loan to the Allies, it is expected, might be passed more speedily by Congress than if it were coupled with a proposal to provide for the American war bill at the same time.

Indications are strong, however, that Congress will be asked to authorize the $5,000,000,000 in one lump sum. Legislation to this effect will be considered by the Ways and Means Committee within the next day or so, possibly, tomorrow and probably will be reported to Congress for action before the end of the week.

Indications are that the administration's financial programme will meet with overwhelming support in both houses and that the proposed bond issue will be authorized without loss of time.

WAR REVENUE.

Considerably more time, it is thought, will be consumed in the passage of the war revenue measure to follow. Sentiment in Congress apparently crystallized in support of the programme of advancing an enormous loan to the Allies, varies greatly as to the methods to be pursued in raising revenue through taxation.

In general terms, it seems certain that the bulk of the additional revenue will be raised through revision of the income and excess profit tax laws. It is also likely that the tax on whisky, beer and tobacco will be raised.

As to what outlines the income tax law will assume upon emerging from the committee one man's guess, an official, said tonight, is as good as another's.

There appears to be a general sentiment for lowering the present exemption and raising the rates heavily on large incomes. A graduated scale may be adopted in revising the excess profits tax law.

Suggestions that part of the war revenue be raised by the imposition of stamp taxes on checks and other documents and that a consumption tax be placed on sugar, tea and coffee have been made in both branches of Congress and it appears likely that these will be considered.

FIVE THOUSAND TROOPS ALREADY CONCENTRATED

Villa and Murguia Said to Have Agreed to Divide Northern Mexico.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, April 8.—Five thousand Mexican soldiers, who arrived in Juarez within the last twenty-four hours, comprising the army of Gen. Francisco Murguia, Carranza commander-in-chief, are co-operating with pro-German Obregon forces from Sonora, and will join the Obregon army of Yaqui Indians in Sonora, according to information secured today by American mining men here and by American army men. The Murguia troops have been coming into Juarez all day. Five trains loaded have left for the west by way of Casas Grandes, and two more trainloads are under orders to leave tonight.

According to mining men, the movement of Mexican soldiers is the first step in the Obregon-German campaign in Northern Mexico.

It is claimed by Mexicans that Villa and Murguia held a conference during the last week, at which it was agreed to divide control of Northern Mexico.

Villa today, through border agents, issued a denial to the report that he is being financed by Germans to make war on the American border. He says that he would be willing to join Col. Roosevelt's division if he did not feel it his duty to overthrow Carranza first.

He further declared that he would soon capture Juarez, and then he would seek a conference with United States Senator Fall in regard to the German situation, possibly to offer the services of his army to the United States.

VILLA AT NAMIQUIPA.

Villa forces arrived at Namiquipa, 250 miles south of the border, and less than 100 miles from Casas Grandes, according to an announcement made tonight by Gen. Murguia before he left here for Casas Grandes to take the field against Villa and prevent his advance toward the American border. Villa's base was at Bachiniva, south of Namiquipa, and his forces occupied Namiquipa during the night, according to reports received by Gen. Murguia from his scouts.

Gen. Murguia will take the field tomorrow in his enveloping movement against Villa and his 3000 followers. Preceding Gen. Murguia's train were eight troop trains carrying his command from Chihuahua city, which arrived here yesterday and last night to participate in the most comprehensive drive against Villa since Murguia arrived from Southern Mexico. Gen. Murguia denied any knowledge of German intrigue in his northeastern command, and accompanied a correspondent of the Associated Press through his trains today to show that no Germans were among the officers of the 6000 troops in his command. He announced his intention of remaining Official Announcement After Cabinet Conference Says Nation Awaits Final Report on Ship Loss Before Taking Action to Uphold Dignity—Press of South American Countries Indicates General Intent to Join Us.

RIO DE JANIERO, April 8. — The President of the republic, Dr. Lauro Muller, the Foreign Minister, have hurriedly returned from Para to Rio de Janeiro. A council of ministers was held today, at which the situation with respect to the war was discussed. The following official note was given out:

"At the meeting of the Cabinet, the President, after having explained the situation created by the torpedoing of the steamship Parana and presented the facts relative to this act which have come to the knowledge of the government, declared himself determined to act with the spirit demanded by national dignity. He added that he awaited only the result of the official inquiry establishing the facts and the circumstances under which the steamer was sunk.

"The government has instructed the Brazilian Minister to France to proceed urgently with the inquiry which will be carried on by our Consulate at Cherbourg."

A large number of students carrying the flag of Brazil and the Entente Allies took part in a demonstration today against Germany. They visited the newspapers, where patriotic speeches were delivered. A demonstration also was carried out against the German Consulate, the students singing the "Marseillaise."

AUSTRIAN WOMEN RIOT FOR BREAD OF HUSKS.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Milan Lusk, who went to Vienna three and a half years ago to study the violin under Sevcik, the master who turned out Kubelik, has returned to his home in Wilmette. He was for twenty-two days an Austrian prisoner. He is the son of Charles D. Lusk, attorney, who has offices in Chicago. Lusk brings harrowing stories of suffering in the Central Powers.

"They are eating bread made out of straw, bran and the husks of a peculiar nut they have," he said. "For a week or two it makes one very sick, but finally it tastes good. When I left they had four meatless days a week. And on two of the other days only lean meat could be eaten. Eggs were 8 and 9 cents each.

FOOD RIOTS.

"There were bread lines and starving women and riots. Often they turned the fire hose on the women to stop the riots. Babies are dying for lack of milk. Rich food speculators have bribed the military authorities. These have stores of provisions for speculation. If a poor man hoards food it is confiscated. The authorities use bloodhounds to sniff out the foods that are hidden.

"They are short of currency and the officials permit the people to cut the bills into quarters and eighths and use them in lieu of small change. The Kaiser has lost popularity in Austria because he failed to attend Emperor Franz Josef's funeral.

"The Austrians, too, have a growing bitterness against the German nation. The sole fact that the Germans stand between them and the Russians holds the bond unbroken between them. The Bohemians at heart are against the Germans, and Austrians secretly want the Allies to win. They have wanted to see the United States enter the war, because they felt it would bring quicker end to the strife. Last fall they were eager to see Hughes elected because they feared Wilson would not permit the United States to go to war.

GERMANS VINDICTIVE.

"The Germans are furious, determined and vindictive. Austria, too, is bitter toward the United States. Once I was in a hotel and could get no food. I complained, and was told that I was an American and they wanted to see me suffer. They said America was feeding the Allies and starving the women and babies of the Central Powers."

Mr. Lusk left when it was seen that the break with America was near. At the border he was arrested and held in prison for twenty-two days. In the last year he gave fifty concerts, traveling through Austria. The money went to the Austrian Red Cross, and for this work he was given a Red Cross medal. He will make his musical debut in Chicago soon at the Blackstone.

CITIES TO HAVE RECRUITING DAY.

NEW YORK SUGGESTION GETS HEARTY SUPPORT.

Proposition for Concerted Demonstration to Fill the Ranks on Battle Anniversary Quickly Approved from East to West—Programme for Towns is Outlined.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Designating Thursday, April 19, the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, as National Recruiting Day, Alexander J. Hemphill, chairman of the Committee on Recruiting of the Mayor's Defense Committee, today telegraphed the mayors of 531 cities asking them to co-operate in bringing the army and navy up to war strength.

THE STATEMENT.

The telegram follows: "The Recruiting Committee on National Defense appointed by Mayor Mitchel earnestly desires to co-operate with you in recruiting the army and navy up to war strength. We have started an active campaign supported by the business interests of Greater New York to distribute literature of all kinds and are co-operating with the army and navy and marine corps officers appointed on recruiting duty. We are especially anxious to have a national recruiting day on the anniversary of the battle of Lexington and would earnestly request that you co-operate with us to make this a great national demonstration of loyalty to our government as an expression of our feelings to the world generally.

"We have arranged to duplicate the ride of Paul Revere on the eighteenth and the poem of Paul Revere will be recited at all theaters, schoolhouses, churches and shown on the screens by all of the moving-picture houses. On the nineteenth we hope to have the modern Lexington Alarm distributed by flying machines, tolling of church bells, fire bells, factory whistles. Please advise if you will co-operate with us and would like to have us forward you the details of the programme that we are working upon.

"Alexander J. Hemphill, chairman Recruiting Committee of the Committee on National Defense, No. 50 East Forty-second street."

MAYORS RESPOND.

Mayors of more than twenty cities, scattered from the lakes to the gulf and from Portland, Me., to Spokane, wired immediate response promising that their cities would do their full share in making the anniversary a national demonstration of loyalty and an expression of feeling to the world generally. Among them were the mayors of Macon, Ga.; Columbia, S. C.; Laredo, Tex.; Asbury Park, N. J.; Portland, Me.; Louisville, Ky.; Bristol, Tenn.; Norwood, O.; Galveston, Tex.; Lafayette, Ind.; Menominee, Mich.; Birmingham, Ala.; Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Spokane, Wash.

The committee also conferred with representatives of the army and navy to perfect plans for the centralizing of recruiting work and secure a maximum of co-operation between those engaged in enlisting soldiers, bluejackets and marines. At this conference Col. I. D. Walsh and Maj. John H. Hughes represented the army, Commander Grady and Lieut. Coombs the navy and Lieut. Sterritt the Marine Corps. The Navy League was represented by L. S. Alger. Besides Mr. Hemphill, the members of the Mayor's committee present were: Capt. John F. Lucey; C. Ledyard Blair, of Blair & Co.; H. H. Sutpen, vice-president of the Electric Boat Company; Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company; Guy E. Tripp, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company; John W. Platten of the United States Mortgage and Trust Co., Harry D. Gibson, president of the Liberty National Bank and Walter F. Wagner, secretary of the committee.

TAXIS TO BEAR PLEA.

It was decided to make the recruiting quarters in the building No. 50 East Forty-second street, a clearinghouse from which persons eager to enlist may be sent to the several stations. It was also arranged to have this placard posted on every taxicab in the city this morning: "U. S. Navy needs your help now. Ask the Mayor's Committee at No. 50 East Forty-second street, New York."

A telegram that was read with much interest by the committee was

PACIFIC COAST SHIP WINS A SEA BATTLE.

Kaiser's U-boat Sent to Join Lusitania by Well-directed Shot.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—A duel to the death between a German submarine and the Standard Oil Company tanker Sequoya off the Cornish coast was revealed for the first time today on the arrival of the steamer from London. The battle ended in victory for the Sequoya after twenty minutes of furious shelling. A belch of flames, a volume of smoke resembling a miniature volcano and the undersea wolf went down with gaping jaws. A 4.7 shell aimed by the gunners on the Sequoya had found its mark. Her magazine chambers exploded, water flooded through the submarine and the crew of the German "tin fish" joined the graveyard of victims of the Lusitania and Laconia.

One dead, three wounded, a bridge, wheel-house and a lifeboat smashed and peppered from explosive shells was the toll aboard the Sequoya. The damage wrought is still perceptible and will be repaired at the Union Iron Works here. A graphic account of the battle was recited aboard the Sequoya tonight at the Union Iron Works by officers of the steamer. Capt. R. G. James, who is well known in this port and hero of the battle with the German U-boat, is not in command of the steamer on this voyage, having been relieved by Capt. W. Phillips just before the tanker left for the Pacific Coast. Chief Officer F. C. Weeks and Chief Engineer L. B. Fountain, who proved their bravery during the clash with the German U-boat, are still aboard the tanker, as are many members of the crew.

KEPT BATTLE A SECRET.

The strict censorship in England has prevented the news of the battle from being spread broadcast. The officers of the vessel were even warned by the Admiralty to keep the matter secret. But for the plea that the story would have a good moral effect upon the people of the United States, proving that armed merchantmen stood an equal chance with the submarines, it is probable that the account would have remained untold. The attack occurred the last week in February.

"Rising from the depths in the cold dawn of the early morning, a shot which shattered the bridge made the presence of the sea wolf known," said Chief Officer Weeks. "No warning was given. The submarine was sighted two miles away in the offing with her forward gun spitting fire in our direction. Capt. James ordered the gunners aboard to return the fire.

"A second shot hit us. Shrapnel tore the top off of Capt. James's hat and splintered the steel work on the bridge. The gunners trained the guns of the Sequoya on the submersible and two shots were fired without effect.

"Meantime a third shot carrying death in its wake came from the submarine. One of the crew had just stepped out of the companionway from the cabin. His head was almost severed. Shrapnel flew around the deck like hailstones. Planks were pierced as if they were paper. A lifeboat on the port side began to take on the appearance of the top of a salt shaker.

"It was apparent that they were aiming to destroy our steering apparatus. This done we would have floundered helpless in the trough of the sea and would be attacked vulturelike.

"Two more shots were fired by the ship's gunners, each coming closer. Shrapnel had wounded three more of the crew and they were taken below for medical attention.

THE FIFTH SHOT TELLS.

"It was our fifth shot which told. A flame shot up from the conning tower of the submarine, black smoke arose, the echo of an explosion was heard aboard the Sequoya and the sea wolf could be seen seeking the resting places of the Lusitania and Laconia. A whirlpool of water, ashes floating, oil rising to the top showed that the Sequoya's gunners had avenged the murder of many women and children killed in the ruthless campaign.

"An investigation made afterwards proved that the submarine had been sunk. Had one of the shots hit our benzine tanks all on board would have been blown to atoms."

The damage to the Sequoya will be repaired at the Union Iron Works before she leaves port again.

AIRMEN OF ALLIES WIN MASTERY OVER TEUTONS.

Critics of Military Activities Award Supremacy to the French and English Aviators — Berlin Silent on the Achievements of Their Flyers—Observers Collect War Data of Great Value.

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, April 8.—A marked lull in aerial activity along the whole western front today has given rise to speculation as to the outcome of the prodigious battles in the air during the last three days when more than a hundred machines were felled. Critics here believe the British and French have finally and decisively wrung from the enemy the aerial supremacy tenaciously held by the Germans during the entire winter months. The fact that Berlin is silent today as far as aerial operations are concerned, while the British War Office continues to report successful raids and reconnaissance of minor character, conducted apparently without interference from the enemy, strengthens this belief.

Reign of Terror.

GERMANS RULE BELGIUM WITH MERCILESS HAND.

American Official Tells a Story of Cruelty and Oppression.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A story of the horrors of German military rule in Belgium and of the tortures inflicted upon Belgians to force their labor for their enemies was revealed here tonight in hitherto unpublished letters to the government from an American official, who spent many months in the midst of the reign of terror. Of the Germans' explanation, that they deported only the unemployed among the conquered people, this official says:

"They needed skilled and active artisans and these men were naturally still unemployed. The authorities did not, however, evidently dare to announce their real wishes."

"Belgium at this moment," says a letter, writtten in December, "is going through a reign of terror. It is hard to believe that the dark moments of the French revolution were very much worse.

ESPIONAGE TRIALS.

"An uninterrupted series of trials for espionage are being conducted in various parts of the country, but above everything else at the present moment towers the nightmare of the deportations. Even the Austrian representative here had words of apology and even blame for the policy and in defense could only refer to the alleged ill-treatment of Germans in Russia."

President Wilson's splendid protest against the deportations, the writer says, was of great moral value.

"It is really pitiful to see how the Belgians look to America in a crisis like this," he continues, "but the deportations continue.

"The fashion in which any given recruitment is carried out depends very largely on the character of the officer in command. A guard of Uhlans is generally necessary, sometimes backed with machine guns. At times it is thought necessary to charge the watching crowds.

STARVED TO SUBMISSION.

"Various methods are employed to force the men who refuse to sign and work. Starvation is the most prominent. Men are also said to be placed in an excessively heated room and when in a great sweat thrust out of doors.

"Internment at a prison camp at Reech, near Munster, is likewise reported. There, also, the men are said to be gravely abused.

"In Ghent it is learned confidentially that 235 men have died from the treatment or work they received. In more than one case the wife was summoned to the commandant's and handed a bundle of clothes with the laconic remark, 'Your husband is dead.' Many of these persons are supposed to have been killed by the artillery fire of the Allies as they were compelled to work so near the lines.

RETURN EXHAUSTED.

"The men who come up for selection are given the following choice: Work in Germany or in Belgium or the railways or on matters of a military nature. The men who have returned are generally in an exhausted if not dying condition. It is supposed that they are those who persisted in their refusal to sign or work and whose physical condition could withstand the punishments inflicted."

The writer recalls the German promise of liberal wages to those who will sign, with permission to send their earnings to their families in Belgium. "Painstaking inquires," he adds, "have failed to elicit a single instance where such money has been received from Germany."

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—The part Mexico will play in the world war will be decided by the newly-elected Congress, according to opinions expressed tonight by men in close touch with government affairs. Both chambers now are revising the credentials of the newly-elected Senators and Deputies in preparation for the formal opening of Congress on April 15.

PERSHING'S OPINION.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A report from Gen. Pershing today that conditions along the border were very satisfactory led War Department officials to doubt very seriously reports that Villa was moving northward with any large force. Conditions at the Mexican capital, however, are reported to the State Department as not being so satisfactory, as differences between the civil and military factions have widened considerably of late.

GERMANS REPULSE FRENCH ATTACK.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, April 8 (via London, 6:14 p.m.)—The French renewed yesterday their attempt to gain ground near La Faux, on the new front north of Soissons, but were repulsed with heavy losses, the War Office announces. The statement adds:

"Our opponents, including Americans who were in the French aerial service, long prior to the American declaration of war, lost in March 161 airplanes and nineteen captive balloons. The German losses amounted to forty-five planes."

REPORT GERMANS BEHAVING WELL.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Gratifying reports have been made to the Department of Justice on the behavior of Germans and German-Americans following the declaration of a state of war between the two nations. While about 100 special arrests have been ordered and others are expected, Atty.-Gen. Gregory said tonight that so far the situation is very encouraging.

The Attorney-General, and Asst. Atty.-Gen. Warren in charge of plot investigations, discussed with President Wilson late this afternoon the activities of Germans in the United States and in Ceneral and South America.

Although some reports have indicated that German spies are employees in the government service, so far there have been no arrests.

To strengthen the position of the government in hunting down and prosecuting spies the espionage bills which failed of passage at the last Congress will be pushed to early amendment.

GERMAN ARRESTED ON FEDERAL CHARGE.

NOGALES (Ariz.) April 8.—John W. Weiss, German, was arrested here tonight by Department of Justice agents, and charged with violating the neutrality laws of the United States.

Weiss had been to Cananea, Sonora, and returned to Nogales through Douglas, Ariz. His arrest followed the receipt by Federal officials here of instructions to arrest alien enemies who cross the boundary from the United States into Mexico and later return to this country.

KAISER OUTLINES PLAN FOR BASIC LAW REFORM.

AMSTERDAM (via London, April 8.)—The text of the German Emperor's order to the Imperial Chancellor with reference to proposed constitutional changes to follow the war is as follows:

"Never before have the Germans proved to be so firm as in this war. The knowledge that the Fatherland is fighting in bitter self-defense has exercised a wonderful reconciling power and despite all sacrifices on the battlefield and severe privations at home their determination has remained imperturabable to stake their last for the victorious issue.

"The national and social spirits have understood each other and become united and this has given us steadfast strength. Both of them realized what was built up in long years of peace and admit many internal struggles. This was certainly worth fighting for. Brightly before my eyes stand the achievements of the entire nation in battle and distress. The events of this struggle for the existence of the empire introduce with high solemnity a new time.

"It falls to you as the responsible Chancellor of the German empire and first minister of my government in Prussia to assist in obtaining the fulfillment of the demands of this hour by right means and at the right time and in this spirit shape our political life in order to make room for the free and joyful co-operation of all the members of our people. The principles which you have developed in this respect have, as you know, my approval. I feel conscious of remaining thereby on the road which my grandfather, the founder of the empire, as King of Prussia, with military organization and as German Emperor with social reform, typically fulfilled all his monarchical obligations, thereby creating conditions which the German people, in united and wrathful perseverance, will overcome in this sanguinary time. The maintenance of the fighting force as a real people's army and the promotion of the social uplift of the people in all its classes, was from the beginning of my reign, my aim.

"In this endeavor, while holding a just balance between the people and the monarchy to serve the welfare of the whole, I am resolved to begin building up our internal political, economic and social life as soon as the war situation permits.

"While millions of our fellow-countrymen are in the field, the conflict of opinions behind the front, which is unavoidable in such a far-reaching change of constitution, must be postponed in the highest interests of the Fatherland, until the time of the home-coming of our warriors and when they themselves are able to join in the counsel and the voting on the progress of the new order."

Allied Airmen Win.

if they have failed to blind the eyes of the German armies have achieved inestimably important results in their furious offensive—results which will become apparent when the clash of the armies opens. England has never exhibited greater pride over anything than over the way its aviators, soaring almost on the top of the German guns, succeeded in taking some 1700 photographs of priceless value to the intelligence staff of the army and for the preservation of which secrets the enemy would have been willing to pay a heavy price, indeed. In this respect the British aviators have clearly demonstrated their superiority in the last week. Only two operations took place on the battle front during the last twenty-four hours that might be classed as of military importance. Last night the British advanced on a front of some 3000 yards north of the village of Louverval, in the neighborhood of the Bapaume Cambrai road, strengthening their position in this region to a considerable extent.

The principal activity of the French troops was staged on the Belgian front. The German positions near Lombartzyde were penetrated at two points. In the trenches which had been completely destroyed by the fire of the French batteries, "numerous German dead," were found, according to the Paris communique.

ARTILLERY ACTIVE.

Raids and patrol skirmishes took place at different points along the rest of the front, while the big guns of both sides kept up the continuous pounding. In the region of St. Quentin, the artillery battle was especially intense and sustained. The cautious methodical advance of the British and the destructive fire of the French guns is steadily eating away the defense of this stronghold which cannot withstand much longer the combined attacks of the Allied armies. Further south the Germans continue to bombard furiously the open town of Rheims, pouring forth shells prodigally, but this has had not the slightest effect on the general advance of Nivelle's forces.

Interest continues to center on the Arras and Ypres sectors, where the German lines are slowly crumbling under the fire of the British batteries. In a raid southeast of Ypres today the British troops found the enemy's trenches greatly damaged and brought back eighteen prisoners who were nearly buried in the debris.

British aviators destroyed three hangars in one German airdrome and scored hits on many other enemy stations.

GERMAN YACHTSMAN ARRESTED IN HARBOR.

BOSTON, April 8.—Three men one of them an alleged German naval reservist, were arrested last night on board the thirty-eight-foot yacht Sparrowhawk as she was going down Boston Harbor. Department of Justice officials are investigating a report that the three—Ernest Bethge, formerly of the crew of the Hamburg-American liner Cincinnati, which was seized here Friday morning, and Erick R. Bloomquist and Ellis Hemberg, Swedes, who came here from Buffalo, N. Y.—intended to cripple some of the trans-Atlantic cable lines off the Massachusetts coast. Federal authorities said they have had Bethge under surveillance for some time.

Bloomquist and Hemberg said they were hired by Bethge to go trawl fishing off Provincetown. On board the Sparrowhawk were 1500 feet of wire cable, a large winch and a few other tools.

TO RETAIN GEN. WOOD

May be Ordered to Higher Post.

Administration Changes its Mind on Demotion of the Noted Officer.

Report Indicates Politics will be Sidetracked in Conduct of the War.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Gen. Leonard Wood is not to be transferred by the War Department from the command of the Department of the East with headquarters at New York, to Charleston, S. C.

Although orders for the transfer were issued by the department two weeks ago, they will not go into effect.

The administration has changed its mind and Gen. Wood will remain in command of the most important division of the army and if moved therefrom it will be to a place of even greater importance.

Inasmuch as the determination to demote Wood by giving him the least important command in the country was based solely upon political feeling, the fact that the government has abandoned its intentions indicates that political considerations are not to be permitted to affect the operations of the War Department.

Gen. Wood is recognized as the ablest military man the nation has developed in recent years.

CREDIT TO SYSTEM.

If the government is about to adopt a system that will make possible the organization and training of an effective army, sufficient in size and capacity to assure the defense of the country and to contribute materially to the final crushing of German autocracy, Gen. Wood deserves most credit for having planned this system and having prepared the public for its acceptance. The proposed demotion of Gen. Wood, although it was announced before the President had finally decided that war with Germany was unavoidable, aroused immediate indignation. Even the President's strongest journalistic supporters could find no excuse for the action, and only attempted to explain it upon the theory that Gen. Wood's indisputable talents were needed to organize a defenseless section of the country.

Even this attempted defense was abandoned when the publication of department orders showed that the department had suggested to Gen. Wood that the command of either the Hawaiian Islands or the Army in the Philippines would be more important than the command offered him at Charleston.

But the chief cause of the change in the intentions of the administration concerning Gen. Wood was produced by the fact of an actual state of war, and the realization that with the country at war the best ability that can be brought into the service of the nation must be recognized and utilized.

The President's appeal to the country for support of the government met with immediate response from all classes of persons, including those who had bitterly opposed his re-election and had most severely condemned his policies.

That the President and his advisers have decided to rectify the great blunder made when the transfer of Gen. Wood was decided upon shows that the President has risen above political considerations, and is simply following the course which he has urged upon the people generally.

Offers of cooperation were received from individuals, organizations, firms and banks. Many of the latter offered to place at the disposal of the proper authorities, all means within their power for distributing and aiding in the sale of the bonds.

Expecting the usual variance of opinion generally manifested with the announcement of any proposed financial legislation, officials were stirred by the unanimity of the approval and the unmistakable note of patriotic support in the great volume of communications received. They expressed their satisfaction with predictions that when the big bond issue is offered for sale the response of the nation will be such as the world has never seen before.

The revolutionary movement that I head is against the illegal government of Carranza and I will not abandon the field of strife unless to free the Mexicans from a new tyrant."

The letter is said to be dated from Santa Eulalia, a point about fifteen miles east of Chihuahua city, on April 3.

Domingo, which is under American financial supervision. The following republics are expected to observe an attitude of friendly neutrality: Argentine, Chile, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, Salvador, Uruguay and Venezuela.

Developments regarding the policy of the following are being awaited with intense interest: Colombia, Mexico.

Of the countries regarded as certain to follow the example of the United States in declaring war on Germany, Bolivia adhered to the Wilson policy of armed neutrality. While Brazil declined to do likewise, she firmly protested against the German submarine decree and advices received show she will declare war. Cuba already has acted and an exchange of felicitous telegrams is now in progress between President Wilson and President Menocal of that republic.

President Cabrera of Guatemala is exceedingly friendly to the United States, and needs our support as against Carranza.

MARINES AT MANAGUA.

American marines for five years have been stationed at Managua, aiding the government there in preserving peace and order. The President of Panama has called upon his people to back up the United States and assist in the defense of the Panama Canal. Here is what Dr. Porras, the Panaman Minister, said tonight: "I have been notified of the proclamation issued by the President of the republic and which was printed in the newspapers this morning. All of the people in Panama are determined to take the part of the United States. That is the unanimous view. Our people will follow the American people in happiness or misfortune. We are with you to a man."

Hayti and Santo Domingo are under American control and the worst that can be expected in either case is a revolution started by German gold. The situation in both these republics is being closely watched and American marines will be employed to quell any uprising against the governments.

The Allies confess to doubt as to the attitude of the Argentine government. They have no doubt as to the sentiment of the Argentine people. The government placed an embargo on the exportation of foodstuffs. The Allies have retaliated by refusing to permit coal to go to Argentina. A shortage of coal will be of serious consequence to the South American republic and it is expected to bring about a condition which will cause a repeal of the embargo.

The declaration of war by the United States, according to the reports, is having an important influence in Argentine councils.

There are many Germans in Chile. That country has never been any too friendly to the United States, but under the circumstances it is believed and hoped a friendly neutrality will be manifested.

Peru, of course, has always been befriended by this government. There have been rumblings of war in Central America in which Costa Rica and Salvador are involved as Allies. Action has been taken to preserve the peace and to create a friendly sentiment for this country. Uruguay and Paraguay are expected to be neutral. As to Venezuela, Senor Dominici, the Minister of that country, said: "I have received no information from Caracas since the United States declared war. But I can say that my government and my people are in full sympathy with the United States. Our friendship for this country is a loyal and lasting one. I do not expect we will declare war, but I do believe and expect that our policy will be marked by friendly neutrality for the United States."

The attitude of Colombia is more or less dependent upon the negotiations now in progress for the settlement of all the questions pending between the two countries, particularly that relating to the separation of Panama. Secretary Lansing and Minister Betancourt shortly will sign a treaty, under which the United States will pay Colombia $25,000,000 in exchange for the cession of the strategically-placed islands of the old province and St. Andrews, the transfer to this government of the Atrato Canal route and a guarantee that Colombian waters and territory shall not be used as a base for military and submarine operations against the "Colossus of the North."

It will all not be an easy task to create a hegemony of the American republics against Germany. German agents are laboring industriously to secure expression of the anti-American sentiment. They are buying Latin-American statesmen and are engaged in a propaganda from which they expect results. If they cannot secure the backing of the several governments, they will encourage revolutions.

President Wilson has announced, however, he will not permit the export of ammunition to any revolutionary organization. Guns, rifles and ammunition can be transported only to governments and upon their explicit orders. Without military supplies, revolutions must fail. Germany will use her submarines to deliver such supplies, but she will have few of the craft for that kind of work.

In the end, with the possible exception of Mexico, the administration hopes to have Latin America solidly behind the United States.

NATION MUST RECRUIT ARMY OF FARM WORKE

Leaders Point to the Necessity [illegible] Increased Crop Yield.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Mobilization of a huge "farming army" as far as practical along the lines of the fighting forces of the United States, is being urged by men who foresee a gigantic food problem in this country shortly. Former President Westerfeld of the National Grocers' Association, is one of the leaders of the movement, and says the organization of such a force is as essential to the nation in the great world struggle as a success at arms.

In the face of the greater demand than ever before by the Allies for food supplies, and an increased demand by this country, he pointed out that America is already threatened with a serious grain shortage, and the outlook is not encouraging in other branches of food production.

MUST REPLACE SOLDIERS.

"America is up against the problem of feeding herself and her Allies at a time when the crop outlook is not encouraging, and the farm labor problem is absolutely desperate," said Mr. Westerfeld. "The problem is further complicated by the fact that on the farms are the sturdiest men of the nation and those who will make the best soldiers. Prompted by patriotism and a spirit of adventure, these men will seek to enlist in the army in large numbers. There is only one remedy for this situation, and that is the organization of a great 'farming army,' whose duty it will be to replace the men who leave the farms, and put an immense new acreage under cultivation.

"This force should be recruited from the ranks of the hundreds of men who will be rejected from service in the fighting branches because of some slight physical defect, such as weak eyesight, family [illegible] tion, slight deafness, flat feet, [illegible] of the dozens of reasons [illegible] men are rejected.

"In putting the men into [illegible] ducing army' as contrasted [illegible] 'destroying army,' it should be [illegible] ed out to the men that [illegible] performing just as important [illegible] patriotic duty to their country [illegible] they were bearing arms and [illegible] on foreign soil. FIVE MEN DROWNED BY CAPSIZING BOAT.

BISMARCK (N. D.) April 8.—Five men were drowned and another is believed to be dying as the result of the capsizing of a boat in the flood waters of the Missouri River here today. The dead:

A. A. VON HAGEN, Minneapolis.

Because the high water of the Missouri had suspended railroad traffic Lang and Massey were taking the others in a small boat from Mandan to Bismarck. The river was still rising today. It is expected that the twenty-four-foot stage will be reached before there is a sign of subsidence.

A portion of Mandan north of the railroad tracks is under water.

SANTIAGO (Chile) April 8.—The Chilean people are greatly disturbed by the course of events in Brazil in consequence of the sinking by the Germans of the Brazilian steamship Parana. The entrance of Cuba into the war and the attitude of Panama have made a deep impression and in political quarters the belief is expressed that eventually Chile will be compelled to join in the war against Germany.

BUENOS AIRES COMMENT.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—The great glass and electric signs of the "Kaiserhof" Hotel were pulled down today and as soon as they can be installed, new signs announcing that it is now the "Atlantic" will voice the patriotic sentiments of the owners, who are of German birth.

Poorly Paid.

JAPANESE POLICE.

Men are Worse Paid than in Any Other Country, but the Men are Efficient and Faithful and Greatly Respected by the Masses.

[Japan Magazine:] Though the police of Japan are worse paid than those of any country in the world, they are considered as efficient and faithful as any that can be found, for in our country ability and loyalty to duty are never made too dependent on money.

But this is only one reason for the efficiency of the Japanese police. The other is the fact that the greater part of the police officers belong to the old Samurai families, the funkers of Japan, who, as a question of principle, despise filthy lucre.

After this introduction we are not surprised to learn from Mr. Nishigudis that shortly after the establishment of a national constabulary a German officers was employed to instruct the force.

Our police training schools admit candidates aged 20 to 45, most of them are college graduates or non-commissioned officers of the army reserve. The force is divided into two shifts, each serving twenty-four hours on a stretch. One of their duties is to keep up their skill in jiu-jitsu. Our policemen do not patrol beats, but have their fixed posts where they can be reached by telephone. In peculiarly dangerous places detective patrols are employed.

Even cities such as Tokio have no traffic patrol police yet. Foreigners will be astonished to learn that our capital, in spite of its enormous area and its population of over 2,000,000, has fifty-seven police stations only (suburbs included.) The 3700 officers made in 1914 27,700 arrests.

The Japanese policeman's only weapon is the sword—and the robbers usually carry the same arm. The patrolman's pay is $5 to $12.50 a month, and he has to serve ten years at least before reaching the salary maximum. For special expenses he receives a monthly allowance of $2 to $5. Detectives and pollyglot policemen who can serve as interpreters receive an additional $2.50 to $5 per month. The average policeman, even if he serves his whole life, never gets beyond the monthly $12.50 His only chance of increase is the capture of a notorious criminal, which earns for him a bonus of $25 to $50.

The Japanese policeman is as a rule respected and trusted by his countrymen. In spite of his poverty he keeps up a good appearance. His wife is entitled to be addressed as okusan, instead of okamisan, the usual denomination of a lower class woman.

In the rural districts the discipline is less rigorous and the policeman is allowed to accept from the farmers gifts in the shape of fruits and vegetables. Sometimes rich people erect at the gates of their estates modest lodges where the policeman can live rent free. Similarly, people in the city sometimes offer the policeman some cheap rooms in their houses. Of course in these cases estate and house have a first claim to the officer's protection. His name is placed on the gate or door beneath the name of the landlord; a useful hint for thief and robber.

The sergeant starts with $15 a month and can reach $50. The civil service examinations leading to this much-envied post are very rigorous; one often finds among the candidates graduates of the law college of the Imperial University of Tokio.

Even members of our House of Lords can be found on the list of our higher police officers.

The uniform is after the German pattern, but since the war with Russia the smart Muscovite uniform influenced somewhat the cut of the Japanese outfit.

After five years' continuous service the policeman has a claim to an allowance amounting to one-half of his regular salary. After fifteen years he receives a pension.

PROMPT WORK HALTS PLOTS.

Secret Service Men Prevent Disaster by Speed.

Three Enemy Divers Hunted in Gulf of Mexico.

Shipping Circles Thrilling with Tales of Peril.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Predictions had been freely made that the moment the United States declared war Germany would strike this country a terrific blow, presumably through the Mexican border or by a concerted raid with submarines and commerce raiders working out of the Caribbean Sea. Simultaneously, it was expected that the organized German societies in all the large cities would foment riots, destroy railroad terminals, water plants and light plants and begin the systematic dynamiting of munitions plants and arsenals.

SECRET SERVICE ACTIVE.

That riots have not broken out in the cities is due to the great activity and efficiency of the Secret Service, which has been augmented by thousands of skillful detectives and a myriad of volunteers serving without pay, and through patriotism alone. The service has been able to discover and undo the numerous plots and arrest and whisk away, secretly, the chief plotters. This prompt action has done much to dampen the powder of the traitorous societies and they will be further crippled and emasculated by the arrest of all members who make any suspicious moves.

Concerning the peril of a raid by submarines in the Gulf of Mexico and East Atlantic seaboard, there is not such acute fear as there was a week ago. It is known there is, or was, a submarine base in the Caribbean Sea, and one or more along the coast of South America. Presumably there is one or more on the American coast, but the activities of these submarines have been largely discounted and provided against. Indeed, there is now reason to believe that there are no more than three German submarines in the Gulf of Mexico, and they will find difficulty in escaping destruction.

Advices from all parts of the country are that the American public, which wanted war when the Lusitania was destroyed, has settled down to grim business of making a thorough job of it, now that the game is on.

WATCH SHIPPING NEWS.

It was expected there would be sensational news from somewhere out along the coast today. There are hints around shipping circles here that when some of the armed American merchantmen return, they can tell, if permitted, thrilling stories of the destruction of attacking submarines, but it is understood the Federal government will take advice from England and France and give no hint of what is being done in this line. Naval experts say that this policy of silence regarding the fate of a submarine that does not return to its base shakes the morale of all the crews.

GOVERNMENT AWARDS HUGE NEW DRY-DOCK.

BALTIMORE, April 8. — The Maryland Dredging Company yesterday was awarded the contract for the construction of what will be the largest dry-dock in America at the League Island navy yard in Philadelphia. The contract will be worth approximately $3,000,000. Work will be started early next week.

SNUFF BAFFLED HOUNDS.

A British Prisoner Successfully Covered His Trail from Camp.

[John Kidman in the Toronto Mail and Empire:] While the habit of snuff-taking may be open to objection from the point of view of a temperance, social and moral reform department, it undoubtedly helped Private Peter Nelson of Vancouver to elude Teuton bloodhounds, for, when he skipped his camp in Germany, and heard the baying of the hounds, he threw pinches of snuff about. This, and the shelter of a friendly wood enabled him to cover up his traces. Nelson had been sent to camp not far from Muenster, where drainage operations were the staple work. On Sunday evening, November 12, he managed to elude the guards and got into a wood near by, where he could hear the dogs barking and machine guns working. He threw snuff over his footsteps and made so rapid a journey that next morning at 6:30 o'clock he found himself over the frontier, the distance covered being about thirty miles. At one point he almost ran into a sentry, but managed to avoid him without attracting undue notice.

Having, as he believed, got into Holland, he inquired of a boy and found his surmise was correct. That supposition was at first suggested by the fact that two or three workmen were cycling to work, and that they were young men. In Germany there would be no young men not in uniform. Two mounted police came along and asked Nelson if he was an escaped prisoner, and within an hour he was before an inspector. This time, however, the role of the police was to liberate rather than jail their man, and further, they gave him the best meal he had had for over a year, together with money and a letter to take him to the consul at Rotterdam. At the pay office at Westminster he had the satisfaction of drawing his pay for the entire period of his internment.

No Doubt.

[Boston Transcript:] "When I got home at 2 o'clock this morning my wife met me in the hall and for a full minute she regarded me in silence."

"At length she spoke."

"Yes, also she spoke at length."

It read: "replying to your telegram I wish to say that Alabama and Montgomery have already contributed more troops per capita than any other State and city in the Union. In further earnest of our patriotism a mass meeting of the people of Montgomery had already before receipt of your wire been called for Wednesday night, April 11, to be presided over by the Governor of Alabama, when patriotic addresses will be made on the spot where Jefferson Davis was inaugurated as President of the Confederacy. We will be glad to receive from you details of the programme you are working upon, that we may co-operate with you on the days suggested by you. With us there is no talk or question of loyalty. The heart of the South is with the heart of the nation.

SHOULD STUDY LINCOLN.

His Remarkable Speech at Bloomington, Ill., Recalled.

[Christian Science Monitor:] The need of a deeper study of Lincoln, by adults as well as children, is made evident by the growing frequency with which students of the great rail-splitter apply his sayings or his acts to present-day conditions. In May, 1856, when a tremendous issue was forcing itself upon the nation, he made, at Bloomington, Ill., what has sometimes been called his "lost speech." It was not lost, however, although no notes were taken of it at the time. In later days it was pieced together by those who heard it. In this speech Lincoln appealed to every element in his party and in his country to stand for the right, regardless of pressure for compromise or expediency, closing with a remarkable peroration, at the end of which he stretched forth his long arms in invitation to all his countrymen, declaiming with irresistible force:

Come as the wind comes when forests are rended:
Come as the waves come when navies are stranded!

a quotation which, five years later, inspired the strain:

We are coming, Father Abraham, 500,000 strong.

PRESERVING RECORDS.

The Mutability of all Things Makes Human Documents Perishable.

[Columbia State:] How to preserve records is a concern of a scholarly article in the Scientific Monthly for December, in which Prof. C. E. Vail, writing of "Our Duty to the Future," considers the perishability of human documents that disappear amid earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, deluges and the quieter action of the elements. Paper falls apart, stone crumbles, glass wears away, iron is short-lived, clay is easily shattered, no ideally resistant material is in use. Past civilizations are little known to us because of the instability of their records. Our duty clearly is to leave records of the greatest possible permanency if the medium can be found. What shall be devised to transmit historical data, our records photographic and cinematic, our artistic and literary achievements?

The best record of the present age is to be found in the leviathan ships in the Atlantic bottom and in the war debris scarring and ridging the continent like the burrowings of a marine insect. It proclaims the age of man that knew not his brother. The story is written large some hundreds of feet above the fossil trilobites which flourished fifty millions of years ago and exist now in no material element but simply as forms filled in with later minerals.

The Meanest Man.

[Pittsburgh Gazette Times:] The "meanest man" was discovered by residents of Camp avenue, Braddock, Pa., when a man threw several hundred hot pennies at a dozen children who were serenading the home of Mrs. Mary Struif, No. 117 Camp avenue, who was celebrating the marriage of her daughter, Mary Struif, to Arthur Stuffle of Homestead.

According to residents of the vicinity the children, ranging in age from 5 to 9 years, were singing in front of the Struif home when a man appeared with a skillet containing hot pennies, which he threw among the children. The children were burned on the hands, when they attempted to pick up the coins.

BATHE INTERNALLY AND KEEP WELL

Nature has mightily equipped us all, old and young, to resist disease—but she requires that we give her a chance.

We give her no chance if we permit the Lower Intestine to be more or less clogged with accummulated waste. Yet that is a universal condition today, as is proven by the number of laxative drugs that are consumed.

You can help Nature in Nature's most effectual way in Internal Bathing and it's an easy, non-habit-forming way to keep the Intestine as sweet and clean as Nature demands it to be for perfect health and surer defense against contagion. Over half a million keen, bright, healthy people testify to its results.

Mrs. I. B. Logan of St. Joe, Idaho, writes:

"Dear Sir: While you have never solicited my testimonial, I feel it a duty that I owe to you to acknowledge what your treatment has done for me.

"I have suffered more than forty years from the most severe form of bilious headache. Have scarcely missed a month during all that time that I did not have a severe attack. The only way I could get relief was to get some purgative to act on the bowels. I could keep on my feet and attend to my daily vocation only by taking an aperient, a laxative or a purgative every day.

"Since coming in touch with your 'J. B. L. Cascade' I have not taken a single dose of medicine, have not had an attack of bilious headache and have never enjoyed such perfect health in my life as I have for the past three months."

Just call at The Owl Drug Co., Fifth and Broadway, Fifth and Spring, Third and Spring, 625 Broadway, Seventh and Hill, and request free booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." The most efficient device for Internal Bathing, the "J. B. L. Cascade" will also be shown and explained to you if you so desire.—[Advertisement.

Basis for Labor.

NATION FIRST, WORKERS' VIEW.

Employers and Men Suggest War-time Policy.

Would Agree on Course to Avoid Disputes.

Plan to Maintain Existing Standards in Effect.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 8. — No strikes by labor of any kind during the war is the plan of the Labor Committee of the Council of National Defense's Advisory Commission. Since the Labor Committee membership includes the leaders of organized labor and representatives of influential employers, its action is interpreted as giving the United States promise of complete freedom from industrial disputes such as hampered England early in the war.

The committee report follows:

"The defense and safety of the nation must be the first consideration of all patriotic citizens. To avoid confusion and to facilitate the preparation for national defense and give a stable basis upon which the representatives of the government may operate during the war, we recommend:

"(1.) That the Council of National Defense should issue a statement to employers and employees in our industrial plants and transportation systems advising that neither employers nor employees shall endeavor to take advantage of the country's necessities to change existing standards. When economic or other emergencies arise requiring changes of standards, the same should be made only after such proposed changes have been investigated and approved by the Council of National Defense.

(2.) That the Council of National Defense urge upon the Legislatures of the States, as well as all administrative agencies charged with the enforcement of labor and health laws the great duty of rigorously maintaining the existing safeguards as to the health and welfare of workers and that no departure from such present standards in State laws or State rulings affecting labor should be taken without declaration of the Council of National Defense that such departure is essential for the effective pursuit of the national defense.

"(3.) That the Council of National Defense urge upon the Legislatures of the several States that before final adjournament they delegate to the Governors of their respective States the power to suspend or modify restrictions contained in their labor laws when such suspensions or modifications shall be requested by the Council of National Defense; and such a suspension or modification, when made, shall continue for a specified period and not longer than the duration of the war."

WIRELESS WARNS OF LURKING SHIP.

"BRITISH VESSEL" FLASHES A MESSAGE TO LAND.

Rumors of Sinking of Enemy Raider Persists in Eastern Ports. Many Men Decline to Discuss Report—Shipping Moves More Freely as Weather Clears.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON (Mass.) April 8.—A suspicious vessel off Nantucket lighthouse was reported to the Boston Navy Yard by a British vessel today. The message said:

"Sight suspicious vessel or object forty-five miles south, six degrees west from Nantucket light, vessel at 3:15 a.m. today.

"[Signed BRITISH VESSEL."

Later the position of the mysterious vessel was given as latitude 40:15 north, longitude 69.23 west, almost due south from the shoals.

The report of a mysterious craft in the steamship lane to Europe was the second to be announced officially within twenty-four hours. Yesterday the lightship sent word of a "commerce raider" of 10,000 tons burden passing west. Whether the craft sighted today was the same one naval officials declined to state.

Nantucket Shoals are only eighty-five miles east of the naval base at Newport. There were reports today from widely-separated sources that a raider had been sunk off Nantucket by a destroyer or submarine. To queries on all such stories, naval men had only one answer:

"We can say nothing about it."

No report of any victims of a raider in these waters have been received, so far as known. Prompt action by the navy yesterday in getting all shipping under cover effectively cleared the coast of prey for a foreign war ship. Under more favorable weather conditions today with patrol boats, having a wide range of visibility, shipping moved more freely.

Naval officials tonight were interested in comparing the position given as that of the "mysterious vessel or object" with reports made first on Friday and again tonight of the presence of a derelict schooner in the same waters. The positions differed only slightly. The schooner N. E. Ayer recently was abandoned off the coast.

SAVING FOR VICTORY

Man Power and Money Power—these are the two elements upon which the United States must depend if the present national crisis is to be brought to a successful conclusion.

There is no question but what the man power will be forthcoming as it is needed.

In the matter of money power the United States today is in an enviable position, but what the future demands may be is questionable, since no one knows to what extent the nation will participate in the war.

It is, then, the duty of every American citizen to be economical and to save money, because the day may come when the dollars you and thousands like you have laid away in the Savings Banks may turn the scale to victory.

Your savings will earn 4 per cent. interest compounded semi-annually at this strong bank. $1 is sufficient to open an account.

UNPATRIOTIC BAND ANGERS YOUNG JUDGE

ST. LOUIS, April 8.—Judge Daniel W. Maddox, of Litchfield, Ill., the youngest judge ever elected in Illinois, kicked a hole in the bass drum of a carnival band in East St. Louis when the drummer refused to play "The Star Spangled Banner."

Judge Maddox didn't care particularly for the music being played and walking out to the street said to the man nearest him, the drummer: "Play the 'Star Spangled Banner.'" The drummer replied: "We don't know how."

This was too much ignorance for Judge Maddox. He reached for the drummer with his right hand. Missing him, he struck out his right foot a moment later and it went through the drum.

AIRMEN IN FRANCE FLYING HOME FLAG.

PARIS, April 8, 4:55 p.m.—The placing of the Lafayette Flying Corps under the American flag to symbolize the entry of the United States into the war has been discussed for several days. The Figaro now says the Stars and Stripes are flying over the headquarters of the escadrille, which is composed largely of American aviators.

SENTRY KILLS BOY SCOUT.

NORTHPORT (N. Y.) April 8.—Misunderstanding an order to halt, given by a United States Marine who was on guard duty here, James Ratigan, 12 years old, was shot and instantly killed last night. He was in an automobile driven by Thomas Hall, another boy about his own age, and wore a Boy Scout uniform.

BLOOD AS A NERVE TONIC

"If people would only attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves ill," said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors should not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wrecks. More people suffer from worry than from anything else."

The sort of thing which the specialist spoke of is the nervous run-down condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of today. Sufferers find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited, unable to keep their mind on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears and cannot sleep at night.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich blood. Therefore the treatment for neurasthenia, nervousness, and run-down health is the new rich blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are able to make. The revived appetite, improved spirits and new strength which come after a few days' use of the pills will delight every sufferer.

The free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System" will interest you. Write for it today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 50 cents per box.

NAVY NEARS WAR FOOTING.

Smoothness and Celerity of Work Show Readiness.

Weird Reports are All Given Careful Attention.

Army Enlistments Proceeding with Less Speed.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—"The mobilization of the navy is proceeding with a smoothness and celerity truely remarkable. It is most inspiring to think of the large number of young men turning from civil life to grim war in the navy over night. Most of the battleships long held in reserve are now in active service. Within a few days mobilization will have been completed."

This statement was made tonight by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. Mr. Daniels was plainly gratified by the many reports which have reached him since he flashed the mobilization order by radio to American naval vessels and naval stations all over the world.

ARMY GROWS SLOWLY.

Officials of the War Department would not discuss the enlistment record of the last few days, but indications are that it is not so gratifying as that of the navy. In fact, army officers are convinced that it will be necessary for Congress to pass the selective conscription and universal service bill before a real fighting land force can be raised.

"Already we have enough men for most of the reserve ships," Secretary Daniels declared. "This does not mean that there should be a let-up in enlistments. We need men for many other ships, for patrol duty and other active service. Besides many new ships are coming on for which crews must be provided from the ranks of our patriotic young men in private life. They are coming forward magnificently. At some stations our force has been literally overwhelmed by the rush of men to enlist and serve the nation in the hour of its need.

"We did not want this war, but it has been thrust upon us. Every American physically and mentally capable is anxious to do his part in upholding American rights upon the high seas and vindicating human rights and civilization. This is eloquently and forcefully demonstrated in the way our boys are enlisting for service."

ALL DETAILS FORESEEN.

For weeks Secretary Daniels and his associates in the Navy Department were busy preparing for the mobilization of the entire navy. All commanding officers received instructions in advance. When the final word was flashed from the big Arlington wireless plant immediately following the Cabinet meeting last Friday, all was in readiness. The fact that the naval machine is running without a hitch indicates that no essential details were overlooked by the Naval General Board, by the office of Naval Operations, which is in active charge of mobilization, or by Bureau of the Navy Department.

Secretary Daniels said the Navy Department had received no confirmation whatever of the reports that German raiders are lying off the North Atlantic coast, or that submarines have been sighted off Tampa, Fla., or have been captured by the battleship Arizona or any other naval vessel. In point of fact, the Arizona has not been at sea for some days, which should dispose effectively of the report that this latest dreadnaught has sunk one submarine and brought another into port.

It is known that the Atlantic and Gulf coasts are well patrolled. To use the language of one high official, "every craft capable of patrol service, including even row boats, is on the lookout for the navy."

This official added that many weird reports have reached the Navy Department, but that every one of them is carefully run down and checked up. The navy is taking no chances.

In both the Navy and War Departments today the work was largely of a routine character. The work of national defense preparations in both departments has largely been reduced to a scientific basis. It promises to become more and more a cold-blooded business proposition as time goes on.

WAITING FOR CONGRESS.

Military experts are awaiting with no little anxiety the developments of the legislative situation on Capitol Hill. They feel that they have done their part up to date and it now remains for Congress to perform. Some concern is evidenced over reports that strong opposition is developing to the "selective draft" system proposed in the War Department bill for raising the new national army of young men between the ages of 19 and 25. Some enthusiasts declare emphatically that unless Congress passes this bill with such a provision the President might as well withdraw the declaration of war againt Germany. They feel it is absolutely essential and fundamental.

An elaborate plan has been worked out by the General Staff, and approved by the administration for quickly developing a large number of officers, ultimately reaching 100,000. This number is the minimum which will be required for an efficiently officered army of 2,000,000 men. Even a larger number of officers is desirable for such a force. The detailed plan for training these officers has not been made public. Army experts who are familiar with its details state that the scheme is not only progressive and feasible, but certain to produce the desired results.

ORDERING SUPPLIES.

Vast orders for supplies of all kinds are being placed by both the Army and Navy. The work of organizing American industries to furnish supplies in large volume in record time and at reasonable prices is progressing rapidly.

Naval experts have examined many of the German war-bound ships which have been taken over by the government. Officials here are satisfied that most of the ships can be prepared for service within a reasonably short time. They will be placed in service where most needed as rapidly as their machinery is repaired or replaced. Just how they will be employed has not been finally determined.

EXPERTS PREPARING TO COMBAT DIVERS.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Improvement in methods of combatting German submarines has been undertaken at conferences between Secretary Daniels and other representatives of the Navy Department and naval officers representing France and Great Britain. No facts concerning possible ways of fighting the submarine menace will be made public although the need for more aircraft for the American navy is recognized.

General co-operation with the fleets of the Entente nations is also being taken up at the conferences. Meanwhile the mobilization of the American fleet is going ahead and naval militia organizations in different States are being put on a war basis.

MEXICO DELAYS WAR POLICIES.

CARRANZA STUDIES SITUATION BEFORE FIXING COURSE.

German Minister Says His Nation Prefers United States as an Active Enemy Rather than an Uncertain Friend—New Neutrality Declaration may be Withheld.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—Notice of the declaration by the United States that a state of war exists with Germany was transmitted to the Mexican Foreign Office yesterday by American Ambassador Fletcher. No outline of Mexico's probable policy in these circumstances has yet been made public. Mexican officials in close touch with President-elect Carranza indicated that Mexico's attitude would be considered carefully.

Many Mexican officials were anxious to lear nthe effect teh declaration might have on exports of wheat, corn and other foodstuffs from the United States to Mexico. Although crops are said to be ample in most parts of the republic, the cessation of such imports, it is believed, might affect seriously certain localities.

German Minister von Eckhardt said that the formal declaration by the United States had not been unexpected and that Germany would rather have the United States as an active enemy than as an uncertain friend. He said he thought the part to be played by the United States in the European war would be confined principally to giving financial aid and supplies to the Entente. He declared it was impractical for the United States to send troops to Europe and equally impractical for the United States Navy to do any damage to the main German fleet.

Mexican officials express doubt as to whether a new declaration of neutrality by Mexico could be expected in the present crisis. One man closely associated with President Carranza thought it improbable that Carranza would want to express himself immediately on the international situation.

NEW OFFENSIVE IMPEDES PEACE.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS CANNOT NOW REACH RUSSIANS.

Had Counted on Relaxation of Efforts to Permit Them to Further Their Movement — Party Leader Calls Campaign a Breach of Faith by Officials.

COPENHAGEN (via London, April 8, 11:02 p.m.)—The German offensive on the Stokhod River appears to have considerably upset the leaders of the majority Socialists in Germany who were counting on a relaxation of German efforts on the Russian front to permit them to get in touch with and to further the peace movement among the Russian Socialists.

The Associated Press hears from Berlin of a recent conference of the leaders of the Scheidemann wing of the Russian situation at which, according to one of the participants, it was stated that the German government had given definite assurances that no offensive movement on the eastern front would be undertaken for the present, so that the Socialists could continue to endeavor to convince their Russian colleagues that Germany was not endeavoring to take advantage of the revolutionary movement to re-establish the Romanoff autocracy. This participant now speaks bitterly of the "breach of faith" that will make it difficult to convince the Russian Socialists of the good intentions of the German Socialists.

WILSON TO HALT TRADE WITH ENEMY.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Trading with the enemy will be prohibited by President Wilson. If necessary the authority he now possesses will be supplemented by Congress in order that not a pound of American material can reach Germany. It will surprise a great many Americans to know that directly or indirectly, Germany has obtained from the United States more than a million dollars' worth of goods annually since the beginning of the war. It had been supposed that the British blockade was so rigorous that it was impossible for anything to pass through. The facts which have come to the attention of the authorities speak otherwise.

NAVY ENLISTMENTS SHOW BIG INCREASE.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A large increase in the enlistments in the navy followed immediately on President Wilson's address to Congress and the Navy Department announced last night the enlisted strength had been brought up to 65,165, yesterday was a record day with 714 enlistments. More than 20,000 more are needed to reach the authorized war strength.

ROMINGER BILL UP THIS WEEK.

Vote is Expected Probably Next Wednesday.

Both Sides Claiming They will Have Majority.

Council of Defense Expected to Present Measures.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—Anti-liquor legislation will be disposed of this week if the Assembly proponents of the Rominger bill succeed in having that measure brought squarely before the House without several amendments that are threatened by its opponents. The Rominger bill, which proposes to abolish all saloons and restrict the alcoholic content of ardent spirits to 21 per cent., is on the Assembly's second reading file together with its rival, the Ashley liquor regulation bill. Ashley's bill proposes to limit the number of saloons to one for every 500 of population as well as impose various restrictions on the sale of liquor. Each bill has its group of supporters and a warm contest already has developed as to which measure would be acceptable to the public.

If the Assembly votes down amendments to the Rominger bill, the measure should, in the ordinary course, reach the third reading file Wednesday when final action on it will be taken. The Ashley bill probably will be advanced at the same time and the Assembly thus will have the liquor regulation measures to contend with on the same day. The Rominger forces have sounded out the sentiment in the Assembly and claim to have a favorable majority. On the other hand, members of the lower House who are avowedly against any sort of liquor regulation by the Legislature, contend that on the roll call the majority will vote against the Rominger bill and likewise will defeat the Ashley measure.

OTHER PENDING BILLS.

Aside from liquor regulation the Assembly will have before it this week the State Market Commission bill by Senator Luce of San Diego, which is subjected as a special order of business in the Senate on Tuesday at 11 a.m.

The bill enlarges the authority of the market-director. The workmen's compensation bill, also by Luce, and which is regarded as one of the important pieces of legislation is in the hands of the Assembly Committee on Insurance with an excellent chance of being finally disposed of before the end of the week. The bill already has passed the Senate. It greatly enlarges the scope of the Industrial Accident Committee and makes insurance compulsory on employers. An interesting debate is promised in the Senate tomorrow, when a bill introduced jointly by Senators Duncan, Purkitt, Irwin and Shearer, prohibiting appointive officers of the State from taking any part in political campaigns comes up for definite action. The authors of the bill are all Democrats. The bill emerged recently from the Judiciary Committee with a majority recommendation that it do not pass and a favorable recommendation from the minority.

FOR FRUIT STANDARD.

Citrus fruit standardization, as advocated by Ashley of Lodi, was among other bills due for consideration this week. Several public meetings have been held by the Assembly Committee on Agriculture in an effort to determine upon methods of orange standardization which will fit the varying requirements of Northern, Central and Southern California.

It was thought probable that some of the legislative recommendations urged by the State Council of Defense will be introduced this week. The Attorney-General's office has undertaken the preparation of several measures which will seek to increase the authority of the Governor over county and municipal authorities; forbid the use of the National Guard for strike duty and create a State police force to deal with emergencies in the event the National Guard is called into Federal service.

Enactment of a daylight-saving law also will be sought. The Executive Committee of the council will remain in Sacramento, it was said, to carry out the preparedness plans of Gov. Stephens and expedite such emergency legislation as is required to place the State on a war footing.

MERCHANTMEN URGED TO WATCH GERMANS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Merchant vessels were urged today to co-operate with the Navy Department in locating German submarines. Radio instructions were sent to all vessels in the range of the coast station directing their masters to keep a sharp lookout for submarines off the coast or at sea and to report immediately to the nearest station any sighted, giving the time when seen and the exact locality of the enemy craft.

This action was taken following instructions from Washington yesterday that all wireless stations should be taken over by the United States.

The officers' training camp that was to have been held at Santa Barbara in July and August will not be held as per schedule. The officers will probably be trained, but at an earlier date and at the Presidio, San Francisco.

FISH WINS PRIZES WITH EASE AT TRAP SHOOTING.

BY E. C. CROSSMAN.

THREE perfectly good and mighty handsome silver thermos bottles and stands went to lucky gents over at the Los Angeles Gun Club Easter morning. Winning one of them was as easy as shooting fish; in fact, if the idea had occurred before the shoot was over somebody probably would have done it. As it was, C. W. Fish, who is merely trifling around with the shotgun game until his Smith single-barrel arrives, took first choice of the three said thermos bottles, donated by Mr. F. H. Mellon, and wtih the same 93 ex 100 birds, won a leg on the Class A Everding Trophy.

The second stage of the seven-shoot race for the handsome Everding prizes found Mr. Fish rounding the first turn in the lead of the procession, but still behind F. H. Mellus, with a total of 7 points for the two shoots. It appears from the dope sheet that if you shoot through all seven shoots, at 100 birds per shoot, with shells at $4.40 per hundred, and manage to pile up more points than any other wizard of finance in your class, you win one of the said Everding pretty things, which are really pretty—but possibly not so handsome as twenty-eight odd round iron dollars. A win each day counts 5, next 4, next 3, next 2 and fifth 1.

The other Mellon trophy, which looked mighty desirable in its glitteriness of silver and glass and mirror, was tied for by Slim Tuckett, Heinus Pfirrman and the donor, Mr. Mellon, who was high in the shoot-off. Knowing more about the trophies than the rest of his tie-mates, he resigned in favor of Tuckett, and the said Mr. Tuckett can now carry with him in his red go-devil, nice cool ice water—or anything.

The third cooler of fluids a long way from the ice box was slipped to Harry Cline.

Dry statistics say that in the Everding race—which has as many trophies and as many classes for the number of shooters on deck as a shoot over at the range of the Turners—W. A. Cornelius was second in A, with 92 at 19 yards, and 4 points; O. Evans third, with 88 from 19; F. H. Mellus, fourth, with 87 at 21 yards, and 7 for his grand total, and H. Pfirrman fifth, with 86 from 20 yards, if Mr. Mellon was not also fifth with the same score.

Freddie Grewell cleaned up in the B class with 91, and 8 points on the total for the two shoots, those immediately on his trail being C. F. (Gunless) White, Billy Wilshire, J. W. Meek and G. Tuckett. In the C aggregation J. H. Bishop, with 92, headed the procession, with P. G. Peterson, Mrs. Pfirrman, F. H. Wilson, George Melford and C. H. Betz marching just behind, and taking points according to their place on this list. Bill Kennedy, with two wins in two shoots in the D pew, has 10 points on the race, making 88 Sunday from 18 yards, while R. O. Poole, with 87 and 7 points total, got second. Mrs. Mellon, N. W. Nelson and O. D. Ashton wound up the list.

The combination of a gray day, a changing light, and probably the bad news about the wife's Easter bonnet that morning, put a lot of hoot in the shoot, if the scores and some past records are to be believed. High total for the aggregation was pulled down by one of the barred professional persons, DuPont Guy Holohan, who snapped 94 of them off the top of the traphouse with the old pump from 19 yards. Behind this score marched such haswaser sharks as Heinie Pfirrman, winner Pacific Coast Handicap and State championship in days gone by, Frank Mellus, who couldn't miss one at the last big shoot, and others who ought to be able to count on the fingers of one hand their shortage from the century mark of broken birds.

The high mogul of the Hunter Arms Company of Fulton, N. Y., Jim Carraher, was on deck with a caged specimen of the new Smith single barrel, promised for years, and still not ready for delivery. It was with difficulty that Fish, who ordered one of them before they built the Frisco fair, could be induced to put down the new gun and toddle out and shoot his regular scores with his regular old fusee. The new cannon looks and acts like a regular clay bird pointer, and so far as inspection could determine, every time it barked in the hands of those trying it, a birdie lay down and rolled over and stuck its paws up in the air.

Aside from the slight mention above, the censor has deleted any scores from the Sunday scandal. It is no loss to shooting history.

NEAT WORK.

Los Angeles did all its scoring in the second, when Beer fermented and was tapped for four hits. Meusel mauled out a single, and Killifer's safety put athletes in first and third. Gleichmann's grounder to Murphy leaped over his head for a safe hit, Meusel scoring and Killifer taking third. Miller's quick throw, after catching a shorty fly by Davis held Wade at third, but Gus sneaked down to second. Boles counted Killifer with a hit to right. Miller shot the ball home. Gleichmann, coming in from second, tried to obscure himself in a cloud of dust at the plate, but Callan discovered the subterfuge and tagged him.

While Hall was pitching to Chadbourne in the ninth a factory across the street blew the noon shutdown. Hall thought it was Chance, but was puzzled because he had never heard the P. L. whistle that loud before. While trying to figure it out he passed Chadbourne. Boles threw out Chet stealing.

WRESTLING IS EXCITING FANS.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OMAHA, April 8.—On the eve of their wrestling match here Monday night, Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., and Earl Caddock of Anita, Iowa, declare they are in the pink of condition, and properly tuned for their battle.

At least a $15,000 house is assured. Not a seat of the original 6000 was left last night. A special train from Anita carrying 350 Hawkeye farmers is on the way. A brass band will accompany the crowd, and streamers across the cars bear the inscription, "We are for Caddock."

Sioux City is sending a special Pullman car of fans, while Lincoln, Fremont and other Nebraska towns will dump thousands in here for the scrap.

UHLAN OUTDISTANCES FAST WHITE SOCKS.

SANTA BARBARA, April 8.—Uhlan, the world's foremost trotter, owned by C. K. G. Billings, won in three straight heats from F. W. Leadbetter's White Socks, on the Bartlett polo field yesterday. The race featured a brilliant gymkhana held by the society people and polo men and brought out a brilliant crowd, estimated at over 2000 people.

For weeks the appearance of Uhlan on the Bartlett field had been anticipated. The event with the White Socks drew the crowd and as Uhlan, without apparently any exertion, outdistanced his speedy rival, three times in succession, the crowd went wild with enthusiasm.

Billings, multi-millionaire of Chicago and New York, rode his noted trotter, while Leadbetter, multi-millionaire of Portland, Or., mounted White Socks.

White Socks is an unusually speedy and graceful animal and did wonderfully in its brave effort to outdistance Uhlan.

Each event in the gymkhana was up to the highest expectations.

Among the women entered for the races when the programme opened were Mrs. H. H. Whitman, Miss Katherine Harvey, Miss Ruth Peabody, Miss Nancy Park, Miss Delphine Dibblee, Miss Mary Gallaher, Miss Gladys Ogilvy and Miss Harriet Cowles.

The men entered were C. K. G. Billings, Frederick Leadbetter, C. W. Dabney, C. D. Dabney, Jr., Frederick Baxter, Elmer Boeseke, Dudley Rutter, Philip Brown, Reginald Fernald, Arthur Ogilvy, Elliott Rogers, Edgar Park, Dr. Bert Boeseke and Dr. E. J. Boeseke.

It is estimated there are 2500 golf courses in America.

Golf.

ARTIE SHAFER OUT IN FRONT.

Distinguishes Himself by Winning Twice.

Morris Phillips has Choice of the Prizes.

Ladies' Championship Opens at San Gabriel Today.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The Brentwood Country Club's first annual invitation tournament, which has been bubbling starry golf effervescence over the week and proved all that was hoped of it. One hundred and five golfers responded to the clarion call to come and be entertained right royally, and everything went merrily under the wing of Thomas McCall and Martin Redmayne.

On the first day, Morris Phillips, who has been winning everything lately and is trying more or less successfully to look modest and unconscious, had the choice of two prizes—that for the best thirty-six-hole gross with 145, and that for the best eighteen holes with 71. They gave him the best gross, which left Norman Macbeth the winner of the best net eighteen holes in the afternoon with 73.

Artie Shafer has distinguished himself by winning on both days. He brought in a 71-4-67 for the first round on Saturday, and then won again on Sunday morning with a 72, 2 up on par match play. And that Artie has settled down to consistent golf for a time was evident, for he likewise achieved a 77-4-73 on Saturday afternoon.

Arthur Letts, Jr., eighteen handicap, has recently come into the golf limelight. He managed to tie for two cups, the best net for the second round on Saturday with J. S. Hunt, when their respective scores were 84-18-66 (including a 2 on the 7th) and 78-12-66, and for the best net thirty-six holes for day with E. G. Richardson with 138.

Mr. Letts has shown such marked progress in his golf prowess that the official handicapper, Ed Tufts, is regarding him with an arbitary eye.

E. G. Richardson also won the best net prize for the morning round on Saturday with 81-16-65. There is a good story on Mr. Richardson, who evidently has the mechanical bent. Down at Long Beach on every green he produced what I believe is known as a "spirit level"—the thing the carpenters use to gauge an absolute line. He was playing with Arthur Letts at the time and that gentleman got distinctly rattle. Especially as it proved so effective that putts were negotiated with diabolical precision. Your really scientific golfer will be getting the U.S.G.A. to recognize it as a bona fide golf implement soon. But it hasn't yet. And alas, when his disconcerted partner called for a decision, it went against him.

Roy B. Tufts and F. R. Richardson tied for the best net yesterday morning and in the four-ball foursomes in the afternoon Elmer Ralphs and Capt. Wharton won with 7 up. P. H. Smith and Thomas McCall, and E. H. Seaver and W. R. Miller tied for second prize with 4 up, Smith and McCall winning in the playoff, so at least one of that shimmering array of extragantly generous cups will stay with a Brentwood member.

All the star players patronized the tournament. Laurence Cowing, State champion; E. S. Armstrong, ex-champion, were, however, not in championship form and 78's and 79's were their best showing. Bill Campbell of Virginia was dashing round in 76's, as was Judge Frederickson. Ed Tufts, true to form, brought in his regular 84-6-78. J. S. Aborn, fairy godfather of the Griffith Park Club, was there but playing ten strokes below his game; Winsor Walton had a 76, Elmer Ralphs a 78, Dr. West Hughes 87, Frank D. Tatum 80, Don Dawson 82, Dr. Waddell 82, Phillip Wiseman, eighteen handicap, managed a net 68 to rejoice over; E. B. Stanley, ten handicap, found solace in a net 71; Paul Wold, ten handicap, in a net 69, and John P. Cudahy, who continues to maintain his recent laurels in spite of a reduced handicap, brought in 83-8-75, and 78-8-70 for the two rounds. Roy Tufts, brother of the autocrat, did the family credit with a net 68 on eighteen handicap, as did D. Crary, and there was a dizzy moment during which they were in line for the best net prize, until E. G. Richardson, minus his spirit level, brought in that net 65.

The Brentwood players were there in force but carefully not playing quite well enough to swipe all their own cups. Tom Bundy, for instance, had 85-14-71 and Martin Redmayne 89-16-73.

It was a thoroughly jolly tournament and the little club set an extravagant standard of both cups and hospitality, which is going to be alarming to live up to. Their course was pronounced good and sporty.

THE WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Southern California Women's championship opens at San Gabriel today. The eighteen-hole qualifying round begins at 1 p.m.; match play and side events will occupy them every day until Friday, when the finals and women's foursomes are on the programme.

Mrs. Dudley Fulton from Los Angeles C.C., Mrs. Guy Cochran from Midwick and Mrs. C. A. Perley of San Gabriel form the committee. There are about twenty entries so far.

BRODIE DESIRES A KNOCKOUT.

Herb Brodie now asserts that nothing will satisfy him in his fight with Steve Dalton tomorrow evening except a knockout. He is willing to put up an iron bound guarantee that he will place the local lad on ice before four rounds have passed by. Brodie is in excellent condition and if Dalton sticks the full route he will have to do some high-class boxing.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams has lined up a semi-wind-up for the weekly Vernon boxing programme that threatens to closely rival the main event. Al McManus and Willie Hunefeld are slated to go through an interesting fray and the betting is about even on the two men. In the last contest between this pair, McManus came out on the long end of the score. Willie Hunefeld was not in perfect shape and failed to fight up to scratch by a mile.

The bout tomorrow evening ought to be a wild-eyed affair. Hunefeld is in great condition and McManus is as speedy and shifty as ever.

Following are the perliminaries:

Gene Watson vs. Tommy Richards, 122 pounds, Young Fritz vs. Kid Romeo, 128 pounds, Billy Moore vs. Joe Lopez, 135 pounds, Eddie Martin vs. Kid Savage, 158 pounds.

FOUR SERAPHS ARE GIVEN AX.

TED EASTERLY AMONG THOSE TO PASS OUT.

Other Three are Nicky Schilz, Outfielder, Billy Harrington and Ben McMorran, Pitchers—Latter is Sent to Northwestern League and McIntyre is to Follow Him.

A considerable portion of the Angels were dispersed last night, Chance bouncing no less than four men—Ted Easterly, catcher; Nickey Schilz, outfielder, and Billy Harrington and Ben McMorran, pitchers. This is the biggest batch of releases issued by any club since the season started. Easterly and Schilz were released outright. Harrington, who was here merely on trial, reverts to Denver, while McMorran has been sold to Spokane. Chance will keep a string on this young southpaw. Mac left for Spokane last night.

Del Howard, who had been reported on the verge of signing Easterly, says that he has decided to stand pat on his present catching staff—Callan and Murray—at least for the present.

When the Angels leave for Salt Lake this morning, Lem McIntyre will be the only member not to accompany the club. Chance is making an effort to place McIntyre in the Northwestern League.

Vernon will make its first appearance at Washington Park tomorrow, when the Tigers will tackle Portland, while Oakland has gone north to open with the Seals in San Francisco. Next week the Angels and Tigers will tangle here.

While Chance is not entirely satisfied with the club's work against Oakland, having hoped for nothing worse than five out of seven, the fans generally like the looks of the Angels. The Oaks showed up stronger than they had been doped, are going in great shape and will be hard to beat while traveling at their present clip.

The Tigers, by taking three out of four from the Seals, did about all that can be required of a team on the road. Stovall seems to have the men fighting.

President Powers is of the opinion that Howard pulled a "boner" when in Saturday's game he asked Chance to let him use one of the catchers who had been removed for a pinch-hitter. "Howard knew that this could not be done under the rules," said Powers. "It simply placed Chance in an embarrassing position. If he had granted Howard's request, or loaned him a catcher, the result would have been to cheapen the game, if not make an actual farce out of it. Of course if the Oakland catchers had been hopelessly crippled the case would have been somewhat different. Chance is out there to win games. That's his business, and it should be the business of the other fellow—if he can. If J. Cal Ewing needs catchers, let him go out and buy them. We don't want his manager snooping around our bench looking for help."

An extra charge of 25 per cent. is made for the use of capital letters.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

White spaces and dashes are charged for on the basis of seven words to a line.

Ads. set solid are counted strictly by the word. For paragraphed or lined-up matter set in caps, estimate five (5) average words to a line. Not set in caps, estimate five (5) average words to the first line, and eight (8) average words to each line following. In this kind of advertising, the actual number of words set solid is counted, and eight (8) words added for each unfilled line.

The Times reserves the right to classify all advertisements under appropriate headings.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessen the value of an advertisement, will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, on presentation of receipt within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the sense or purpose of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items not affected by an error or errors which may occur in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment of "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Advertisements ordered for insertion in Sunday's Times cannot be discontinued or changed after 8 o'clock p.m. Saturdays.

Telephone orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order of their receipts, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of dispute no charge for advertising will be rebated unless the "stop order" number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 160,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times," Main 8200; Home 10391, any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times does not knowingly accept objectionable advertisements of any kind or character—medical, whisky, turf, lottery, "get-rich-quick," etc.—and it uses every reasonable precaution to keep its advertising columns clean and wholesome. This is a guaranty of protection to its readers, as well as to its legitimate advertising patrons.

DAMP EASTER FOR MOST OF STATE.

BADLY-NEEDED STORM VISITS NORTHERN SECTION.

In Los Angeles a Cloudy Day is Succeeded by a Night of Infrequent Showers—San Joaquin Valley Sections Report Copious Fall, with More to Come.

After holding off until after the outdoor Easter services had been completed, rain visited Los Angeles, starting at 10 o'clock last night. Up to midnight no precipitation had been reported from the San Bernardino section or from Orange and San Diego counties. Further north, however, there was a generous fall in portions of the San Joaquin Valley.

Bakersfield reported over one-tenth of an inch during the evening. This was its first rain for four weeks, when .04 of an inch was recorded. At 11 o'clock p.m. it was stated there that the chances were good for an all-night rain.

Mobilization.

NAVAL MILITIA OUT.

Three Local Divisions Encamped at Exposition Park—Recruiting Goes on Rapidly—Future Movements Behind Veil of the Censorship.

Hurry and bustle of preparation yesterday marked the encampment of the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth divisions of the Naval Militia at Exposition Park Armory. Recruiting went on apace, and many recruits who had signed up to serve in time of war only joined the colors.

Commander A. H. Woodbine, commanding the brigade, yesterday perfected his commissariat, and the brigade now boasts one of the most efficient commissary departments in the militia.

Commander Woodbine was not at liberty to divulge further mobilization orders regarding his command. As a result, it is not known whether it will entrain for some other point. However, Commander Woodbine asserted that if he were given two or three more days here, he had every hope of bringing his brigade up to 750 men.

BUSY LIFE ENDS.

Pullman District Superintendent is Laid to Rest.

Funeral services for F. A. Barzen, who was district superintendent for the Pullman company and who died suddenly Saturday morning, were conducted yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, at the family residence, No. 3913 Wisconsin street. The body was shipped to Chattanooga, Tenn., for burial.

During his lifetime, Mr. Barzen was identified with three sleeping car companies. He was born at Willoughby, O., fifty-one years ago, and when a boy he worked for the Woodruff Sleeping Car Company until its absorption by a rival. Then he became associated with the Wagner Palace Car Company, operating between the Atlantic seaboard and the Missouri River. In 1900 the Pullman Company acquired the Wagner company and Mr. Barzen's services were retained by the former. About nine years ago he was made superintendent in charge of the district of Southern California and Arizona, with headquarters in Los Angeles.

He leaves his widow, a son, Howard, and two daughters, Mrs. W. S. Menefee and Miss Caroline Frances.

BANDITS' ATTACK.

Four of 'Em, Masked and Armed, Try to Rob Man and Woman and to Assault Latter, but Her Screams Frighten Highwaymen.

Masked and armed with revolvers, four Mexican highwaymen early last night attacked and attempted to rob Charles W. Becket and Miss Elitch Pink, both of No. 435 North Mountain View avenue, as they were walking near Ninth street and Boyle avenue.

According to the police report, the bandits fired several shots at Mr. Becket when he fled after refusing to put up his hands, and then attempted to assault Miss Pink. The young woman's screams attracted pedestrians and the Mexicans fled.

The bandits, the police learned, sprang upon Mr. Becket and Miss Pink from behind a building as they were passing the intersection of Ninth street and Boyle avenue. They were all armed with revolvers and demanded money. Instead of throwing up their hands, as ordered, the couple attempted to flee.

Police who searched the neighborhood failed to find any trace of the highwaymen.

PEARY SAYS AIRCRAFT ARE IMPERATIVE NEED.

Also Advocates a Great Pacific Coast Fleet—Danger of Attack Told.

AFTER saying that a most important and most vital step in the way of preparedness the country is to acquire a pow- air force, Rear-Admiral Rob- Peary declared here yesterday the nation is not merely de- military aircraft, but prac- lacks them altogether.

Admiral Peary, with Mrs. Peary, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday over the Salt Lake. here he is the guest of the Angeles branch of the Aeronautical Society of America. He was the station by Earle Remington, president of the local branch society; Charles F. O'Brien, J. S. Drake of the Navy, Morgan Adams of the Militia, Capt. Thomas F. of the Chamber of Commerce, E. G. Judah, president of Merchants' and Manufacturers' tion; Ora E. Monnette of the of the Revolution; Gen. Johnson of the Security League, others.

and apparently as vigorous athlete, the admiral was and positive in giving expression to his views on the necessity strong fighting force for the asserted that he favors the creation of a department which shall not be or connected with any department. A bill to create department was introduced last Monday, and the stated that the head or secretary of the department, who thus become a member of should be the strongest available. In the course of at the Los Angeles Athletic he will name Maj.-Gen. Goethals as his choice for position.

The airplane serves several vitally important purposes in offense and defense. It meets attack from the air; it attacks from the air. It detects and reports the approach of a hostile fleet. As an engine of offense it is becoming more and more effective.

"There are planes in Europe now armed with three-inch guns and in the course of time there will be airplanes with five or six-inch guns. There are seaplanes that carry torpedoes to be used in turning back or destroying attacking ships.

"Do you realize that Los Angeles is subject to successful attack by aircraft? One or two German raiders carrying a dozen seaplanes might steal up to the coast in the night. The airplanes each carry 1000 pounds of an explosive so deadly that a few pounds will sink a torpedo-boat and 300 pounds a battleship.

SHOULD ACT NOW.

"Steps to create an air fighting force should be immediate and powerful. No less than $100,000,000 should be appropriated for this branch of the service. It is more than a question of coast patrol, for an air squadron is a weapon of offense and defense in almost any situation. We have been talking of the importance of the mastery of the seas for many years. Now we must reckon with the forces of the air."

Admiral Peary further declared that the Pacific Coast should have not only adequate coast patrol in the way of air craft, but that half the naval forces of the nations should be here. "We are a two-ocean nation," he said, "and we must have a two-ocean navy. The Panama Canal is too vulnerable to depend on speedy removal of fighting ships from the Atlantic Coast. The Pacific Coast should have a navy of its own."

Admiral and Mrs. Peary will be driven to points of interest about Los Angeles today, and tonight the admiral will speak at the Los Angeles Athletic Club to members of the Aeronautical Society and others on new developments in aviation and the imperative need of a powerful airplane auxiliary to the military forces of the country.

Members of the First Reserve, Aero Squadron, and all Monterey Training Camp recruits are urged to attend Admiral Peary's lecture this evening in the gymnasium of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. A meeting of the officers of the Aero Squadron, with Maj. Earle Remington, the commander, presiding, was held last night.

Rear Admiral Peary,

Who declared here yesterday that the nation is not merely deficient in military aircraft, but practically lacks them altogether.

Fatal Plunge.

INSTANT DEATH IN AUTO WRECK.

Prominent Dentist is Crushed Beneath Car.

Seven Others Receive Severe Cuts and Bruises.

Results may Prove Fatal to Two Women.

Dr. Frederick Wishard, president of the American Dental Society, and one of the best-known dentists in Southern California, was instantly killed, his wife, daughter and sister-in-law severely injured, and five other men cut and bruised last night, when two automobiles locked wheels and overturned on the Calabasas road, about ten miles out of Hollywood.

The injured were hurried to the hospital at Universal City in passing automobiles, and later taken to the Sisters' Hospital. It is feared that two of the women, Mrs. Edwin Keller, Dr. Wishard's daughter, and Mrs. Ruth Pettijohn, a sister-in-law, will die, as physicians believe they are internally injured.

The accident occurred about 9:30 o'clock p.m. Dr. Wishard, accompanied by Mrs. Wishard, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Keller and Mrs. Ruth Pettijohn, had left their apartments at the Balboa Hotel early yesterday morning to motor to Santa Barbara as guests of Burt Short, a local automobile dealer. Mr. Short drove.

The party spent a pleasant day along the road and at Santa Barbara, and started homeward late yesterday afternoon. Everything went well until they reached a point about ten miles from Hollywood on the Calabasas road. Here they met another car coming toward them, driven by F. Will of Oxnard, in which Lloyd Bellah and William Mangin, also of Oxnard, were riding. Both drivers turned out to let the opposite machine pass, but their judgment of distances was bad. The front wheel of the machine driven by Mr. Will struck the rear wheel of the car in which the dentist and his party were riding, overturning their machine. The front wheel of Mr. Will's car was ripped off.

Dr. Wishard was killed almost instantly, being crushed beneath the heavy tonneau. Mrs. Keller and Mrs. Pettijohn were so severely injured that they were later taken to the Sister's Hospital for an operation. Mrs. Wishard, Mr. Keller and Mr. Short were more fortunate, escaping with cuts and bruises The three men in the other car also escaped serious injury.

Dr. Wishard came to California

FINDS EASTER CHARITY FAKE.

Nevadan Puts Cash Security in Basket; Learns He's Neatly Robbed.

Robert Tabich of Tonopah, Nev., no longer believes in Easter baskets. Friday he placed his savings of several years, amounting to $2600 in a basket. Two other men told him they had put $8000 with his money. He believed them and carried the basket for two days. They told him to open it on Easter Sunday. He did, and found some old newspapers.

He told the police he had met a German and a Slavonian Friday night and that they had told him he could help them distribute $8000 to the poor of Los Angeles, if he would put up a deposit. Mr. Tabich placed $2600 in the basket, and hasn't seen it since. He is still wondering how they did it.

Hostilities.

STARTS ATTACK ON AMENDMENT

Property Owners' League in Publicity Campaign.

Declares Power-bonds Ghost has not been Laid.

Fears People will Sleep on Job at Primaries.

The question of the charter amendment to be voted on at the coming primaries is being overlooked by many, in the opinion of Walter Little, secretary of the Los Angeles Property Owners' League. It is his desire to call attention as far as possible to this matter, which he says may be passed by in the rush to select the nineteen candidates for the finals in the Councilmanic contest.

He is confident the people will defeat the amendment if they are shown what he terms "its many dangers;" that it is another subterfuge for the proposed $12,000,000 of power bonds.

Mr. Little says he intends to devote his time to a campaign of education on this power question. He fears the people, satisfied with the present results of the power-bond fight, will remain quiet until it is too late to prevent what he considers a new danger.

"This is no time for idle words," said Secretary Little yesterday. "We must have action at once. That power amendment proposed for the charter is dangerous. It holds within itself powers that are well nigh autocratic. The people have decided they do not want a power-bond election. Now a charter amendment on a most important subject is put before them at a time when they cannot well decide the matter. The people may wake up to find they have literally put their heads into the lion's mouth."

SANTA FE BUYS MORE EQUIPMENT

Contract for Eight Hundred Refrigerator Cars Placed in the East.

Adding to its already large equipment purchases, the Santa Fe, it was announced yesterday, has placed an order with the American Car and Foundry Company for 800 refrigerator cars. The contract calls for the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000. With the increased shipping of early fruits and vegetables from California, the need of cars with ice compartments is being more and more emphasized, it is pointed out.

Figures.

SHOWS PROSPERITY.

Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation Earned Over Four Per Cent. on Fixed Capital and Distributed Nearly Million Dollars.

Prosperity that marked the business of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation during the year that ended December 31, last, is shown by the company's balance sheet and income and profit and loss account as of that date. The figures were reported to the State Railroad Commission, as the law provides, and have just been made public by that body.

The company's operating revenue for the year was $4,802,344.49, and the gross corporate income $1,452,776.84. From this amount were deducted interest on the funded debt, $418,413.69; other interest, $2194.70; miscellaneous deductions, $25,813.30(or a total of $446,421.69, leaving a net corporate income for the year of $1,006,355.15. A total of $720,000 was paid out in dividends and there was on last December 31, a surplus of $381,212.97, as against $94,035.47 on December 31, 1915.

The company has a total fixed capital of $22,062,035.02; the net income for last year represented an earning of a fraction over 4.5 per cent. of this amount.

ORGANIZE HOME GUARD.

At two mass meetings in El Monte Friday and Saturday evenings, a home guard company of 120 men was organized. At the first meeting sixty-five men enlisted. Residents of El Monte believe that they have the largest number of enlisted men in its home guard of any town of its size in the State.

See's Head.

SIMPLY AWAITS BULLS OF POPE.

Bishop Muldoon's Appointment is Confirmed.

Expect Delay in Arrival of Official Notification.

Catholic Societies to Unite in Big Reception.

Confirmation of the appointment of Rt. Rev. Peter James Muldoon, D.D., bishop of Rockford, Ill., to the diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles at the consistory of March 22 in Rome has been given by the Roman representative of the Catholic Press Association, but Bishop Muldoon has not yet received the official notification. Several weeks may elapse, it is stated, before this will arrive. If there appears no way to send the papal bulls by person, they will have to be sent through the mails. Ordinarily, the bulls are sent from Rome to the diocese affected by some person leaving the seat of church authority for the diocese or its vicinity. In the present case, the modes of travel are so uncertain that there may be delay.

Bishop Muldoon has made no statement regarding the probable time of his coming to Los Angeles, as he awaits, of course, the official notification of his appointment. As soon as the probable date of his arrival is determined, or as soon as the official announcement is received, it is expected that the various Catholic societies of Los Angeles will join in a union movement to prepare plans for a suitable reception to the new head of the local see.

As the new appointee already is consecrated as a bishop, there will be no other consecration ceremonies here, but the installation will be accomplished through the reading of the papal bulls to the clergy and people of the diocese. This ceremony will occur at a great meeting in St. Vibiana's Cathedral, accompanied with solemn religious ceremonies and mass, and it is probable that priests from every section of this large diocese, as well as visiting bishops, will be in attendance.

THE OFFICIAL CANVASS.

Angeles Mesa voted 287 to 200 to come into Los Angeles, according to the official canvass which was completed yesterday. At the same election, Mrs. Maude Farley was elected trustee of the Hyde Park school district, over Louis Hantover.

When thousands greeted Easter dawn at Eagle Rock.

A portion of the worshiping assemblage (above) and below Ellen Beach Yaw, the soloist of the occasion, and Rev. F. E. Knopf. The cross, which crowns the bald summit of Eagle Rock, stands twenty feet high and can be seen for miles around. It was brilliantly illuminated for two nights proceeding the ceremonies yesterday.

"On the Third Day."

HAIL RESURRECTION OF THE PRINCE OF PEACE.

Prayers and Hymns of Praise Arise from the Mountain Tops and in Sanctuaries of Southland as Hearts Beat Responsive to Message of Old—Ten Thousand Attend Services at Eagle Rock.

CLEAR and sweet the bugle notes rang on the misty morning air as the monster cross, reared on the rugged summit of Eagle Rock, which broods over this beautiful valley like the noble bird from which it takes its name, flashed to the waiting thousands an electric message of the Redeemer's triumph over death. Then after a tense, still moment, during which the watchers bowed their heads in prayer, hundreds of voices were raised in song caroling to the world the great hallelujah chorus, "Christ is Risen."

Long before the hour set for the services eager worshipers began to arrive, and by 5:25 o'clock, when the bugle call was sounded, there were fully 10,000 persons massed about the great white cross of light, gathered on the slopes that sweep in gentle undulations from the bald and sear brown summit of old Eagle Rock, while every peak and knoll for miles around was covered with groups of watchers gathered to pay homage to the symbolizing of the risen Christ.

Following the hallelujah chorus, Rev. F. E. Knopf, pastor of the Eagle Rock Congregational Church, gave a scriptural reading. He was followed by Herbert Withoffs, whose cornet solo, "Hosanna," gave just the touch of sweet solemnity that was needed to impress the multitude with the deep religious significance of the ceremonial. Dr. T. T. Creswell, pastor of the Eagle Rock Presbyterian Church, gave the prayer.

Ellen Beach Yaw's rendering of "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," was worth journeying over a continent to hear. There on that lofty summit, with the dawn light breaking through the mist, that wonderful anthem floated out to thrill the hearts of all who were fortunate enough to come within reach of her silver sweet voice.

Dr. Daniel F. Fox, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Pasadena, spoke on the "Resurrection." It was a masterly discourse, delivered with force and eloquence, and every word befitted the occasion, which was pregnant with a joyous solemnity.

Following Dr. Fox's address, Miss Yaw sang "Hail Glorious Morn." "Lark Ellen,' true to her name, gave to the song a meaning that sank deep into the hearts of that vast assemblage.

Then, when the chorus of 100 voices sang "America," and the assembled ten thousand joined in, it seemed as though the very "rocks and rills" out there amid those "templed hills" found voice to sing "sweet freedom's song."

The benediction was pronounced

Allegations.

BAIL-JUMPER RECRUITS ANTI-CARRANZA ARMY.

ADVICES were received by local Federal authorities yesterday that Fortunato Tenorio, who is wanted here for jumping his bail of $2500, in connection with a charge of violating the neutrality laws, is now in the State of Oaxaca, Mex., where he is alleged to be actively engaged in organizing a force against President-elect Venustiano Carranza.

Tenorio was taken into custody in this city, and it was alleged that he had organized a force in San Diego for the avowed purpose of going down into Mexico, and co-operating against Carranza. He was indicted, but when the day came for the trial Tenorio was not to be found, and he has since been out of the jurisdiction of the court. His alleged confederate in the scheme was a poor, ignorant Mexican, who pleaded guilty and was assessed a small fine by United States District Judge Trippet.

Tenorio is an educated Mexican of the higher type, and, following his graduation at the Mexican West Point at Chapultepec, served as a chief artillery officer for the republic. He was in command of the artillery division at Ensenada for a time, and stood high, it is alleged, in the anti-Carranza circles. He took his arrest here with the greatest nonchalance.

HOT LEAD ENDS LONG QUARREL.

Estranged Husband Kills His Wife and Himself.

Sequel to Shooting Episode that Sent Him to Jail.

Threats are Made Good After Brooding in Prison.

Making good old threats he had penned in a diary, Denman A. Carey, 60 years old, yesterday shot and killed his wife, Susan Carey, 55, and then ended his own life. The tragedy was enacted at No. 556 South Maple avenue, where Mrs. Carey conducted a rooming-house.

Carey had recently been released from the prison at San Quentin, after serving a three-year sentence for having shot at his wife. Jealousy is said to have prompted both the former attempt at violence and yesterday's fatalities.

According to the story told Detectives Beaumont and Wood by Mrs. M. V. Wideman of No. 552 South Maple avenue, and by Mrs. A. Schucan, a roomer in Mrs. Carey's lodging-house, Carey had been annoying his wife for some time. Saturday night, the women say, he appeared at the lodging-house and he paced the hallway before Mrs. Carey's apartments until late yesterday morning. Then he left. About 11 o'clock Mrs. Carey left the home of Mrs. Wideman, with whom she had been sleeping since her husband's release from prison, and went to the lodging-house to clean up the rooms.

Shortly after Mrs. Carey entered the house, Mrs. Schucan spoke to her. The landlady was in poor spirits and seemed worried, as she knew her husband had visited the lodging-house. She told Mrs. Schucan she had just been at the police station and had reported her husband's presence, asking that she be protected.

SEES FATAL ATTACK.

Mrs. Schucan says that a few minutes afterwards she heard Mrs. Carey racing along the little hallway on the first floor, and she also heard the heavy footfalls of a man. She opened the door of her room and less than five feet away, she saw Carey holding his wife's head rigid, by her hair. She saw him raise his right hand, saw the glint of an automatic revolver and then heard shots. Carey fired ten bullets into his wife and then reloaded his weapon and shot himself in the head. Mrs. Carey was instantly killed. The man died en route to the Receiving Hospital.

For the last three months Mrs. Carey had been staying at the home of Mrs. Wideman at night, because she feared her husband might attack her. It is said Carey had made several attempts, since his release from prison, to have his wife return to him. He was a mechanic employed by the Santa Fe.

In a letter, which he left and which bore the inscription, "To be opened after my death," Carey directs that his property be sent to his daughter, Maude E. Carey, at Nashville, Tenn. In the letter are indications that he and his wife had had considerable trouble.

SINISTER DIARY.

In a diary Carey wrote, under the date of October 17, 1913: "There is only one way out of our troubles and she is forcing me to take that way." In another entry, he wrote: "In all probability society and the public will blame me for my actions, but be it so. I shall make another attempt to get her to return to me, and if it fails, God help her and me."

A daughter of Mrs. Carey lives at Covina Junction.

According to Mrs. Wideman, Mrs. Carey had been trying for some time to save money enough to enable her to go to her former home in Tennessee, that she might escape from her husband.

April 28, 1913, Carey was arrested by Detectives Winn and Williams, after firing three shots at his wife and the prison sentence followed.

FOR JOINT OPERATION.

Southern Pacific Would Sell Santa Fe Half Interest in Kern County Oil Railroad—Says will be for Best Interest of the Public.

A joint application of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the Southern Pacific Company and the Santa Fe for authority for the first-named to sell, and the Santa Fe to buy for $168,893.14, a half interest in the Oil City branch railroad in Kern county, and for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Company to release the Oil City branch from the terms and conditions of a lease from the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to the Southern Pacific Company, was filed Saturday with the State Railroad Commission.

The application states that the branch railroad is adequate to carry the business of both the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, and that it will be more economical and to the advantage and best interest of the public, if the railroad is operated for the joint benefit of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe. The road is six miles long. It starts from the Southern Pacific tracks, five miles northeast of Bakersfield, and runs to Ainrof, with a branch from Treadwell Junction to Porque.

Songs of Praise Rise Beside Wooden Cross.

Summoned to the mountain top by a bugle call, hundreds of worshippers gathered at the summit of Mt. Hollywood, Griffith Park, yesterday. A great wooden cross was erected there temporarily in place of the permanent symbol Miss Carolyn E. Upton will have constructed. At this wooden cross were conducted the Easter services which marked the first annual gathering to the top of Mt. Hollywood.

Just before the clear strains of the bugle sounded, the chimes in the Hollywood Cemetery were played.

The programme was entirely musical, under the direction of Miss Upton. Charles Wakefield Cadman played, and there were organ, 'cello and violin numbers, in addition to singing by hundreds of voices.

The mountain top was strewn with flowers, some of which were given by the park department and the rest by worshippers.

IN REDEEMER'S NAME.

Simple but impressive were the Easter exercises held yesterday at the Clark Memorial Home, No 336 Loma drive. Rev. Herbert Booth Smith was the speaker. The girls of the home marched to the strains of violin and organ music, from the house to the tennis court, where the exercises were begun just at sunrise. Walter Hastings sang two songs, and Miss Nellie Boon also sang. Mrs. W. R. Tanner presided at the organ.

Sunrise Concert is Easter Offering of the Owensmouth Woman's Club and is Attended by an Audience of More Than One Thousand.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OWENSMOUTH, April 8.—The classic Greek auditorium of the new High School was the scene of a most impressive service this morning when the first annual sunrise Easter concert of the Owensmouth Woman's Club was given before an audience of more than 1000 persons. Before daylight auto loads of visitors began to arrive from various points, and when the hour came for opening the programme the seating capacity of the open air theater was taxed to the limit.

The first number was a cornet solo, "The Holy City,' by F. M. Keffer of Van Nuys, who was stationed on the roof of the school building. As the sweet strains of the sacred music floated out on the still morning air the effect was inspiring.

Miss Margaret McKee of Hollywood, the "queen of whistlers," charmed the audience with her inimitable "Bird Calls," followed by "Ave Maria." The congregation joined heartily in singing, "Holy, Holy, Holy," after which thirty members of the Hollywood High School Glee Club marched around the auditorium singing "Hosanna."

Following a brief scripture reading by Rev. G. R. Graff, S.T.B., an address was delivered by Dr. Charles Edward Locke, who in the course of his remarks said:

"The message of this newest Easter morning, as the slanting sunlight falls upon a thousand battlefields, and as a whole continent is baptized in the blood of martyrs—martyrs to the brutal aggressions of a murderous militarism—is once more 'peace unto you.' As we renew our prayer for universal peace this glowing morning hour, our hope mounts high on the wings of faith, and we hear a risen Lord once more speaking to a torn and troubled world, 'Peace be unto you.'"

The vocal solo, "Hosanna," by Granier, was one of the most pleasing features of the programme. Prof. William Head of Alhambra rendered Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air" effectively. "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," was the title of a vocal solo by Clifford Lott, followed by "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," sung by the congregation. The programme concluded with a pipe organ recital by Miss Genevieve Edwards of Van Nuys.

Breakfast was served in the domestic science department of the school to those taking part in the programme, and to the patronesses of the affair.

Minister Expires as He Goes to Conduct an Easter Sunrise Service.

Rev. C. H. Lawrence, Methodist minister of Ventura and formerly pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church of this city, dropped dead yesterday morning at the foot of the mission cross, where he had gone to conduct sunrise services. He had just climbed the trail leading to the cross, that stands on an elevation about a mile from Ventura. He was 59 years of age.

MASONIC NEWS.

Knights Templar Observe Easter Sunday by Parade and Attendance at Church—Plans for Pilgrimage to Minneapolis Abandoned.

The two commanderies of Knights Templar in Los Angeles made a brave showing yesterday. They observed Easter Sunday by turning out with full ranks, parading through the streets and attending the First Methodist Church, where Rev. Dr. Locke preached a special sermon to them.

There were 250 Sir Knights of Los Angeles and Golden West commanderies in the column, with two brass bands that played "Onward Christian Soldiers" and other spirited marches. The church was packed and Dr. Locke was vigorously applauded. He never was more eloquent, his sermon being a scholarly and polished tribute to the Cross of Christ—full of epigram, metaphor and heart-appeal. Dr. Locke told what the cross has done and predicted what it will yet do for the human race. When he declared that the present war will accomplish the democratization of Europe and the rescue of Jerusalem from the Turks for Christianity, and voiced in burning words the call of Freedom to the sons of America, the vast congregation burst into hearty plaudits again and again.

On account of the new conditions brought about by war, the officers of the Mystic Shrine have abandoned their plan to send the Shrine patrol, drill team and band to the Imperial Council at Minneapolis. The Shriners had intended to spend about $15,000 on this expedition, but they have decided to give the money to the American Red Cross instead. The Minneapolis council has not been called off, but will be considerably curtailed.

MOUNT LOWE MECCA.

More Than Seven Hundred Make the Pilgrimage to Summit and Take Part in Sunrise Services at Easter Rock, upon Inspiration Point.

More than 700 persons attended the annual Easter sunrise service at Easter Rock on Inspiration Point, Mount Lowe, yesterday, under the auspices of the Astronomical Society.

The Mount Lowe Easter pilgrimage commenced as early as Wednesday and by Saturday Alpine Tavern, and the cottages as well, were full to overflowing, while fully 100 persons who made the trip Saturday afternoon slept before the great fireplace in the tavern lobby and in the ballroom.

Trains after midnight were loaded to capacity, while taking advantage of the full moon, many parties elected to climb the mountain by trail, and forty members of the Astronomical Society spent the night in the observatory at Echo Mountain, coming up to the services at dawn.

Sleepers were called by bugle at 4 o'clock and breakfast served, the services at Easter Rock beginning at 5:45.

The services arranged by Prof. William H. Knight, were simple and impressive, with Dr. Merle Smith of Pasadena, officiating. The music was under the direction of Mrs. Walter Hammond and consisted of a cornet solo by Miss Hallie R. Beare, baritone solo by Harry Hahn, and selections by a triple quartette composed of Mrs. Paul Fletcher, Misses Violet Shannon, Marguerite Carstersen, Marietta Page, Claire Rue and Miss Kathleen Brown, with Harold Ramey, Glen Rabe, Rodney McClure, Harry Hahn, W. H. Glen and Paul Fletcher.

Others on the programme included Rev. F. D. Mather, Mrs. M. E. Johnson of the Wednesday Morning Club, Miss Martha V. Shanklin and Prof. William F. Knight.

The Motion Picture Sensation of the Year
A Powerful 9-Part Picture From the Famous Novel
The BARRIER
—BY—REX BEACH

Such scenes as "The Barrier" depicts have never been seen in film dramas.

They are unique in conception, in setting, in action, in startling realism, in tense, absorbing human interest.

The love story is one of unusual beauty and charm. Big, dramatic moments follow one another breathlessly.

Daring, dangerous situations arise at every turn. The fights are real fights.

Nothing like "The Barrier" was ever before seen in motion pictures.

LOOK THROUGH THE OPEN DOOR INTO THE ETERNAL LIFE AND BELIVE THAT GOD GIVES COMPENSATION.

"Immortality Glorifying the Common Life" was Rev. Chester Ferris's theme in the Park Congregational Church yesterday. In this sermon he said:

"Even if this life be all, one may bear hardness bravely, believing that God is in it all, that there is some meaning in it, that strength comes from endurance, and finding joy in bearing courage to those who are in like extremity. Yet, if death ends all, hardness is extreme and unintelligible. Look through the open door into the life eternal, however, and then, with glorified trust, one can believe that God crowns the life with compensation. That there the toiler and sufferer may enter a sphere of service that is blessed and joyous, indeed. Then, as the cross which he bore gave Christ His perfect strength, so also the resurrection which uplifted Him would furnish the consummation for His hopes and ideals."

DR. NASH.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST.

THE ASCENSION OF JESUS IS ASSURANCE TO ALL THAT CALVARY NEED NOT BE FINAL.

In a sermon on "A Failure that Triumphed" Dr. C. Ellwood Nash in the First Universalist Church yesterday, said, in part:

"The secret of the reaction and rediscovery which led to the victorious march of Christianity lay in easily recognized factors. The accuracy of His spiritual delineation, the loftiness and yet practicability of His human ideals, the radioactivity of His principles, the fascination of His exemplary personality, and the fullness of His devotion—these were guarantees that the seed He planted could not perish. His wisdom was evinced in His trust in that law of life; His power in His fidelity to the invincible ideal.

"Jesus is thus the captain and the forerunner of all the defeated who dared stake all upon the deathless dominance of truth and righteousness. His accession is assurance to all that Calvary need not be final, that the highest success may spring from Gethsemane and Golgotha that 'ever the truth comes uppermost, and ever is justice done.' We can now see how fatal it would been had He yielded to the counsels of compromise and conformity. The cunning enemy had his day; Jesus has His eternity. He planted His grain of corn in broken and blood-fertilized soil; therefore it took deep root and bore large fruit."

UNIVERSITY METHODIST.

WHAT A SIGNIFICANT VISION IT IS THAT THE ETERNAL GOD IS OF THE EASTER SPIRIT.

"Jesus, the Eager," was the subject of Dr. W. E. Tilroe's Easter sermon in the University Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday. He said, in part:

"The Easter season is a recognition of the new, the young, the lively, the hopeful. Winter is behind us and the summer comes. It is a time of music and joy. The flowers bloom. All life is eager reaching its hands toward noon, wilfully forgetting that night is also on the way.

"There was a day among the dead and resurrection is the one thing meaningful. What a significant vision it is that the eternal God is of the Easter spirit.

"As their faithful souls went running in the way behold Jesus met them. He was Jesus, the eager. He could not wait their coming. He came to them. He came when they were not expecting Him.

"Men do, indeed, seek God, but the glorious lesson of the Easter Day is that God is on the search for men. He does not simply make us welcome. He makes Himself at home with us."

DR. GLADDEN.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

THERE IS A KIND OF LIFE WHICH, BY ITS ENERGY, CONQUESTS SIN AND THE LOVE OF SIN.

"The Victory of Life" was the subject of Dr. Washington Gladden in the First Congregational Church yesterday. In the course of this sermon he said:

"For us the fact which today the world is celebrating is chiefly significant because it shows us that there is a kind of life which by its own vital energy conquers sin, and the love of sin, and by that token, vanquishes death and the fear of death.

"That was the life that was victorious when Jesus rose from the dead, and of that life we may be partakers. If you will use the resources within your reach, you, too, may be able to say with the same confidence Paul did: 'The law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.'

"This is not the achievement of an hour. All great growths take time. Silently, gradually, sweetly, the transforming life will steal into your soul and take possession. Every victory it wins in you will make the next victory easier to win; one by one the old selfishnesses and meannesses will slink away, the Christly tempers and habitudes will come in and make themselves at home, the spirit of the life of Jesus will be more and more the ruling influence in your thoughts and wishes; it will become the law of your life, and you will be free from the law of sin and from the power of death."

MRS. PATTERSON.

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

WHAT IS IMPOSSIBLE WITHIN THE SPAN OF ONE EARTHLY LIFE BECOMES POSSIBLE TO A SOUL RETURNING.

Mrs. Estelle Patterson spoke before the Los Angeles Lodge of the Theosophical Society last evening. Her subject was "The Christ Triumphant." She said, in part:

"Few people realize what Christ meant when He said, 'Be ye perfect.' They know perfection is impossible to attain in the few years between birth and death, and so conclude He did not mean perfection on earth, yet His teachings were for the here and now.

"The solution of the problem lies in the doctrine taught by the early church fathers, but condemned in 553 A. D.—the doctrine of reincarnation. What is impossible within the span of one earthly life becomes possible to a soul returning again and again to earth to gain experience and unfold its divine potentialities.

"The crucifixion and resurrection are not only events in the life of the Christ; they are also symbolical of the triumph of spirit over matter and the promise to us of a day when we, too, shall have grown 'to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ.'"

JUDGE WOULD SEE THINGS FOR SELF.

OIL LITIGATION CALLS BLEDSOE TO SAN JOAQUIN.

Government Now Disposed to Pay Tax to State on Property in Receiver's Hands, but Wants it Understood that it is not Collected as a Matter of Right.

United States District Judge Bledsoe will spend this week in the oil country of Tulare, Kern and surrounding counties, with a view to ascertaining conditions in these localities, and informing himself with respect to the suits brought by the government against the Southern Pacific, alleging fraud in securing patent from the government.

The court has heard so much about "seepage," the "anti-cline," and other terms only recognized by the oil interests and operators, that he proposes to get some information at first hand on the subject. He will be accompanied by persons representing the government and the railroad, who will not doubt be willing to demonstrate the situation from their various points of view.

The week's session of Judge Bledsoe's court devoted to the testimony in behalf of the Southern Pacific, closed last week. There will be a resumption of evidence in this city on Monday, the 23rd inst.

An effort was made last week by both sides to secure an adjournment to San Francisco for further hearing, but Judge Bledsoe would not agree to such an arrangement.

In the matter of the petition of the National Pacific Oil Company for an order to pay certain State taxes, as claimed by the Department of Mines, further time has been given by E. J. Justice, special assistant to the Attorney-General, to present his brief.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of the government to allow the payment of these taxes, covering properties in the hands of a receiver named by the court, if the State will use the soft pedal on its claim that the taxes are levied and collected as a matter of right. That contention will not be conceded. Archibald Johnson represents the National Pacific Oil Company in the pending litigation.

The Crisis.

CIVILIZATION IS IN THE BALANCE.

DEMOCRACY IS AGAINST A MILITARY BANDIT.

Oppression and Slavery of Absolutism Must be Overthrown or America will be Disgraced, Says Pastor Locke in a Ringing, Patriotic Sermon to the Methodists.

Dr. Charles Edward Locke preached in the First Methodist Episcopal Church last night on "The Crisis of War." In this stirring, patriotic sermon he said, in part:

"'Civilization is in the balance.' America is in the balance. Democracy is in the balance. If democracy cannot defend itself against this military bandit it will be defeated, and America will be overthrown and disgraced, and the Almighty will have to wait until a braver people than we shall arise and throw off the oppression and slaveries of absolutism.

"The question which Prussian militarism has put up to us is whether we have courage enough to defend the ideas of liberty of which we have so generously boasted; whether our so-called rights are only sentimental possessions or whether they are worth fighting for. It is now evident that we cannot have peace and a continuation of our personal liberty unless we fight for them.

"We have claimed as a nation to be the champion of liberty, and we cannot, we will not cringe before a threatening power which is determined to trample the liberty of our own and other nations under foot. There is no other alternative for a vertebrate people, but to stand up girded with truth, and leaning against backbones of steel, meet the assaults and repulse, and rout, and utterly vanquish, an enemy which almost single-handed vainly imagines that it can hold up the whole world."

YOUNG ORPHAN GIRL

How She Was Cured. Had Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Awful Pains, Could Not Work.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I am an orphan girl, and when only seventeen years old had to support myself, but I would have such sick spells every month that I would have to stay at home from work, and I could not afford to do it. I also had headaches, dizzy spells and a pain in my side. My sister told me how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, so I began taking it. The result is I am now in good health and never lose a day from my work, and you may publish my letter to show other girls the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do."—MISS MARIE SCHMELTZ, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

TO AUGMENT GUARD.

Drill for Department Store Employees is Advocated.

Nick B. Harris, head of a detective agency, has set in motion a plan to drill all male employees of the Los Angeles department stores who are not otherwise engaged in military activity. According to Mr. Harris, he could thereby raise a home guard of at least 5000 men, equip them with modern arms and uniform them in a distinctive dress.

According to the plan, the home guards would be drilled under the supervision of the local police force, on the roofs of the various big stores before opening hours in the morning.

G. A. Horn, head of another detective agency, has offered his services to the government and has in addition opened a branch of the American Red Cross Society in his offices.

Supplemental.

TO MAKE UP DEFICIT.

California Southern Railroad Company Would Issue Bonds to Cover Construction Shortage of a Large Amount of Money.

An application for authority to issue $10,000 of first mortgage bonds, $90,000 of second mortgage bonds, and $68,000 of capital stock, all at 80 per cent. of face value, was filed last week with the State Railroad Commission by the California Southern Railroad Company.

On November, 1911, the commission authorized the issue of certain stocks and bonds of the railroad company, the proceeds to be used for the building of a railroad from Blythe Junction to Blythe, Riverside county. The former issue of bonds was not sufficient, and the railroad company wants the new issue of bonds authorized by the commission to cover the deficiency of $134,400. The total investment in road and equipment, it is stated, exclusive of promotion stock, is $584,-217.

FOR MISSION TOWN.

San Diego Company Would Serve Electricity at Capistrano.

An application for authority to serve electricity in San Juan Capistrano and surrounding territory, and to construct a transmission line from Oceanside to that town, was filed with the State Railroad Commission, Saturday, by the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company. The company operates under a franchise granted by Orange county, and proposes to serve San Juan Capistrano at the same rates as San Diego county.

Wife-killer.

SILK-STOCKING SLAYER ARRESTED; CONFESSES.

JOHN KELLY, whose peculiar method of killing his wife, Blanche Thompson Kelly, last Friday morning, at No. 521 West First street, has caused him to be called the "silk stocking slayer," is in the City Jail. He was arrested early yesterday morning by Detectives James, Newstetter and Davidson. Kelly has confessed his crime, according to Detectives Wood and Murphy.

The man admits he had some trouble with his wife, and says that last Wednesday night he went to the theater where she was working, to meet her. After he had waited for her for half an hour, he says, she came out of the theater and entered an automobile with another man. Kelly states he forcibly took his wife from the machine and walked home with her.

He says Mrs. Kelly arrived home at 3 o'clock Friday morning, and he had words with her. After their altercation Kelly tried to sleep and failed. His wife started to abuse him, he stated, and then he seized her to quiet her speech. From the time he caught her by throat, he declares, he cannot remember anything very clearly, until about 7 or 8 o'clock in the morning, when he came to himself and found Mrs. Kelly lying across the bed, with the stocking about her throat.

After realizing she was dead, Kelly says, he fainted and remained unconscious until nearly 10 o'clock, when he regained his senses and telephoned Patrolman William Simpson, saying he had killed his wife. He intended, according to a note he left in the room, to kill himself, but his courage failed.

Late Saturday night he telephoned the Police Station and told Detective White he had purchased some carbolic acid at Avenue 20 and Pasadena avenue. He did not take it.

SANITARY SOLDIERS NEED OF THE HOUR.

NATIONAL GUARD CHIEF SURGEON ISSUES CALL.

Chance for Blacksmiths, Expert Mechanics and Cooks with Force Now Being Gathered for Service of Their Country—Hope to Keep Field Hospital at Maximum.

Maj. C. W. Decker, acting Chief Surgeon of the National Guard of California, issued the following statement yesterday:

There are vacancies in several of the sanitary organizations of the National Guard where men with previous experience in army work or hospital work are especially desired. All organizations of the guard will unquestionably soon be called into service.

When the Field Hospital went to the border last summer it was of maximum war strength, being the only one fully recruited that the regular army officers had ever mustered into service. The officers and men of the hospital hope to equal their past record and have the full number when they are called for service this time. The highest type of men are required for sanitary soldiers. Last summer the regular army officer in charge of the Nogales district placed the general sanitary work in charge of one of the Field Hospital sergeants, a responsibility that none but an able and trained man could have carried.

Men with medical or dental education, graduate nurses, pharmacists, of course, are very desirable in large hospital organizations. Other military duties, independent of this side, call for blacksmiths, experienced mechanics, machinists, good competent cooks. All will find scope for their abilities. A good cobbler and a good barber will find opportunity for considerable money in addition to the regular pay.

The ambulance company being organized by Dr. J. Park Dougal also offers opportunity for men along the same lines. Not only does every man have opportunity to do soldiering in the field, but the requirements of the sanitary organizations give him a thorough practical education in army medical and emergency surgery.

Until these two organizations are completed applications will be received at headquarters, Fourth and Broadway, by applying to the sergeant in charge at Field Hospital or ambulance desks.

RUSSIA'S REFORM.

Count Ilya Tolstoy declares that seven great reforms will come from the Russian revolution. The first reform of the seven is already in evidence. The people of Russia are being "given a chance." The people themselves will attend to the other six.

MAY NOT KNOW ALL.

The Mexican Ambassador at Washington denies reports of Mexican deals with Germans. It is natural that he should make such denial. However, it is just possible that agents of the German government are making deals with Mexicans of which the Ambassador may be totally unaware.

'RAH, 'RAH!

The lyceum bureau that has heretofore enabled William Jennings Bryan to accumulate a fortune through his efforts on the speaking platform announces that it will be necessary for him to taboo his pacifist talks or he will be let severely alone so far as his public employment is concerned. In times like these no pussy-footing before the public will be allowed under any circumstances.

NOT MONEY ALONE.

A "humorous" weekly paper of Berlin has printed a cartoon showing President Wilson waving an American flag with the stars in the shape of gold dollars and the stripes made up of bank checks. Underneath is the legend: "Money alone does not bring victory, dear Wilson." Germany may yet find that "money alone" does not compose the fighting strength of the United States of America.

OPINIONS DIFFER.

It is the consensus of opinion of military experts that Los Angeles is in no immediate danger of a German-Mexican attack by land or sea. It should be remembered, however, that Germany never pays a great deal of attention to the opinions of others. Germany has her own opinions and those opinions are crystallized to the extent that they may be considered convictions—and, according to Mr. Nietzsche, convictions are always dangerous, both to those who hold them and to those with whom they come in contact.

A MATTER OF BILLIONS.

The propositions now before Congress and already on the national statute books to raise money for the conduct of the war against Germany will produce more than $5,000,000,000. Secretary McAdoo says this will pay the war bills of the United States for two years, also that it will all be raised without any additional taxing bills. No large bond issue is contemplated. It is the idea of President Wilson that the present generation should assume the financial burden necessary. This is certainly a great country.

AN END OF DYNASTIES.

The fact that the Czar has been driven to exile by democratic Russia, and that there is a strong feeling in Germany that the day of the Hohenzollerns is far spent, bids fair to make good the prediction that the levers of the Almighty are under the thrones of Europe. What a glorious result if the monarchies should give way to republics and that the people should rule! As for King George, he is not ruler enough to hurt, but he might be put on the skids. The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.

SHE WEPT.

If Congresswoman Jeannette Rankin of Montana could have voted against war with Germany without weeping or could have remained seated in her weep without voting against war with Germany, she would not have placed in the mouths of ribald opponents of woman suffrage an argument against the national enfranchisement of her sex. The Congressmen who voted with and encouraged Miss Rankin to oppose measures for the prosecution of the war which Germany has forced upon us, will have occasion to weep at the next election, and our local Arnolds—Messrs. Randall and Benedict—will squeal like pigs under a gate.

TAKING CARE OF THEIR MORALS

William Jennings Bryan has announced that he will make it his business to take care of the morals of the young men who are serving their country in the war, and that he will attach himself to the Y.M.C.A. for that purpose.

Fortunately the young men who go forth to serve their country are not hypersensitive about the remarks of an avowed pacifist, otherwise they might be justified in considering that the gentleman had offered them a gratuitous insult. There is precious little to be said against the young men who voluntarily hasten to their country's defense in time of need and it seems obvious that they have their own morals well in hand.

But it is going to be a hard day for William when the young men of the country undertake to supervise the morals of Mr. Bryan. They have just as much reason to doubt his ability to take care of his own as he of theirs.

The self-appointed morals efficiency experts are only amusing up to a certain point. After that they are a public nuisance. The American public is the most patient and good-natured in the world; but when this sort of impertinence is offered to what we may reasonably regard as the very pick of us, our willing defenders and protectors, we don't feel quite so docile about it.

AMERICA'S ENORMOUS TASK.

The opinions of Henry E. Huntington always carry weight in this community. He has done so much for Southern California and is so keen and able a financier that when he speaks the people listen.

Particularly interesting, therefore, at this hour in the nation's history is the opinion which Mr. Huntington expressed to a Times reporter at his San Marino home that the European war will be ended in six months.

Heed should be given to this pronouncement because the big financiers not infrequently have information which is hidden from the mass of the people and which enables them to speak in an authoritative way. Nevertheless, not all of us can be as hopeful as Mr. Huntington and many hold to the view that unless there is a revolution in Germany the war will last at least a year longer, and, perhaps, well into 1919.

Undoubtedly the revolutionary movement in Germany is gaining strength, and the food situation is, as Mr. Huntington says, more critical than is generally known and far more so than the German military authorities are willing to concede. But it is not unlikely that the Germans, so differently constituted from the Russians, will wait till the war is finally lost—or won, as they think will be the case—before they give full effect to the revolutionary movement.

This is a view which Americans should not overlook, as it will prevent them from imagining that this war is going to be something easy for this country. Heartening as the entrance of the United States into the world war is to the Allies, who are fighting to rid the earth of Prussian militarism, it is desirable that Americans should recognize that unless Germany suddenly collapses this country has entered upon an enormous task. It's a long way to Berlin.

Years ago, when the Kaiser was only thinking of war, and not taking any great pains to disguise his thoughts, he said that Germany never would give up the land won in the war of 1870. Sooner than surrender a foot of land the army and the entire nation of 40,000,000 would die on the battlefield, the war lord said. The population has grown to 70,000,000 since then and the 70,000,000 are as determined as the 40,000,000 not to yield up any of their gains. These can only be taken from them forcibly.

At this hour the Germans think they are winning all along the line. They actually believe that the retreat in Northern France is a victory and is a part of some wonderful scheme hatched by Von Hindenburg which will bring the war to a victorious conclusion within a few months. It is almost pitiable to see the great faith which the German nation has in what they call Hindenburg's secret 1917 plan. They appear to believe he is preparing something so terrible that the Allies will be swept away. And that is impossible.

When they realize that Hindenburg cannot defeat the Allies, especially now that America has decreed that Prussian militarism must be effaced, the German people may arise and depose the Hohenzollerns. In such a revolution lies the hope of an early end to the war.

CALIFORNIA'S AGRICULTURAL PREPAREDNESS.

In the event of serious war conditions in the United States within the next few months the California farmer will play an important part in aiding our great American republic. The European conflict has clearly shown that the vulnerable point of a strong nation is the measure of its ability to feed its people. The present stage of the war finds warring countries still strong in military resources, but perilously near starvation. The biggest problem is not to get more men and arms, but more food, and the forces of the Central Powers and of the Allies are now being used each to prevent the other from obtaining food supplies.

Here in California everything points to the largest crops ever known. The area of cultivated lands has been increased by water development and intensive farming methods are being employed to make each acre produce more than it did in former years. California farmers are being stimulated in several ways to plant heavily and to raise all they possibly can. They know that everything points to an abnormally good market and high prices. They are being urged by packers and canners to increase their production and they are being offered liberal prices in advance for their products.

The one item of bean production alone is of tremendous importance, for dried beans can be readily transported and have high nutritive value. Southern California farmers will this year produce an enormous quantity of beans. Our production in past years has been far greater than in any other portion of the world, but the coming harvest, barring unforeseen mishaps, will break all previous records. Ventura county, the world's greatest bean section, will have more acres of beans this year than last. In other counties thousands of acres of rich lands that never were planted to beans before have this year been turned over to that crop. Last year San Fernando Valley farmers grew beans successfully and profitably. This year the acreage and production will be three to four times as much. Orange county will probably double its production and throughout Southern California men are planting beans and more beans. When the United States has built up a great army and calls for beans California will be in a position to meet the demand.

To care for the increased harvest warehouses are being built at Owensmouth and other places. A dozen or more new canneries and packing-houses are being constructed and others are being enlarged. The president of a Pomona canning company, who recently returned from a trip across the country, brings back the advice: "Fill every can obtainable." The output of canned tomatoes, fruit and vegetables this year will be considerably greater than last year. The canners are keenly alive to the situation, and, besides enlarging their plants, are offering high prices to growers to make sure of extensive planting.

California's agricultural preparedness is also manifested in other ways than increased planting. Good roads are being built in every community. The facilities for both farming and marketing are being improved every year. The Southern California rancher of today moves his harvested crop rapidly with motor trucks that move smoothly over paved highways.

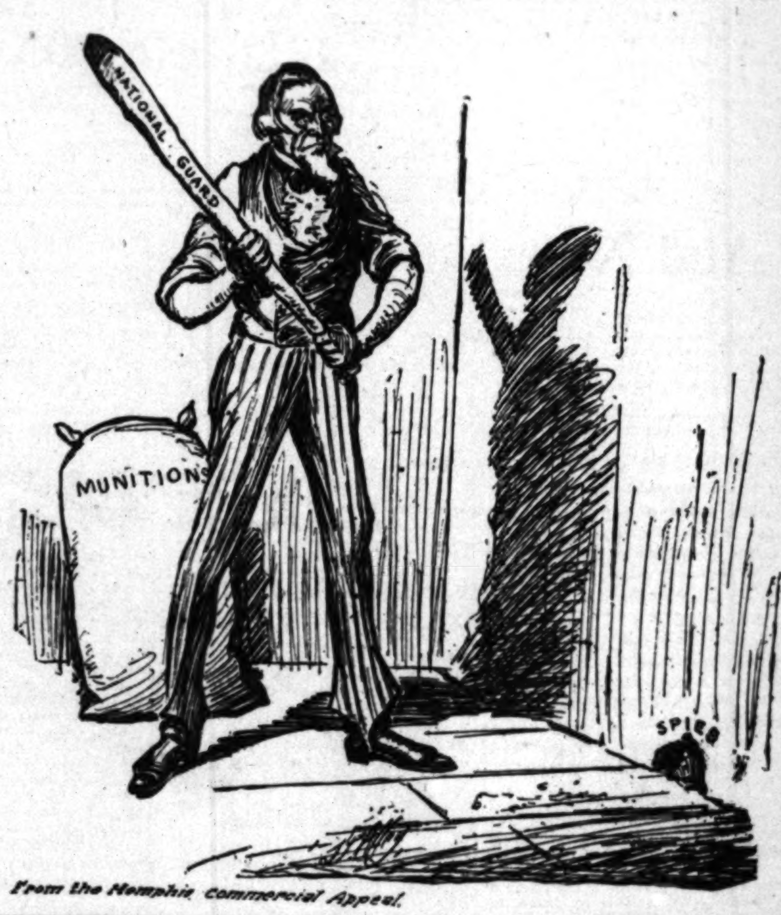
New orchards are coming into bearing every year and an annual increase in the production of both citrus and deciduous fruits can be expected under normal conditions.

Imperial Valley is preparing for a $10,000,000 cotton crop and other crops to the value of $15,000,000 or more. Some of the vegetables are already coming into the Los Angeles market. The cotton appears to be as good as sold before it is planted, for buyers are making offers for next season's short staple fiber.

Even with such marked and universal activity the limit of Southern California's agricultural resources is by no means reached this year. Projects now under way in the San Joaquin Valley, in Orange county, in Victor Valley and other places will develop enough water to put several hundred thousand more acres of rich land under cultivation. The spreading of the waters of the aqueduct over the fertile San Fernando Valley will tremendously increase its productivity.

With its superb tilled fields and orchards, its agricultural resources not yet realized upon, but in process of development, its matchless climate and its capable farmers and fruit growers, Southern California can surely hold out a helping hand to a hungry world.

At the Rat Hole!



From the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

SECURE INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

Casting about for additional subterfuge with which to oppose the Goetting mediation bill, the union-labor lobby at Sacramento is now urging that in the present national crisis there should be no legislating either for or against union labor. Their contention is about as logical as the usual arguments advanced from such a source. The Goetting mediation bill is not an anti-union-labor measure. It favors neither the employer nor the employee, but it does assert that the right of the public is paramount to that of either a public-service corporation or its employees.

California has gone to extreme lengths in the regulation of public-service corporations; but the restrictions are all aimed at the management. They confer rights upon, but do not prescribe the duties for, employees. The Goetting mediation bill provides that before there can be either a strike or a lockout in a labor dispute there must be a hearing before a State board. The act does not prohibit a strike after a full hearing has been held; it does not compel both parties to the controversy to abide by the decision of the board of arbitration; but it does require that mediation shall precede either the strike or the lockout.

If the interests of the public were to be fully safeguarded the act should go much further; but it is a move in the right direction. All laws are arbitrary regulations for society for the protection of its members. The heaviest losers in the case of a railroad strike would be the producers of the State and the traveling public. When a corporation receives a franchise from the State regulations are placed about the use of that franchise. Every person who enters the employ of that corporation should be required to sign an agreement to abide by those regulations, and one of the regulations should be that there could be neither strikes nor lockouts ordered on snap judgment. The chief benefit derived from the mediation would probably be that the public would have time to adjust itself to conditions that discontinuance of service would entail. Farmers would have opportunity to make other arrangements for the movement of their crops and shippers to seek other methods of transportation.

This applies equally to light and power companies. There are 200,000 families in California that rely for heat on artificial gas supplied by public service corporations. A sudden strike of the employees of one of these great corporations would leave these families without fuel. The greatest sufferers would not be the management of the corporation, but the families that would be deprived of light and heat.

As for the argument that in war time the mediation bill should not be pressed—that is sheer absurdity. The records of the present European struggle, in which we are now taking a part, show that strikes of the employees of public service corporations have been more numerous in war time than in times of peace. The grasping labor-union despots have not hesitated to take advantage of unsettled conditions to demand unreasonable increases in wages. We can expect nothing better of our labor despots here.

One of the things to be accomplished in our campaign for preparedness and State defense is to secure the enactment of legislation that will prevent the locking of the wheels of industry by reason of labor disputes. That can be attained in part by the passage of the Goetting mediation bill now under consideration by the State Legislature.

THE GAINS OF WAR.

War never brings unmitigated evil. When a nation has grown morally weak in the lap of peace it revivifies its torpid dust and rekindles its martial fire at the shrine of war. Even degenerate sons, goaded by shame at witnessing the degradation of their country, arouse themselves at last and draw the swords of their fathers. Worse than war is that depth of moral degradation which a nation reaches when it considers that it has nothing worth fighting for.

The conflicts that shatter empires and deluge mighty states with blood, viewed as isolated phenomena, appear to be pure scourges—the incarnate wrath of God smiting sinful man. But could we trace events to their germinal cause and ultimate results might we not discover that wars are normal forces moving along the track of progress? May they not have their appropriate place and office in the evolution of humanity from the primitive to the perfected state? May they not be looked upon as curative rather than destructive agencies—nature's heroic method of expelling disorder from the social system? May they not perform the same office for the state that the surgeon's knife performs for the individual stricken with a consuming ulcer? The knife is then not an instrument of death, but an instrument of science; it is guided, not by a cruel, but a merciful, hand. Its office is not to kill, but to cure—not to destroy, but to save. The blood flows, the frame is racked by torture, but the patient is saved.

It seems strange that in the economy of providence war should have been permitted—stranger yet that it should have been made the means of human progress. But He who ordained that physical manhood should be attained by hard contact with external things—that strength of character must come by struggling with difficulties, and that moral excellence must be the result of triumph over vice, also ordained that nations must be baptized in the fires of war before they can wear the crown of national glory. Wars have their hopes and their gains, their debts and their credits. The losses fall heaviest upon the immediate generations, the greatest gains belong to generations to come—often their ever-increasing heritage. Our fathers endured the sufferings and the sorrows of four years of civil war and we have a land where no slave's presence dishonors labor and where no freeman's utterances are choked by the hand of power. We have a material advancement unhead of before; we have inventions in mechanics, discoveries in science, great names in literature and an impulse given to civil liberty throughout the world.

"DOING OUR BIT."

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Gov. Stephens has mapped out a very gentle, ladylike programme for us women in war time, well within our recognized capacity—to cheer, to nurse, to pray, to inspire, to sew.

Yes, we shall do all that—most of us. But we can do harder things than that. If circumstances demand we have brawn and muscle, too—even as our European sisters.

Do you know what women are doing in England? Do you know why even the adamant Asquith has conceded their right to suffrage?

I personally know one English girl of 24, whom training and tradition had cut out for the sheltered life, who is working today in a munitions factory with thousands of others. She stands in a great, seething factory, before a colossal vat of boiling metal, which it is her job to dip out with a longhandled spoon and pour into cartridge cases at the rate of seventy per minute. The heat is well-nigh intolerable, the dips must be mathematically precise, and another girl trims the cartridges and passes them on to the next for further attention, and so on down a long line. They can only stand it for twenty minutes at a time, then they go out into the yard to recover. They work nine hours a day. They are paid for it—a ridiculous sum, but she and many, many others are doing it for sheer love, sheer patriotism.

One of the most amazing things that women are doing over there in England is the great salvage work. They have organized a wonderful system by which all the debris of the battlefield is collected and returned to headquarters—old rifles, old boots, old helmets, clothes, knapsacks, old bombs, old saddles and harness—all the vast waste of the battlefield. And an army of women sort it, retrieve it, repair it, make it over—and in this way thousands of dollars' worth of war material is recovered for use again every day.

And both in England and France the women have taken over the agricultural problem. The women of France are saving the vineyards, raising the crops, rearing the cattle, as well as praying. The women of England are building and repairing the roads, even working in the coal mines, plowing the soil, shepherding the flocks, raising vegetables, running dairies, tending the orchards, distributing the fruit, acting as drivers and conductors on street cars, delivering the mail, acting as porters and ticket collectors on trains, sweeping the streets, and even policing the smaller towns.

And they are doing all this as well as nursing the babies, sewing, clerking, running the small businesses, nursing the wounded, keeping the schools open wherever possible, and making bandages for the Red Cross. And they are doing it well.

And in all the erstwhile men's jobs they are wearing a workmanlike khaki costume, guiltless of skirts. In the shipyards skirts are strictly taboo as being too fluffily feminine for the stern business of war work.

Women are working like Trojans behind the trenches in France. Not just smoothing handsome officers' pillows, but scrubbing, cleaning, cooking, repairing, even building temporary shelters. They have proven themselves expert carpenters, plumbers, machinists, bricklayers.

And what is more, they don't feel particularly martyred, either. Hard work agrees with them. They feel that they are merely doing their bit and have long since settled down to the state of affairs as almost normal. There are so many of them that the newspapers have long since ceased to feature their activities. To publish a picture of a woman making roads in England now would be about as interesting as showing a Los Angeles clerk walking to his office.

When Dr. Hodgkin spoke before the Ebell Club last week on "Liberty" he illuminated a thought that had been in all our hearts. Liberty, he said, was that harmony with conditions that gave one the capacity to obey the greatest number of the laws of life. In short, liberty was our ability to do the most things for the benefit of all, not the liberty to ride our pet crank, to attain our pet selfishness irrespective of the welfare of others.

One recalls that illuminating work by Olive Schreiner, "Woman and Labor." In that she shows so clearly how impossible it is for women to be free until they have won back the right to all forms of labor.

So that, with all its horrors, this war has given women more real liberty than they could have attained in a century of calm, prosperous, parasite-spawning peace.

CANADIAN COMPULSORY INVESTIGATION ACT.

BY RALPH M. EASLEY,

Chairman Executive Council, the National Civic Federation, New York.

[Review of Reviews:] When testifying recently before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, which was considering the advisability of the adoption by this country of a replica of the Canadian Compulsory Investigation Act as a means of preventing such an occurrence as the threatened railway workers' strike of last summer, I was asked whether, after fifteen years of dealing with strikes and lockouts, I was prepared to submit a concrete plan, the adoption of which would preclude a recurrence of the danger of a tieup of the railroads of the country through a walkout of employees.

I replied that fifteen years ago I could have given several such programmes. One of them would have provided for compulsory arbitration, and another would have been the Canadian act, had that remedy been known at that time; but in fifteen years' experience I had found that many of the things of which I had formerly been so cocksure would not work when tried.

I am opposed to the adoption by Congress of any law patterned upon the Canadian Compulsory Investigation Act, because it will not fulfill the expectations of its advocates. Had the Canadian principle been in force here last summer I am satisfied that the 400,000 members of the railway brotherhoods would have been on strike in August instead of in conference at the White House. Although the legislation that resulted was only an emergency legislation that neither side wanted, its advocates can say at least that the strike did not take place, and that there is less likelihood of its occurring now than at many times before.

When I say that the Canadian act will not work in this country I am basing the statement on the fact that it does not work in its own country. Since compulsory investigation has failed to stop strikes in a country with a practically homogeneous population no larger than that of Greater New York and vicinity it surely could not have the desired effect in a country of 100,000,000 people of forty different nationalities.

The trouble is that we have been accepting at face value the statement made by the promoters and administrators of the act, which is never a safe thing to do. While ehey point out that of 191 cases all but twenty were settled, they do not point out that 32,000 men, or 22 per cent., struck nevertheless. They do not point out that in the 191 disputes there were dozens of little strikes involving from four to 100 employees—sixty-three of the cases, to be exact—which could have been settled by any voluntary mediation board; but under the law the cumbersome and costly machinery of the national government had to be invoked for the four, the six and the ten-employee class as well as for cases of real consequence. There were 109 cases for 250 employees and less; and the largest number in any one case involved was 8000—and they struck.

Twice as many labor disputes, involving five times as many employees, are settled by voluntary boards in New York City every year as all the disputes that the Canadian Compulsory Investigation Act has disposed of during its entire lifetime.

Here are a few "settlements" by the Canadian board, which are typical of the twenty reported failures:

Six thousand members of the United Mine Workers' Union struck against the Western Coal Operators' Association in defiance of the law. Afterward they were persuaded to apply for a board, and an award was handed down that they did not like, so they struck again and tied up the mines for seven months.

In the Grand Trunk Railway dispute, with its 3000 conductors and trainmen, both sides were so displeased with the award that they began negotiations independently of the board. After a month of fruitless endeavor the men strck.

In the city of Toronto, in dispute between the electric workers and the city-owned electrical works, the award favored the men, but the city refused to comply and the men struck.

In a dispute between the Western Coal Operators' Association and 2100 miners, after the award was handed down neither side accepted, but began negotiations and worked out an agreement themselves, all of which looks very well in a report, were it not that the men had been on strike all the time, even before applying for a board, which was a violation of the law.

In a dispute between the British Columbia Telephone Company and its 321 electrical workers, the men struck without asking anybody's consent, so far as the record shows.

No attempt is ever made to enforce the penalty provided by the act when the men strike without waiting for an investigation. The author of the Canadian law himself is official authority for the statement that the compulsory feature has made more lawbreakers than all the jails in the Dominion of Canada could hold. To jail 10,000 or 15,000 men is neither a physical nor a political possibility in Canada, any more than it is a physical or a political possibility for the United States to jail 400,000 of the members of the railway brotherhoods in case we had the Canadian act and they struck in spite of it.

Schools of Patriotism.

[Chicago Herald:] The manifestations of patriotism, of willingness to do anything to serve the country in case of need, which have come from the various universities and colleges throughout the land during the last few months have been notable. Whatever one may think of American education in other respects, there can be no question that our great institutions of learning have been and still are schools of purest patriotism.

WHITTIER, April 8.—A number of Mexicans who have been working on the Santa Fe near Los Nietos struck today and some of the Pacific Electric workmen in this section also have quit. When asked why, they shrugged their shoulders. The strikers were also joined by some of the Mexicans working for the contractors who are laying pipe for the Southern Counties Gas Company near Montebello.

Word was received today from El Monte that there are a large number of unemployed Mexicans there and the entire district is being patrolled by special patrolmen who report to Constable Burdick.

No outbreaks have occurred in this neighborhood, but it is stated agitators are working among the Mexicans, trying to induce more to quit work and go across the border to take up arms.

HURT WHEN MACHINE HITS BIG OIL TRUCK.

SANTA BARBARA, April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Fulton of Van Nuys are under treatment at the Cottage Hospital for injuries received when their automobile collided with a Union Oil truck. Surgeons state their injuries are not serious. At the time of the accident their son, John M. Fulton, was driving. He and Mrs. A. M. Harrison, also of Van Nuys, who was in the machine, were not hurt.

Another Los Angeles man, L. N. Scott, also figured in an auto mishap, his machine striking Mr. and Mrs. S. Hirose, a Japanese couple, as Scott was driving into Santa Barbara along Milpas boulevard. Both Japanese were painfully hurt. They are at a local hospital.

Bathing-suit Girls Noticeably Few, Their Places Being Taken by Wearers of Striking Sport Suits—Costumes of Many Lands Worn by Pretty Women.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, April 8.—Latest fashions were displayed at the Venice parade yesterday afternoon. Bathing-suit girls were notably few, but those who did appear wore costumes applicable to the national situation. Bessie Love, in a military bathing suit, attracted much attention.

The show brought a large crowd, which the police estimated at 45,000. The dance pavilion, where the revue was held, was packed and hundreds were unable to gain admittance.

Thelma Salter, 8-year-old motion-picture actress, opened the show with a display of "The Spirit of Easter," a striking costume. Miss Jessie Burnett, also a film star, scored in a "California" costume, and in Hamburger's of Los Angeles "Polo Costume De Luxe." Harris & Frank of Los Angeles had an extensive display of various costumes, including those shown by Perle Perry, in a pussy willow sport skirt, Miss McClanahan in a tailored pinch-back suit, Hazel Powell in a sport skirt, Miss Neal in a green jersey sport skirt, Genevieve Flagg in a sage green gaberdine street coat, and Fay Powell in a peacock blue Yo San sport suit.

Miss D. Creig, representing Hale's Dry Goods Company, Los Angeles, appeared in a striking automobile suit and a hiking suit, both of attractive combinations. Little Dorothy Dilley exhibited the costume adaptable for the "Venice Style Girl." Miss Perle Perry as the "Butterfly Girl" for Hale's, a special creation, made a hit. F. B. Silverwood of Los Angeles gave an exhibit of men's styles and this display was immediately followed by a showing of costumes of various countries, a notable absence being that of Germany. Dorothy Dalton appeared as "the leading lady of fashion."

Following the fashion display the finale, "The Spirit of 1917," was enacted. Myron J. Carr, City Trustee of Venice, appeared as Uncle Sam; Miss Jessie Burnett as the Goddess of Liberty, Joe Dowling as Woodrow Wilson, and there were various other costumes, including Red Cross nurses and militiamen.

Two band programmes were given by the La Monaca Band in the afternoon and evening.

MOVING WITH CARE AT BOSS.

Would Avoid Any Waste of High Grade at Mill.

Yellow Pine Shipments are Holding to Normal.

Many Properties Sending Out Carload Lots.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GOODSPRINGS (Nev.) April 7.—Careful tests of the new Boss mill are still being made by Manager O. J. Fisk, in order to get the system working smoothly. Trials of the roasting furnaces showed a change in the style of grate would be of benefit, and new grates have been ordered made in accordance with designs worked out for the purpose.

Tests of the leaching plant are under way and the chemical reactions are proving entirely satisfactory. Caution appears a very commendable virtue when it is considered that locked up in a securely bulkheaded drift of the mine are many tons of high-grade gold-platinum ore already sacked, believed to be worth anywhere between $10,000 and $20,000 per ton. It will be entirely possible to put through the mill in one day ore which will return a value far in excess of the cost of the mill.

Where such concentrated riches are involved it is necessary that every precaution shall be taken to prevent the loss of values.

The Yellow Pine Company is keeping up its normal and steady production irrespective of the condition of weather, winds or roads. During the month of March the company made the following shipments:

	Tons.
Thirty-one cars of zinc concentrates	1,200
Eleven cars of zinc slimes	270
One car of crude zinc ore	45
Seven cars of lead concentrates	225
Total (fifty cars)	1,740

The gross value of the April shipments is estimated at $50,000 to $60,000, the exact figures not being available until settlement is made for cars still in transit.

DEVELOPMENT.

The development work under way on the Poppy Knickerbocker is progressing very favorably. A tunnel is being run to tap the ore body which outcrops on top of the hill, and good values in lead and silver have already been encountered. The property is located in a most encouraging position adjoining the Oro Amigo. Otto F. Schwartz, president of the company, has charge of the operations.

The survey of the underground workings of the Platino was completed this week. An important development on the property is the finding of ore below what has been considered the footwall. How extensive the deposits below this may be is problematical, but the find is a very satisfactory feature of the property. The ore bins are being built and in a few days the drift being sent to the surface will be completed, allowing the ore to be easily and cheaply handled.

The Ironsides, under the management of William Jolly, has its campaign of active development under full way. The first move by Mr. Jolly is the straightening of the shaft and making a connection with the winze on the lower level, preparatory to installing the new hoist.

VARIOUS SHIPMENTS.

One to two cars a week are being sent out by the Bullion property. This consists of concentrates, crude ore and dry slimes. Two or three cars a month are being shipped from the New Year property. This is a high-grade zinc and lead. High-grade copper at the rate of two to four cars a month is coming from the Azurite ground. The Milford & Addison is shipping a car or more of ore a month. The Copper Metal is sinking on ore and will be ready to ship in about thirty days. The Potosi mine is averaging from twenty-five to thirty tons of high-grade zinc ore a day. Four cars a month of high-grade zinc ore is now coming from the Monte Cristo.

Some of the highest grade ore in the camp is coming from the Root Zinc Company. This concern is sending out about 300 tons a month of 42 to 46 per cent. zinc. The Lincoln is getting some high-grade copper and also some gold. The Anchor is a steady producer of about 250 tons of ore a month. A car a week of high-grade lead is coming from the Christmas. The Oro Amigo Extension has opened up four feet of ore, four inches of which is 40 per cent. copper.

Nervousness.

[Washington Star:] "What's the trouble with you?"

"Kind of a nervous dyspepsia, I suppose. Every time I think of what my dinner is going to cost I get nervous."

PREPARE FOR MORE TONNAGE.

Inspiration Keeping up Average Pending Mill Enlargement.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) April 7.—Inspiration is continuing its output of around 18,000 tons of ore a day, without the slightest friction in its well-oiled system. The prospect is that 20,000 tons will be the average as soon as the two mill units are added to the eighteen now in use. Work is going ahead steadily on the important sixth level haulage drift, connecting the Inspiration and Live Oak divisions of the company's property. This level, which is well below the Inspiration ore zone, cuts the Live Oak body in such manner that an additional level will have to be driven below.

The new drift passes through the Keystone property, from which in the future will be taken a large amount of oxidized ore, whenever experiments now in progress have demonstrated that such ores can be treated profitably in an annex planned to the big mill.

The company is devoting some attention to beautifying its property and many trees have been planted in effective locations, while grass has been seeded around the mill and offices. Prizes aggregating $500 have been offered to reward effort in the beautification of the home yards of the employees.

Old Dominion is maintaining its regular production record. Rather an extra flow of water has had to be pumped. It has run up to 5,000,000 gallons a day. This is probably due to the melting snows and seepage from Pinal Creek.

The company's new flotation unit now is practically complete.

Oatman.

GOLD ROAD AREA IS COMING BACK.

FAMOUS DIVISION OF CAMP IS REGAINING PRESTIGE.

U. S. Smelting and Refining is Trying Out Flotation on Ores from its Property—Secret Pass Mine is Soon to Have Mill in Operation.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OATMAN (Ariz.) April 7.—The Gold Road section of this district is being vigorously developed, and this camp, which is the pioneer of the renaissance period, dating back fifteen years, bids fair to regain its lost laurels.

At the Gold Road mine a force of fifty men is employed, the north branch of the main lode, long neglected, having proved rich in ore. The United States Smelting and Refining Company, which owns the mine, is conducting experiments in flotation on the ores at its concentrator at Needles. Five tons of ore have been shipped there, and an experienced flotation man has operation in charge.

Underground the north vein is being developed on the 100, 500 and 800-foot levels. The first strike was made two months or more ago at a point about 1500 feet east of the No. 3 shaft, and approximately 3000 feet from the main shaft and mill. Reports from the mine indicate that this part of the mine is likely to duplicate the production from the south branch of the vein.

At the Gold Ore mine, which is on a parallel vein, sinking has been resumed with three shifts in the winze on the 530-foot level. Freshened by the water that has been standing in the winze for several months, the ore shows free gold in many places, the average of this winze to a depth of thirty-three feet across a five-foot vein was $40 a ton, and the last ore broken assayed $120. The big compressor at the Gold Road mine supplies air for the Gold Ore as well as the Gold Road workings. It is the intention of the Gold Ore to build a mill within a short time.

Drifting continues at the Gold Road Bonanza, which is on the southwest side of the Gold Road. The drift on the spur vein on the 550-foot level is out 235 feet, and will be continued to a connection with the main vein, where it is expected an ore body of generous size will be encountered.

PURCHASE MILL.

J. P. Loftus, widely known as a successful Nevada mine operator, who is president of the Secret Pass Gold Top Mining Company, attended a meeting of stockholders this week in Oatman, and announced that a thirty-ton Hardinge mill and amalgamator has been purchased and shipped to the mine, and will be installed at once. The company has opened a body of $8 ore thirty-five feet in width, to a depth of thirty-five feet. The ore is free milling and can be treated at small cost. In this way the mine will provide revenue for its development.

In the Union Pass section the Banner Gold Mining Company is down 280 feet in the main incline shaft and is putting in heavier machinery. The Banner is sinking on the footwall of the vein and has been in ore of milling grade almost from the surface. At 300 feet or thereabouts a crosscut will be driven through the vein and to a junction with another vein.

Authority.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VIDAL (Cal.) April 7.—Al Myers, one of the founders of Goldfield and prominent in the mining industry of the country, has now turned his attention to this district. He is authority for the statement that certain big interests have taken a ninety-day option on thirty-two of the richest claims in the camp, including the Calzona, Rand, Blinkey Ben and others. It is reported here that these interests include the Otis Elevator people and a group of New York bankers.

Mr. Myers has recommended that certain work be done in the main shaft of the Calzona and on some of the principal properties of the group preliminary to the running of a 2000-foot tunnel, which will tap one of the main ore ledges. This tunnel will pass through the Bendigo property at a depth of 1000 feet, and it is understood that the Bendigo management has already given its consent to this arrangement.

A contract is being let for the sinking of the main shaft of the Bendigo to a depth of 700 feet. About 200 tons of ore is now on the dumps ready for immediate shipment. According to officers of the Bendigo company, 400 tons of ore has been shipped from the mine since the beginning of operations, this ore averaging approximately 14 per cent. copper and $12.50 per ton in gold. There is no reason to doubt but that when the Bendigo mine has been developed on a comprehensive plan the property will become a great shipper.

The recent ore strike on the 600-foot level of the Steece has proved to be one of the important events of the district. On this level a drift has been run a distance of 100 feet with the end wall not yet in sight.

Now that the larger mining operators of the United States are coming into the camp, work on all the properties of the district is taking on renewed life.

Building Evidences Belief in Camp's Future.

Tennessee Mine Strike Shows Gain in Silver-lead.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CHLORIDE (Ariz.) April 7.—Unwatering of the main workings of the Bay State property of the Hughes-Arizona Copper Company is proceeding rapidly. Complete mining equipment has been installed, and as soon as the last drop of water has been removed machine drills will be put to work in the north and south crosscuts for the purpose of reaching the rich Towne veins as soon as possible. When these veins have been cut drifts will be started east and west on both veins in order to block out the ores exposed on the surface.

Shaft No. 2 on the Bay State has been started and at a depth of thirty feet a good body of commercial ore was encountered. This ore body, in the opinion of the management, bids fair to justify the installing of another plant of machinery and an extensive system of development. It was discovered in the new Towne vein, this vein being the one upon which the last shaft on the Towne mine was sunk. Values so far encountered average approximately $12 a ton, in what is called the capper rock of the ore bodies usually found in this district.

The chief tunnel on the Copper Hill claim of the Hughes-Arizona is now in over 450 feet, and the full breast of the tunnel continues in ore. John B. Hughes, president of the company, was in camp this week to inspect the strike on this property, and expressed himself as being very well pleased with what he saw. According to him, the ore found in the tunnel is of exceptional grade, containing gold, silver and copper. Peacock and other forms of copper show all through the ore, he declares, and work will be rushed to penetrate the body with all speed.

Sinking of the main shaft on the Bobby Burns group of the Arizona-Chloride Mining Company's property is getting along as satisfactorily as had been expected. The character of rock indicates that machine drills will soon have to take the place of hand labor.

BUILDING ACTIVITY.

According to Manager Doty of the Mohave Lumber Company, building activity in Chloride is increasing rapidly, and the class of homes being erected now reflects the belief of the residents that the camp is a permanent one.

The fourth carload of ore has been shipped from the Elkhart mine, and the ore bins at the shaft have been enlarged in order to increase the storage capacity. The ore is being loaded on the cars at the Tennessee switch. Returns from the rock already shipped have not been received, but the assays made on samples taken from the ore before it left the mine indicate an average of $75 per ton.

The recent strike on the 1600-foot level in the Tennessee mine is significant from two angles. First it confirms the long-held theory that the ore body goes deeper, and second, it shows a thinning out of the zinc with a consequent increase in the silver and lead values. A drift was started each way from the point where the new body was encountered, and the ore brought to the surface shows as fine a grade as has ever been taken from the mine.

A valuable pile of milling ore is accumulating now on the Gold Back property, coming from the drift on the 150-foot level. This dump will be assayed regularly, as it furnishes a better gauge of the milling value of the ore than sampling in the drift.

Under the management of Fred W. Sherman, the Keystone mine is rapidly being whipped into shape for regular and profitable production. All mining is being done through the original 300-foot shaft, where power drills are rapidly developing ore in the drifts east and west from the shaft. A drift is also being run to the east on the parallel vein previously discovered by a 120-foot crosscut which was run northerly into the hanging wall side of the main vein.

Holders of Golconda Consolidated Accept Proposition of New Concern, Which Also Buys Elsewhere in Southwest.

Stockholders of the Golconda Consolidated Mines at a special meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., Friday accepted the proposition of the Union Metals Corporation to take over the properties of Golconda Consolidated. This means that every shareholder of Golconda Consolidated Mines will receive share for share in Union Metals Corporation.

Frank F. Peard, who organized Union Metals Corporation, returned to Los Angeles yesterday from Kingman, and states that all of the properties for the Union Metals Corporation have been acquired. In addition to the Fredonia and the Golden Gem group of Golconda Consolidated Mines, the new company will own the Golconda Annex, a producing property in the Cerbat Range, within a mile of the Fredonia, and Wallapai King, also near the great Golconda mine, two tungsten groups, one adjoining the Atolia mine at Randsburg and the other consisting of 160 acres, immediately next to the United Tungsten-Copper Mines in San Bernardino county.

The copper property to be developed by the Union Metals Corporation is within four miles of Victorville.

All of the Union Metals Corporation properties have been examined and passed upon by Engineer D. G. Kidder.

The stock to be offered the public is entirely underwritten by an eastern banking house and will not be put out locally.

In the Earth.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY.

You are politely requested to submit samples carefully wrapped and tagged, with letter accompanying stating what tests are desired. Make samples of small size. There is no necessity for big chunks. Correspondents offering matter for analyses with card, or scrap of paper, intended to show that the stuff is from Jim Jones, for instance, with no marks of identification on samples, will, hereafter, receive no attention whatever.

Rock.

OATMAN (Ariz.) March 21.—Q.: I am sending by this mail two small chunks of brick-like rock which I take to be cinnabar. The sample is tagged "No. 50." Is it of commercial value? B.

A.: The samples are granitic breccia, cinnabar not being present, and are of doubtful value, unless assaying gold.

Zinc Present.

TEMECULA, March 21.—Q.: Three pieces of rock for analysis, from the same ledge. The hard piece is from outside of ledge. Kindly give me report through The Times. M.

A.: Samples are silicious ones; hematite present, lead a trace.

Acicular Gypsum.

EL CENTRO, March 21.—Q.: Kindly inform me if the inclosed sample is of any value. It was found in the mountains between El Centro and San Diego. F.

A.: If you can mine tonnage of matter represented by sample it would pay you to burn the gypsum and manufacture plaster of paris.

Some Mixtures.

SAN PEDRO, March 22.—Q.: I am sending under separate cover three samples from Cima, Cal. I would like to know if they carry any minerals of value. Is any of the number zinc carbonate. No. 3 looks to me like manganese. Thanking you very much for present and past favors. P.

A.: No. 1 is titaniferous iron ore in part; iron oxides, calcite, micaceous iron and other hematite present. Zinc trace. No. 2 comprises four samples: one altered garnet; two altered (greenish) epidote, and one chiefly of iron oxide with zinc-lead sparingly present. No. 3 is hornblende; iron, manganese, and silica present.

Fair-grade Talc.

PORTERVILLE, March 22.—Q.: (1) is the sample high-grade talc? (2) will it answer for use in toilet powders, etc. T.

A.: The sample is not high grade, and (2) it will not "fill the bill" for the purposes indicated by you.

Free Gold Traces.

BELLEVIEW HEIGHTS, March 22.—Q.: I am sending you herewith samples of ore which I would be pleased to have you analyze. Thanking you in advance for your courtesy. M.

A.: The rocks are chiefly ferruginous quartz; some greenish chlorite is present, with granite. Traces of lime, baryte, and manganese. One sample is a deceptive yellowish microscopical granitiferous limonite (hydrous iron oxide,) with some plain quartz, and traces of microscopical pyrite. The rocks carry a color or two of free gold. For other gold-silver values—if any—consult reliable assayers.

Pyrite and Garnet.

INDEPENDENCE, March 22.—Q.: I have been prospecting in the White Mountains, and found a new strike. Kindly let me know what is in the samples I am sending you under separate cover. "Subscriber."

A.: No. 1 is garnetiferous; tungstic acid and zinc traces. No. 2 is pyrite (iron disulphide,) with contact minerals, tremolite and diopside. No sample tested for gold or silver.

Cinnabar Absent.

SAN BERNARDINO, March 23.—Q.: Five samples for test by your "In the Earth" department. Does any of them contain minerals of commercial value, and what per cent. if you have time to give it? I think Nos. 1 and 2 should show lead and silver, and No. 5 may be some kind of iron. Please give me all metals No. 5 contains. I await with pleasure your report and answer. The samples are from near Bagdad, this county. C.

A.: No. 1 carries lime silica and traces of lead and Turquois. No. 2 lime, soda, calcite, iron, and silica, cinnabar is absent. No. 3 antimony, zinc, lead more or less present with iron. No. 4 granular "stuff" of quartz, hematite, manganese and aluminum silicate. No. 5 is simply granitic matter with hematite (iron peroxide) and ilmenite (titaniferous iron.

Chiefly Iron Oxides.

POMONA, March 23.—Q.: We are inclosing under separate cover a sample of mineral sand. Is there any valuable metal or mineral in it? B. & E.

A.: The concentrates carry a good percentage of magnetite, beside hematite, ilmenite, manganese, quartz and a trace of chromic iron ore. Platinum is absent.

Rock.

GOODSPRINGS (Nev.) March 24.—Q.: By parcel post I am sending you a sample of ore and would like to have your opinion of its contents. This ore is located in San Bernardino county, California, and twelve miles west of the Nevada State line. It lies in ledge form in an immense body of soft shale that contains all of the mineral stains that I ever saw or read of. Hoping to hear from you soon, as returns of your test are depended on for development of said property, and thanking you sincerely. H.

A.: It is hardly fair to develop the property on one sample results. That soft shale is a factor to be considered, and fire assays for gold and silver should be had. The sample is an altered rock, so much decomposed that it is not possible to state whether it is igneous or metamorphic, without slides being made and a microscopic examination. Iron is present with zinc traces, however.

Other Rock.

GOFFS, March 24.—Q.: I am mailing you under separate cover a sample of ore taken from a copper zone, but it seems to carry some other mineral. Please test and give results. Thanking you kindly for past favors. C.

A.: And, the other mineral showing up in pea-green color, nested in cavities and coating and plentifully distributed throughout the mass is simply iron silicate. The sample is volcanic rock.

Nitrate of Soda.

LOS ANGELES, March 24. — Q.: Please give name of crystallized matter which I think is epsomite. D.

Uranium Absent.

LOS ANGELES, March 24. — Q.: Two samples. Please test No. 1 for uranium, vanadium and gold. Please analyze No. 2 for uranium, vanadium, silver and zinc. MRS. G.

A.: No. 1 is low grade wulfenite (lead molybdate) and galenite (lead sulphide) with cerussite, each, more or less present. No. 2, some amphibole, manganese, iron, lead-molybdate, vanadium being absent. There is but little profit in the vanadate output of the United States. The great deposits of patronite (vanadium sulphide) which is imported from Peru into the United States, especially by Pittsburgh, Pa., capitalists makes the vanadate industry of our country very small, by comparison. This department of The Times does not assay for gold and silver.

Crystallized Gypsum.

LOS ANGELES, March 25. — Q.: Sample came from Big Rock Creek country, Los Angeles county. I think it contains borax, and I want to know what percentage. O.

A.: The sample carries no borax.

Walls Between Granite.

CIMA, March 25.—Q.: I am sending you three more samples for classification and analyses. Nos. 1 and 2 are from 100 feet depth on a big ledge, and the outcrop of this ledge was azurite and malachite, but gave way at thirty-foot depth. What is the green stain, and in your opinion should this rock be gold-bearing? Would this grade of sulphide have any value as fluxing ore, and do you think the copper will come in again with farther depth; the ledge comes in between lime and granite, and it is not frozen to either wall. No 3 occurs between granite walls, and has small streak of oxidized ore on both foot and hanging walls. Should this make ore at depth or will the granite crowd it out? MRS. S.

A.: If one went deep enough on any ledge, the probabilities are that granite would "crowd it out," but, nevertheless, there are some good gold mines between granite walls. Cannot answer about copper "coming in at farther depth." The sulphide ore would make doubtful flux; arsenic present. The green stain is Epidote. Samples are not promising ores in so far as indicating a pay mine.

Thumb Specimens.

BAKERSFIELD, March 25.—Q.: Inclosed find three small specimens of mineral from this district. I do not know what they are, but was told to send them to The Times for classification. Will you please inform me what the mineral is? M.

A.: The three chips of mineral are too minute for a thorough determination. The one that stains the fingers, soot-like, is fair grade manganese dioxide, and the remaining (two) specimens carry hematite, ilmenite, aluminum silicate, and traces of chrome iron ore.

Feldspar.

PASADENA, March 25.—Q.: I am leaving at the office a sample of what I am informed is feldspar. In hunting up authorities on the mineral I find quite a number of references, but I would like to know what the terms stands for, and again, I find that there are two ways of spelling given to the mineral. Please be patient with me on writing for information that may appear ridiculous to you, but as I am interested in the subject for the benefit of one of my sons who is in the field for certain clays, and thanking you in advance for information which I hope to read later in "In the Earth." J.

A.: Some authorities give the word you refer to as felspar, from fels (a rock,) as the mineral is of common occurrence in granite. Others contend for the more preferred word feldspar (German, feldspath, or feldspar.)

In mineralogy feldspar is the common name of quite a number of minerals, varying greatly in physical characteristics, and in chemical compositions, and the mineral appears in numerous and complicated crystalline forms. Feldspar is, therefore, of several species and varieties, and among them we find: Adularia, albite, Amazon-stone, andelusite, andesite, anorthite, cancrinite, hauyne, Labradorite, lapis lazuli, leucite, moonstone, murchinsonite, nosean, oligoclase, orthoclase, petalite, ryacolite, sodalite and variolite. The sample you submit for test is orthoclase (potash feldspar.) Labradorite, for instance, is not transparent, but it is used as a gem for the reason that it possesses the quality of being catoyant, "mutable in reflection of light."

The Height of Napoleon.

[Arnold Chaplin in the London Times:] In view of the evidence in existence regarding the height of Napoleon, there cannot, I think, be much doubt that the measurements given by Darling are approximately correct. The evidence is as follows: On the same day that Darling measured the body, Antomarchi performed the postmortem examination, and in the very careful report of that operation gave the height of Napoleon. He says: "La hauteur totale, du sommet de la tete aux talons, etait de cinq pieds deux pouces et quarte lignes." (See "Les Derniers Moments de Napoleon," Vol. 11, p. 117. Edition 1898.) This measurement, of [illegible] the old French scale, [illegible] duced to the English [illegible] equal to about, though [illegible] 5 feet 6½ inches.

Again, on August 21, [illegible] gaud relates in his "Journal" [illegible] Napoleon was measured [illegible] door of Mme. Bertrand's [illegible] says: "Nous nous [illegible] la porte, l'Empereur a [illegible] deux pouces francais." [illegible] gaud's "Journal," Vol. II, [illegible] This somewhat rough [illegible] when reduced to the English [illegible] is about, though not quite, [illegible] 6¾ inches. It has often [illegible] that Napoleon was only [illegible] inches in height, but evidently [illegible] old French measurement of [illegible] 2 pouces has been mistaken [illegible] English one. It would appear [illegible] fore, that Andrew Darling's [illegible] urement of 5 feet 7 inches [illegible] nearly correct.

Railroad to Have Potato [illegible]

[New York Mail:] To [illegible] the growing of potatoes [illegible] and to increase the country's [illegible] of potatoes, the Lehigh Valley [illegible] road will operate a "potato [illegible]" The railroad company's [illegible] car has been refitted for [illegible] onstration purposes. The latest [illegible] ods of treating seed, the [illegible] spraying, the proper [illegible] of the liquid to be used and [illegible] other things one needs to know [illegible] potato growing will be [illegible] the car.

food question is one which af every man, woman and child in United States, and measures for ervation of existing supplies n some instances as important production of new sources. y state that the foreign de for American foodstuffs will e urgent during the coming than at any time since the ing of the war.

first essential requirement in peace or war is that the peo all have food, and with world what they are now, this y cannot afford to allow the supply for the coming year to rmined by the ordinary in affecting production. In of war governments resort to ription to fill the armies, and they are taking hold of food uction in the same manner. s no time now in this country anything but voluntary effort, should be enough of ual initiative and enter in every community to take action which the common interest plainly requires. It is the first and immediate opportunity, in which every community can share, to do something for preparedness, and it is a patriotic duty. There is no danger of an unprofitable crop upon the farms, or that the people who grow their own vegetables will lose money by it. A very great effort is necessary in a matter of this kind to make any considerable change in the total production of the country, and as the planting season is now on, there is not a day to be lost. There should be a general effort for increased food acreage, and if the farm areas are not sufficient, they must be supplemented by vacant lots and backyards in the industrial centers and even in the big cities.

INVESTMENTS AND FINANCING.

Despite the general unsettled condition of our international affairs, there is an excellent demand for seasoned industrial securities. The reason for this is that these properties are in an unusually strong position, with earnings well above those of any previous year. Most of these corporations showed the highest efficiency of management and have largely discounted the readjustment to peace conditions, which the ending of the war will bring about. The situation in the securities market is highly encouraging and considering the fact that prices have advanced in the face of threatening war rumors, the upward movement has reflected a strength which the markets have seldom, if ever, shown under disturbed conditions. High-grade municipal and State bonds have been in excellent demand. There is also a broader market for the short-term issues of railroad and industrial corporations. New financing for such borrowers has been naturally held up by the uncertainty over the war situation and the expectation of new United States loans. But there is a great deal in the outlook to justify the belief that discriminating bond purchases at prevailing prices are fully justified at this time. Foreign loans placed here since January 1 have aggregated $385,000,000, including the $250,000,000 United Kingdom 5½ per cent. secured loan and the $100,000,000 two-year notes of the French government. The foreign loans marketed here last month amounted to $120,000,000. The announcement early in March of the removal by the Federal Reserve Board of the restrictions imposed on banks against investments in foreign unsecured loans made last year has had a good effect upon the security market.

APRIL DISBURSEMENTS.

During the current month a total of $210,982,419, representing dividend and interest disbursements, will be paid to investors, according to the regular compilation of the Journal of Commerce. This is the best showing for April on record, and compares with $188,769,481 in the corresponding month in 1916.

Stockholders will receive $105,883,419 against $91,069,481 a year ago, due to the fact that numerous corporations will distribute initial or larger dividends. This compilation is based on disbursements to be made by 300 industrial and miscellaneous corporations, twenty-four steam railroads and twenty-seven traction companies or concerns all told.

Interest payments will approximate $105,000,000, compared with $97,700,000 in the same month a year ago, the increase resulting from new bond and note issues. The April dividends will compare as follows:

Industrial and miscellaneous companies	$ 65,195,020	$52,474,758
Railroads	30,479,892	28,687,490
Street railways	10,208,507	9,907,233

Outlook.

FOOD'S HIGH COST IS TO CONTINUE.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND RULE IN PRICE MOVEMENT.

Indications are for no Relief Soon, Regardless of Peace or War—Our Grain is to be in Wide Demand When Cessation in Hostilities Comes.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 8.—Wartime prices are here and indications are that a high level for all foodstuffs is to continue for a long time, regardless of peace or war.

It is a supply and demand situation, with the demand crowding on the supply. Cash prices actually lead the upward movement in values. A level has been reached at which extreme caution is necessary.

The risk is so heavy that anyone who cannot afford to lose should not trade. Unusual margins are being called. Every effort is being made to discourage recklessness.

Peace talk is to be expected at any time. The entrance of the United States into the war against Germany, it is believed, will shorten the fighting. After the war is over there will be a demand for our grain, which is expected to absorb the scanty supply in a majority of the exporting countries, at high prices. How high they will be is for the future to determine.

May wheat advanced almost 24 cents, July 26, and September 25 3-5 cents from the low point of the previous week.

UNION-LABOR AGITATORS MENACE PUBLIC SAFETY.

Choose Time of Military and Industrial Need and of Vaulting Cost of Supplies to Launch "Organization" Campaign Calculated to Place Greater Strain on the California Oil Business.

LABOR-UNIONISM has laid its hand upon the oil industry of California. It threatens to throttle work just at the time when the upbuilding and development of the industry to the utmost may be of vital importance to the nation.

Eight hours' work for twelve hours' pay is to be the demand upon all the employers—if the agitators succeed in their efforts. The success of the railroad unions in extorting from Congress legislation to compel their employers to give them more wages has evidently made the present oil-field agitators feel that they have a good chance to hold up the oil men of California in the same way.

They may think that from their viewpoint they have chosen a good time to act. The fact that the nation is at war; that the products of the oil industry are among those that are most vital to the conduct of military and naval operations, and that the stoppage of their production or their enhancement in price may vitally injure the country—these things do not interest the agitators. All they want is more money.

TIME WORST FOR EMPLOYERS.

For the employers the work of the agitators could not possibly have been more ill-timed. The cost of all material used in the drilling or operation of a well, refinery, gasoline plant, pipe line or oil storage plant has been advanced during the past year from 100 to 150 per cent. Steel goods can scarcely be had at any price, except after long delay. The first of the month the steel mills officially announced at Pittsburgh that all quotations on steel goods of every description were withdrawn and a leading company stated its prices would immediately be raised an average of $10 per ton. Furthermore, the official notice said that prices on oil-well supplies would no longer be quoted except upon special application, i. e., the supply houses in California and elsewhere can no longer tell customers the prices of goods from official cards, but must ask the mill in each case. The increase in the price of all supplies will range from 10 per cent. up, all in addition to previous increases.

During this period of increasing prices of material the natural demand for labor has forced a number of the leading companies to make voluntary advances in wages to their men. Owing to these two causes the cost of drilling an oil well in California is between 150 and 200 per cent. higher than it was eighteen months ago.

COSTS EAT UP ALL PROFITS.

The appalling increase in cost of materials and of labor to date has not been made up by corresponding increases in the price of oil and and oil products. The increase in the price of the various grades of crude oil during the same period has been on an average of more than 100 per cent. This advance is barely half the advance in cost of development. The price of refined goods has advanced still less.

Some months ago the Standard Oil Company of California announced the eight-hour day would prevail in all its departments without any reduction of pay. The directors were animated only by good motives, but their action has been the source of the greatest aid to the agitators, and the harm to the small companies will be great. With its enormous resources the Standard can afford what others cannot. Several drilling contractors have tried the eight-hour day, necessitating the employment of three shifts of men, and have found it impracticable. A few weeks ago they all agreed to return to the old twelve-hour rule.

Now, the agitators frankly declare they intend to force a strike—the first in the history of the California oil industry—if the eight-hour day it not put into effect at once.

Of course, it is not a real eight-hour working day, but more money that the unionites want. The Standard is working under a real eight-hour day, and by putting on a third shift of fresh men, may be able, by getting more work done, to make up in some degree for the extra expense, but if all companies were to put into effect a real eight-hour day, there would not be nearly enough skilled men to do the work. The agitators know this perfectly well, and what they want is simply an increase of pay.

If yielded to, the demands of the unionites will result in the enforced abandonment of an immense amount of development and prospecting which is absolutely necessary for the ultimate welfare of all California and Pacific Coast industry and may be vital to national defense. The situation may be critical.

PREVIOUS ATTACKS MADE.

For twenty years the chiefs of the Gompers organizations have sought in vain to get a stranglehold upon the greatest of California's industries, and again and again they have failed. Until now the men of the oil fields, refineries and pipe lines have chosen to remain free. Well paid, working often with an independence seldom known in other mechanical lines, being frequently employed at remote points where supervision is impossible and absolute trust and confidence essential, the oil-well drillers have been in a class by themselves in matters of pay, respect by all who know them and general independence. In more or less degree the same has been true of their helpers—"toolies," pumpers, pipeliners and all grades of more or less skilled oil-field labor. If the agitators now at work succeed in their efforts, it is declared, the result will be a calamity to California.

For a number of weeks past, organizers of the Oil and Gas Workers' Union, an offshoot of the Gompers federation, have been at work in the fields of the San Joaquin Valley. Last week meetings to organize unions were held at Taft and Coalinga. Like efforts to get the men into similar trouble-breeding bodies are expected in other fields. While the attendance at these meetings is said to have been large, numerically, the accounts published in the valley papers do not indicate that it was composed of the skilled drillers, but rather of the helpers and unskilled men. At Taft the meeting was wide open and there was a large attendance of unionites in other lines—painters, printers, barkeeps—who came out from Bakersfield to boost the work of the outside agitators.

That the skilled workers of the oil fields will join the followers of Gompers in any great numbers is not believed, but reports that come from the oil fields are not so encouraging as to the probable course of the inferior grades of labor.

YELLOW PINE DIVIDENDS NEARING TWO MILLIONS.

FOREMOST among the more than forty mining properties in the Yellowstone district, Nevada, which are reaping considerable profits is the Yellow Pine mine itself. Including the March dividend, it has paid to the stockholders $1,813,470, or $1.80 a share. Most of this sum has been disbursed to residents of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

J. F. Kent of Hollywood, president of the company, holds 100,000 shares. He has drawn $180,000 in dividends and his holdings are worth $150,000. He bought the mining property originally and is responsible for its development; he has been aided by W. D. Longyear, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, whose financial assistance tided the mine over some lean periods. Mr. Longyear holds 60,000 shares. He has drawn $108,000 in dividends and his holdings are worth $90,000. It is reported that his total investment did not exceed $2500.

J. D. Barnes, who holds 50,000 shares, has drawn $90,000 and could sell his stock today for $75,000. The Chapman estate, which originally traded some acreage in the San Gabriel Valley for 100,000 shares of Yellow Pine stock, has received $180,000 in dividends and if its holdings remain intact, could liquidate them for $150,000. Jesse S. Westfall and S. E. Westfall of San Francisco lived formerly in Goodsprings and are said to have traded some building lots for 75,000 shares, from which they have derived a total income of $135,000, and their stock is worth $112,500. S. E. Yount of this city has been paid $45,000 and holds 25,000 shares, worth $37,500. Marian Kent of Hollywood holds 30,000 shares, which have paid her $54,000 and could be sold for $45,000. H. C. Cutting of New York holds 18,500 shares. Lynn Helm of this city, attorney for the company, has 13,000 shares, reported to have been received as attorney's fees. It has netted $23,400 in dividends and would bring about $20,000 at public sale.

Other big stockholders in the company and their holdings are: Mary Louise Chapman, San Gabriel, 15,000 shares; Charles W. Kent, Hollywood, 30,000; Ida M. Longyear, Los Angeles, 12,500; Sidney Kingsbaker, Los Angeles, 10,865; George A. Thompson, Pasadena, 10,500; Stanley McKee, Los Angeles, 7613; L. Butman, Whittier, 7000; Elizabeth A. Cole, Los Angeles, 25,000; Alfred S. Chapman, Los Angeles, 10,000; L. Evelyn Johnson, 5000; J. G. Hoard, Pasadena, 6000; H. C. Deknatel, Monrovia, 8400; Mary C. Collins, Los Angeles, 5000; John McFadden, Santa Ana, 4263; D. A. Davis, Pasadena, 8000; S. C. Root, Goodsprings, Nev., 10,500; George A. Fayle, Goodsprings, 13,000; N. B. Hunter, Goodsprings, 10,000; James Scott, Goodsprings, 8000; W. H. Pike, Las Vegas, 5000; R. B. Chapman, Los Angeles, 17,500; Herbert J. McCrystal, Los Angeles, 10,000.

There are several hundred stockholders hereabouts with a lesser number of shares. Each share has been paid $1.80 in dividends and is worth $1.50. The company now has on hand about $75,000 with which to pay the April dividends, besides a reserve fund of $100,000. At one time Yellow Pine stock was selling at 4 cents a share.

MUCH DEVELOPMENT.

Number of Oil Wells Started Since First of Year about Twice as Many as were Begun During Corresponding Period Last Year.

Development work in California oil fields during the first quarter of the present year, as shown by reports to the State Mining Bureau, has amounted to about twice that done during the corresponding period last year. This year there have been 287 new wells started, while last year at the same date there had been only 143. The other work passed on by the bureau engineers, such as tests of water shutoff, deepening, redrilling and abandoning wells, has increased in like proportion.

Statistics indicate that the present rate of production for the average well is slightly lower than it was during the past year, which fact, in conjunction with the constantly decreasing stock of stored oil, indicates no immediate cessation of drilling activity.

The price of crude oil at the wells probably averages about 40 per cent. higher than it was a year ago. The cost of material and labor in the fields has also advanced nearly as much.

The report for the week ended March 31 shows seventeen new wells, twenty-seven tests of water shutoff, twenty-five deepening or redrilling jobs and six abandonments.

Amalgamated Oil Expected to Begin Extensive Drilling—Shift of Formation Plugs Up a Good Producer Owned by the Brea Canyon Company.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, April 6. — The Amalgamated Oil Company is showing signs of renewed activity and it is believed that inside of a week extensive drilling plans will be announced.

The Birch Oil Company is concentrating on shutting off water in a number of its wells and is meeting with success.

The formation of one of the Brea Canyon Oil Company's best producers shifted a few days ago and the well is a ruin. The shift occurred at a depth of 1700 feet and was so complete that four strings of casing were cut off and a well that has been making 450 barrels daily is now a "dead hole." It was 3800 feet deep.

The Copa de Ora Oil Company is down 3000 on its Chino Canyon wildcat. Conditions at this depth continue to furnish encouragement.

The Fullerton Oil Company has two wells drilling and No. 12 is being pumped in the hope that the water can be shut off.

The breaking of a pair of elevators in the putting in of the pipe has delayed the General Petroleum Oil Company in cementing on the Carson tract well.

Small, Swift Craft of Light Draft Projected in Maine, to be Used in Carrying Cargo Through U-boat Zone; Are to be Nearly Unsinkable.

A project is under consideration in Bangor, Me., for the building of motor craft capable of crossing the ocean and carrying 500 or 600 tons of freight. The proposition is being presented by Roscoe F. Wing of the Penobscot Box and Lumber Company, whose plant is located across the river in Brewer, and E. W. Beach, formerly of Providence, R. I., the latter having had practical experience in boat building in Providence and vicinity.

The plan for the construction for these motor craft calls for a length of 150 feet, a beam of 32 feet and depth of 14 feet. The boats will draw about seven feet, and thus be able to navigate shoal waters. The boats will be entirely decked over, with a steel house projecting above deck as a conning tower, and they are designed to shed water like a duck and by a system of airtight compartments to be practically unsinkable.

Great speed is aimed at, the boats being designed to make twenty-five to thirty miles an hour under favorable weather conditions.

SHIP STEEL SOUGHT.

Demand Is Overwhelming and Mills Illy Prepared to Accept Any Important Contracts; Some Builders Succeeding in Placing Orders.

An overwhelming demand for steel plates and shapes for shipbuilding finds the mills illy prepared to accept contracts for important tonnages for delivery before the second quarter of next year, but a few orders are still being placed for 1917 shipment, says the Wall Street Journal. The Texas Company has finally succeeded in placing an order for 20,000 tons with a Pittsburgh mill and two other Atlantic coast ship builders have obtained 19,000 tons, while lake boat builders have been able to cover for about 40,000 tons. Unsatisfied domestic inquiries still amount to 80,000 tons for shipment over the first half of 1918.

Foreign interests have placed orders for twenty-three additional boats of the Welland Canal type with lake shipyards. Seventeen of these boats will be built by the Great Lakes Engineering Company. Including those previously noted, thirty-three will be built by the American Shipbuilding Company. Several of the boats will be too large to pass through the canal and will therefore be shipped in two sections. Each of the smaller boats will require about 1200 tons of steel, a total of 67,000 tons.

According to trade reports eighty-seven ships have been ordered this month, including the fifty-six to be built on the Great Lakes. The building of these boats will require about 195,000 tons of steel plates and shapes.

COMPROMISE BILL HAS EASY GOING.

WATER INFILTRATION MEASURE UP TO ASSEMBLY.

Covers Points Agreed on by Oil Operators and State Mining Bureau; has Already Passed the Senate and Seems Likely to be Made Law.

The water infiltration bill, according to G. M. Swindell, secretary of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, who is in Sacramento in the interests of the oil operators, has passed the Senate without amendment or opposition, and will come up before the Assembly this week with every indication of its favorable consideration.

This bill, considered chief in importance among the numerous measures affecting the oil industry, has been the subject of much thought and criticism from the oil operators. Realizing the necessity for unity in action, the Chamber of Mines and Oil organized an oil and gas legislation committee in February, with M. H. Whittier, president of the chamber, as its chairman.

Believing in the necessity for a water bill and in the continuance of the oil and gas department of the State Mining Bureau, the committee bent its energies toward the elimination of certain features in the old law and the preparation of a bill the keynote of which was to be "home rule."

Many conferences were held both locally and in San Francisco with representatives of the State Mining Bureau, and two drafts of the proposed bill were prepared and mailed by the chamber to all oil men of the State for suggestion and criticism.

The final draft of the bill, as passed by the Senate, is essentially a compromise between the oil industry and the State Mining Bureau, and as such has received the support of all concerned.

Western Arizona Property Dispatches Two Carloads of Ore. Copper Basin Getting Better Results as Shaft is Deepened.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARKER (Ariz.) April 8.—Marking the addition of another shipper to the ranks in the Parker field, the first consignment of ore from the Western Arizona Company's property was sent out during the past week. This initial shipment from the mine amounted to about two carloads, and was expected to average about 12 per cent. copper and carries about $4 in gold per ton.

The ore was sorted from vein matter removed while driving the new tunnel which is in about sixty feet at present.

The tunnel follows the footwall of the vein which has been crosscut for about twenty feet without encountering the hanging wall.

General Manager Gordon R. Steuart Tuesday put several additional men to work on the mine, and expects to make regular shipments in the future. There is a considerable amount of shipping ore on the dumps at present.

The incline shaft on the Copper Basin has reached a depth of 300 feet and is in better ore than has yet been encountered on the property. Sulphide ore was encountered at about ninety feet, the level at which surface water began to filter into the shaft. At the present level about 2500 gallons of water enters the shaft every twenty-four hours, according to computations of the miners, and it is understood pumps to handle the flow have been ordered.

The churn drill outfit ordered for the Mammon property arrived Tuesday. The result of the drilling will determine the location of the three-compartment shaft which will be sunk at as early a date as possible.

The workings of the Mammon are being surveyed and mapped by Fred Crosby, E.M., of Los Angeles, and a general development plan outlined. It is expected ore shipments will begin within the next week or two. There are approximately 20,000 tons of ore on the dumps, a large amount of which is high-grade.

The big 60-h.p. West Coast hoist and other equipment for the Empire-Arizona Consolidated Copper Company's Eagle's Nest shaft arrived in Parker Friday morning and will be transported to the property at once. With this equipment, the Eagle's Nest shaft is to be sunk 1000 feet.

Difficulties in Collins Lease Well are Overcome.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

NEWPORT BEACH, April 8.—Work has been progressing steadily on the Collins oil lease, on the Irvine ranch, near the headwaters of Newport Bay, during the past few weeks, and the various obstacles which the driller encountered a month ago have been entirely overcome. The sand which was forced up in the well by the pressure has been almost entirely removed and within a few days the pump will be started, in the event the well does not flow.

The McCray brothers of Coalinga, who have a 400-acre lease on the property lying to the northward of the Collins lease, have a rotary outfit on the way, it is said, and will begin drilling in a few days.

MOHAVE UNITED PROJECT.

The Mohave United Mining and Milling Company, which owns the Copper-King group of eight claims, situated about ten miles from Crucero, San Bernardino county, Cal., announces development work on a comprehensive scale will be commenced at once. Several hundred feet of preliminary work has already been done on the property, consisting mainly of shallow shafts and open cuts. These workings have been driven into veins and ore shoots that have produced excellent grades of shipping ore, it is stated. The company plans to develop the property by systematic core drilling and blocking out the ore, the topography of this section being such that this can be done at a minimum of expense, it is said. According to the management of the company, recent assays taken across the face on all workings on the property produced values running from 2½ to 27½ per cent. copper, $6 to $18 in gold and $1 to $4 in silver. The Mojave United has other holdings beside the one discussed, in the district.

QUICKSILVER ORE YIELDS HIGHER VALUES

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 4.—The outlook at the Oceanic mine in the Cambria district is now proving even better than originally expected, as some of the richest ore produced in the last five or six years is being taken out of a drift in a section heretofore unworked. With quicksilver quoted at $115 per flask, the company is reaping a generous profit. Work in the new shaft is progressing nicely, and a new cage is to be installed there to take the place of the bucket system. Sixty-five men are now employed at the mine.

2000 TONS RICH ORE ON THE DUMP

await treatment in the BOSS PLATINUM MILL. The average assays of this ore give: PLATINUM—1.5 oz.; GOLD—1 oz.; COPPER—4%. Total average value per ton, $260.00. Underneath this dump are large quantities of the rich, rare mineral—PLUMBOJAROSITE—which was thrown out on the mountainside before the miners were aware of its great value. Some of this mineral assays $80,000 to the ton. PLATINUM is now $110 an ounce. It is going very much higher unless all signs fail. Foreign nations have grabbed all available stocks. The United States produced only 740 ounces in 1916 and Canada only 15 ounces. PALLADIUM is $90 an ounce and growing in favor. The BOSS ores contain three times as much PALLADIUM as PLATINUM.

BEAR IN MIND: There are only 408,000 shares of BOSS stock to divide the profits. If there were a million, as there usually are in these mining companies, the price of the stock would probably be as high. On this basis the present quotation of $1.41 compares with about 57 cents. Is it logical that it will remain at this absurd price very long? Circular on PLATINUM will be mailed you on request.

VERNE STORY IN FILM PROVES UNUSUAL FASCINATION.

By Grace Kingsley.

Our most famous motion-picture stars change their orbits so often that it is difficult sometimes to keep track of them. Hardly a day passes that there is not a report that some bright luminary is to veer into a new course in his flight to the sunshiny gleams of filmdom fame. Lately there have been many rumors that the attractive forces would be exerted on Charlie Chaplin in such a manner that he would take a different path. These influences, though, have apparently proved inadequate, for the prize comedian is to remain with the Mutual company, according to announcement sent out from the studio in East Hollywood.

Henry Aitken is reported to have been one of the bidders for Chaplin's services, but Charlie preferred to stay with the Mutual.

There is a rumor that Edna Purviance will resign as Chaplin's leading woman, and that he will have a new supporting feminine star, but this is not certain.

Lew Fields has signed a contract to appear under the Selig banner in a mammoth ten-reel feature, written by Charles K. Harris, to be called "The Barker." It is understood to have a strong heart interest along the lines of "The Music Master."

Eva Tanguay is another well-known stage sparkler who will come to Los Angeles to live and to appear in pictures. With this end in view she has disposed of her lares and penates at her summer home in Coney Island, New York.

Majestic.

Williamson Brothers, inventors, have given the dramatists a new element to build plays in.

Have you ever dreamed what it must be like at the bottom of the sea? Of course you have, and if you were a normal youngster you read all the fairy tales you could get hold of on the subject, including the wonderful one by Hans Christian Andersen about mermaids, and you made up tales of your own concerning a weird and wonderful kingdom at the bottom of the ocean.

Now all your dreams grow real in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," at the Majestic. Here you may witness romance in the weird half-light of the ocean depths, where fishes swim amid seaweed tree tops, and where the unearthly light falls alike on the inert tragedy of the hulks of old wrecks, and the thrilling battles of great creatures of the sea.

With a gripping and dramatic story played against the unique background, the picture holds from start to finish. Jules Verne was away ahead of his time in his imaginings concerning submarines and deep-sea armor; what he could merely dream and talk of this age has realized. It is the realization of today which has made possible the visualizing of the old tale of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

While there is a dry-land story intermixed with the drama, it is dry, indeed, in comparison to the visions one sees with Capt. Nemo and his friends from the window of his submarine and the scenes enacted on the floor of the sea, by the actors, when, donning the newly-patented sea armor, which requires neither air tubes nor life lines, they sally forth in quest of adventure, searching for treasure, and fighting sharks. There is all the effect of humor, too, in the difficulties which the actors encounter in walking on the bottom of the sea, to which their fifty-pound boots hold them down, while their bodies sway in the currents at times at an angle of 45 deg.

Two thrilling episodes show sharks charging the hunters and a native diver attacked by the devil monster of the deep, the octopus, from whose horrible embrace he is saved by one of the hunters who kills the creature with an axe. And there is weird and unique drama in the burial of Capt. Nemo in the depths of the ocean among the coral and seaweed.

No picture fan can possibly afford to miss "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," nor the very beautiful accompanying music presented by an excellent orchestra. If Mr. Morosco is going to keep on producing pictures at the Majestic, may they all be as thrilling as this one.

Clune's Broadway.

Any time George M. Cohan wants to leave off being one of America's foremost theatrical producers and playwrights, he can have the job of leading film comedian. In proof, there is offered at Clune's Broadway this week Mr. Cohan's Op. 1 in photo, "Broadway Jones."

All the Cohanesque whimsicalities of wit and manner are here revealed in the person of the lively Jones who fain would burn up Broadway. Merely reading the sub-titles, of course, cannot quite take the place of hearing lines drawled with the nasal Cohan drollery, but the fine flavor of the original is retained, with all the Cohan understanding of human frailty and how to make it comical. Also you will view a cast such as you would hardly see outside of New York. An epitome of New York's Broadway is George M. Cohan, and he gets it all into "Broadway Jones." "Where would the American flag be," demands Cohan in one scene "if George Washington hadn't advertised it?" And then again the immortal line: "I'd rather die in a live town than live in a dead one!"

Naturally all the scenes in "Broadway Jones" which are only told about on the stage are visualized in the screen version, certainly this Jones did put the Broad in Broadway!

Symphony.

"The Hidden Children," a film version of Robert Chambers's novel of the same name, is at the Symphony this week, and proved to be a swiftly moving, gripping and entirely adequate visualization of the popular novel. Harold Lockwood and May Allison are the "hidden children," which means that, according to the Indian custom, which permits it on occasion, they were sent in the hour of danger from one Indian tribe to another to be cared for. There is not an inch too much film used to convey the story, yet it is at every point clear and dramatic.

A feature of interest is the incidental flashing of Indian manners and customs—the marriage ceremoy, the blood-brotherhood ceremony, the war dances, the exodus of a tribe from its burning village, and a score of other touches which make for realism.

Take it all in all, a more gripping picture hasn't been shown at the Symphony. Miss Allison is entirely lovely and capable as Lois, Lockwood is at his best as Loskiel, George McDaniel does a convincing bit as the satanic Seneca chief, Amolchol, and the others of the case are entirely efficient.

Superba.

Susan's Gentleman"—another of the Peg o' My Heart"-"Cinderella" photoplays, with Violet Mersereau doing the cutie things reminiscent of Mary Pickford in that young lady's rags-and-curls stage of artistic development.

"Susan's Gentleman" is at the Superba, and is really a delightful picture play of the romantic sort. Violet Marsereau, as the ragged princess of the East Side in New York, reading romantic Bertha M. Clay novels, naming "her boarder" "Sir Arthur," calling her one potted plant a "conservatory," rescuing a one-eyed dog from some street urchins, and naming his "Poicy," will be a delectable figure to those who haven't grown weary of the treacle ingenue. In any case, the story is sufficiently gripping to hold the spectator, and Miss Mersereau never was lovelier.

How she stuck to her philosophy of life—another version of "The World Against Her"—even to the point of frightening the wicked adventuress into confessing a murder by appearing before that lady as a ghost, is delightfully amusing.

The picture play is exceedingly well cast.

Burbank.

So many inquiries have come to the Burbank box office as to the date on which Frank Deshon and Ferris Hartman will double in the role of Ko-Ko, the ambitious little tailor of Titipu, in "The Mikado," now in its second big week at the Burbank, that next Thursday has been decided.

Last week, Ferris Hartman, now appearing in the Mack Sennett Keystone comedies, wagered his lifelong friend, Frank Deshon, that he (Hartman) "could go on and play the part without even a rehearsal," and this is given as the reason for the doubling. Many of the numerous stars of the motion-picture world will be present at the contest.

Mason.

"Katinka," one of the most famous of eastern musical comedy successes during the past few seasons, will come to the Mason tonight. Advance sales indicate that "Katinka" is being eagerly awaited.

Morosco.

The average auditor who sits in front and enjoys a splendid performance of "Innocent," which began its second week at the Morosco yesterday, praises the actors who give a good performance, passes complimentary remarks about the wonderful stage direction, the smooth manner in which the play runs, etc., but seldom is one of the most important "men behind the guns," the scenic artist who is not seen, but whose influence is felt, ever mentioned.

The scenic artist of the Morosco, John Collette, is one of the foremost artists in America, as his work on "So Long Letty," "Canary Cottage," "Upstairs and Down," and now in "Innocent," has proved. The scenery of "Innocent" is exceedingly artistic, the most impressive bits being the oriental effects in the prologue and first act.

The Rate.

[Baltimore American:] "I wonder what interest your dog is taking in this cat chase?"

"I guess his interest in it is about one purr scent."

Queered Himself.

[Boston Transcript:] "What spoiled Archie's chances with Miss Millyuns?"

"She told him she disliked compliments."

"I see, and he persisted in paying them."

"No; he was stupid enough to take her at her word and stop."

MINISTER GOES ON.

Presbyterian Pulpit Veteran Dies at Highland Park—Was Active in this Part of State for Thirty Years and Well Known in the East.

Rev. Henry B. Gage, a veteran minister of the Presbyterian Church and organizer of several church societies in Southern California, who had a record of successful pastorates in this State and the East and Middle West, died yesterday morning at the family residence, No. 5035 Echo street, Highland Park. The funeral will be conducted in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The arrangements are in charge of W. A. Brown and the services will be conducted by Dr. Campbell Coyle and Rev. Robert Clelland. The interment will be in Olivewood Cemetery, Riverside, where two of Dr. Gage's children are buried.

Dr. Gage, who was in his seventy-second year, was born in Roxabell, Ross county, Ohio. He was educated in the Marietta College and his theological training was received at Princeton University. He came from a Denver pastorate to Southern California, and had resided in this part of the State thirty years.

He was pastor of the Arlington Presbyterian Church, Riverside, for fourteen years, and of the First Presbyterian Church, Long Beach, for six years. For two years he served as pastor at Downey and then for two years at Arcadia. He organized the Cypress Park Presbyterian Church, the Covina Presbyterian Church and the Arcadia Presbyterian Church. He retired from active service only a short time ago, and since then had been repeatedly called upon as a pulpit supply.

Besides the widow, Mrs. S. Bell Gage, he leaves three sons and three daughters. They are Mrs. C. B. Leffler and Misses Isabel and Harriet Gage of this city; L. L. and H. Norman Gage of Montebello, and William P. Gage of Fort Worth, Tex.

IN SUNKIST VALE.

ESCONDIDO CELEBRATION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ESCONDIDO, April 8. — From Howell Heights, the highest point of land of the Escondido Valley, and overlooking it from the west, the dawning of Easter Sunday morning was welcome by a gathering of people from all of the Christian churches of the city and valley.

The first call to service was sounded at 5 o'clock by the blowing of the whistle at the gas works, and was followed fifteen minutes later by the ringing of a large farm bell stationed on the crest of the hill. The programme started as the sun made its appearance from behind the range of mountains on the opposite side of the valley, the congregation joining in the singing of "America." The singing was led by William Riezebus, chairman of the programme committee.

A reading from the scriptures, by Rev. L. A. Goddard, pastor of the Congregational Church, was followed by a prayer by Rev. Dr. William Thomas, pastor of the Baptist Church. An address was given by Rev. Dr. F. M. Kemper, a retired Methodist preacher. A number of vocal solos were rendered, and the service closed with sentence prayers, the participants representing all the churches.

The speakers' platform was decorated with American flags and flowers. This was the first outdoor sunrise Easter service held in the sunkist vale.

REMEMBER THE STRICKEN.

In response to a call made by their pastor, thirty dozen eggs were left by members of the Vermont-avenue Methodist Church yesterday as an Easter gift to patients in the Methodist Hospital. The pastor made the request several weeks ago, saying that such a gift would be a fitting way to celebrate Easter Sunday. Beautiful Japanese baskets were placed at the doors to receive the eggs. Besides the eggs, many beautiful pots of Easter lilies were also sent to the church for the hospital patients.

Utilities Would Serve Natural Gas in San Luis Obispo County.

The San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation and the Midland Counties Public Service Corporation Saturday filed with the State Railroad Commission a joint application for authority for the Midland company to serve natural gas to consumers in Avilla and Pizmo at the same rates charged in San Luis Obispo. The company has not yet obtained a franchise to serve gas in San Luis Obispo county, outside of the city of San Luis Obispo, but expects to do so when so authorized by the commission. The San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation has constructed a steam plant near Betteravia in Santa Barbara county, and will use natural gas from the main line of the Midland counties corporation, and wants permission for such an arrangement.

POET DECRIES OUR DEARTH OF IDEALS.

BUT HAS BETTER OPINION OF US THAN TAGORE.

John Cooper Powys, Englishman, Here to Lecture, Takes Novel View of Nietzsche and Thinks We Pass by Good Things to Concentrate on Democracy.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

John Cooper Powys, who arrived here last Saturday night and is to lecture at Trinity Auditorium, has been described by those who should be discriminating, as "the most brilliant lecturer on literature of this generation."

That is a tremendous description to live up to. So I hastened to inspect this product of Corpus Christi, Cambridge University, who has managed to cover himself with so much distinction in the last five years with his books of essays, his poetry and his platform lectures.

An Englishman, with a Welsh name, he certainly looks like a poet—shaggy hair, an impressive idealistic manner, slim, restless hands and a delicious combination of egotism and humility.

He is the man who, in his "Visions and Revisions," written two years ago, declared that Nietzsche was a true Christian at heart, but that "it was in the interests of a higher ideal, a more exacting, less human ideal, that he crushed it down."

Nietzsche, he said, had been so little understood. He had not been the evil influence in Germany, at all. He had rather been a fierce critic of Prussianism, an antagonist of the teachings of Treitzsche, with whom it is fashionable to lump him nowadays. Nietzsche had always been a great admirer of the Russians and their writers. Indeed, throughout his essay Mr. Powys insists upon saddling Nietzsche, the Antichrist, with an embarassing Christian conscience. So we may expect some quite Shavian perversities in his lectures; a decided weakness for upsetting our pet conceptions of the literary philosophers.

In comparing American with European ideals it will not be entirely to our disadvantage. He thinks rather better of us than does Tagore. But he does deplore the fact that we have taken all the art, the beauty, the spiritual ritual out of religion; that even the Roman Catholics and the Episcopalians have come under this undesirable influence. The fact that so many of our churches have kitchens for social occasions, sears his esthetic soul.

He deplores the fact our women have all the culture and rather gave me the impression that he considered women most unsuitable caretakers of this sacred trust. He is quite convinced that a boy should be released from petticoat government at an early age, sent away to a masculine school, free from the bane of female influence in his formative years. All the same, he finds the American effort to establish such masculine schools a bit of a failure—it does not suit our social ideals; disturbs the sense of the fitness of things in this country.

Mr. Powys is a little anxious about our ideals. We haven't enough of them. We are apt to concentrate on the one ideal of democracy too much, to the great disadvantage of the many other and equally desirable ideals.

Mr. Powys will give three lectures at Trinity Auditorium—one Friday night on "American vs. European Ideals of Life," another Saturday afternoon on "Nietzsche's Influence on Modern Times," and the third Saturday evening on "The Value of Fine Arts in Education."

FINDS DEATH IS COY.

Drinker Attempts to End Own Life by Inhaling Gas, Then by Shot from Revolver, and Fails Both Times; Will Now Face Police Judge.

Jim Smith, 58 years old, wishes to die. For some time, he says, he has been drinking. Saturday he attached a rubber tube to a gas jet to transfer the fumes to his bed, and turned on the cock. Then he laid down to die. But in his inebriated condition he had forgotten to close the window, and so he lived. He was angry when taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Yesterday he tried to die again and failed. He was released at the sunrise court yesterday morning. In the forenoon he walked to Eastlake Park, and in a hip pocket was a loaded revolver, and there shot himself. The bullet missed his heart, played tag with a rib near the spine, and then came out.

Jim Smith sat down and awaited developments. After a time he decided he was not going to die, so he walked to his room at No. 619½ West Sixth street. His condition was noticed and he was taken to the Receiving Hospital, and later to the County Hospital.

When his wound has healed he will be tried an a charge of having discharged a firearm in the city limits.

AT ANGELES MESA.

Three Hundred Attend Services at Foot of Permanent Cross.

Three hundred persons witnessed the impressive Easter sunrise service on the hills of Angeles Mesa yesterday morning. The lily-decked cross was erected at the extreme end of West Fifty-fourth street and will become a permanent adornment of the Angeles Mesa hills, as yesterday's service will be an annual ceremony.

Rev. N. L. Rowell, pastor of the Mesa Congregational Church, was in charge of the exercises. He was assisted by Rev. S. B. Dexter, an evangelist who is conducting services at the Mesa church. The ceremonial of erecting the cross was unique. Preparations were made the night before and the cross was carried to the exact site. There, while L. R. Bass played "The Holy City" on the cornet, Louis Spangenberg, Dr. S. L. Richey and Sam Miller, placed the twelve-foot emblem in position.

Mrs. John Dean was in charge of the decorations. She was assisted by Mrs. Fullerton and Mrs. Bert C. Smith. The children's choir, led by Miss Elsie Cragin, sang "He Is Risen" and Mrs. Charles Whitted, sang a solo. Those in the choir were Frances Smith, Marjorie Morris, Katherine Smith, Rae Copeland, Albert Farmer and Ralph Copeland.
